W. W. Vanderhoof, 20 yards, 15x20. RICHARDS' RECORD.

Saturday morning, with only one more day to go-100 targets at 16 yards in the morning and the Consolation Handiou just ahead of George Fish, who tallied 97. It is fast going when 97 does not have a glimpse of even second money, More unusual still, there no less than five made this score that morning-and a good half of the field were well over the 90 mark. Some of this fancy trigger work would have been worth a fortune a little earlier in the game.

WAITING THEIR TURNS AT THE TRAPS.

cap in the afternoon, C. L. Richards, T. T. Todd, made up his mind that he had been also Wm. Wettleaf, ran long enough. He had been splitting the clay pigeons on even terms with the best shots all the week, only to be always edged out of top money or coveted trophy on the last frame, or on the shoot-off. His only reward to date had been for the high average on the 800 targets of the best four days-which he had handled easily with a total of 753. In this event W. H. Yule took second money with 742 There still remained two trophies besides the money to be divided for the day. They were for the high gun and the Consolation. So he stepped up to the mark, and splintered 99 of that 100, and cinched his place at the lead, took first money, the award for the day, and the credit of winning the fastest single event in the carnival. For it seems that everybody came loaded for bear that morning. Newcomb started badly-for him,-with two misses in the first twenty. After that he settled down after the money and ran 80 straight, once more pulling

That afternoon the squads lined up for the last time to shoot off the Consolation. As in the Preliminary and he Midwinter, this was a handicap affair. Even at this it gave Morgan another chance to shine. He had already made way with one of the most coveted of all the innumerable honors offered during the week's firing. He had captured the Maplewood hundred. Not satisfied however, he knocked out 95 of his hundred chances, and pulled down the Consolation by one shot. His understudy was J. H. Trumbull of Plainfield, Connecticut. Morgan operated from 21 yards, Trumbull from 17. One of the leading figures in the preceding handicap battles turned up in third place. This was Dr. Vanderhoof, whose winning score in the Midwinter was spoiled on the shoot-off by Healy. He was tied up with S. G. Vance, a 19 yard man, with 93.
