Answer To Mystery No. 2

The Raleigh News and Observer says Senator Stone administered a well deserved rebuke to Theodore Roosevelt.

The tit-mouse rebukes the eagle. The tadpole rebukes the whale. Wonderful!

In introducing our journal to the discriminating public this year, we gave promise of unraveling several mysteries that had puzzled the world for some time.

It is now come time to deliver. It is not our purpose to shock our readers with too many revelations at once. So we will defer the amazing story of nerve and adventure which is bound up in the secret of how the United States obtained the code and key to the confidential dispatches of the German government to the amiable Count Bernsdorf, and confine ourselves this issue to explaining exactly why it is that Josephus Daniels remains Secretary of the Navy.

The answer is that in spite of all his extraordinary ladylike maneuvers, and a penchant for economy that is at present responsible for the crime that we are boasting about having Destroyers in process of building instead of just finishing the job of exterminating the undersea pirates, he is a very successful secretary. He has a real ordnance department that has supplies the ordnance.
He has a real quartermaster department, that has supplied the clothing and equipment. He has all the fleet we have in commision, and doing its job to the queen's taste. And he got busy to rectify the patent absurdities of our traditional attitude (which incidentally used to be his own) and has been sawing wood.

I have no doubt but that the explanation of this mystery will astonish a great many of our readers. It astonishes your editor. It almost killed a complete army corps of critics. It is against all reason and probability. It is miraculous. But it is the simple and blessed truth.

Mystery No 3

You will recollect that among the three great mysteries of the World, by universal consent the most inexplicable was why so many subscribers and readers of that remarkable and entertaining periodical, The Pinehurst Outlook, failed to send their dollar for their season's subscription. Undoubtedly this is an extreme case of mass mental aberration.
For it is a matter of common observation that no amount of persuasion can force a single man who has ever subscribed to the paper to relinquish it. And we have often marvelled at the universal impulse to sit down and make out a check for one dollar, which invariably attacks every recipient of the paper. In the face of these accepted facts it is baffling to explain how we happen to have so many unpaid subscriptions on our list. Realizing the acute interest the public have in this matter we are employing a psychologist of National reputation to explain the phenomenon and expect to present a solution that will stagger the headlines shortly. Meantime we are able to state with authority that the rumor that the I. W. W. are responsible is absolutely without foundation.

A Maiden's Prayer

Boys are the living emblems of noise and danger. My greatest dread concerning a future existence is the possibility of there being boys in Heaven.
And in this life the things I dread most are fire, burglars, runaways, mice, small-pox and boys. My sympathy with boys is usually akin to my sympathy with thunder storms and pirates. In passing boys upon the street I am always forced to hold my breath in terror, expecting to be struck by a baseball, or bat or stone, green apple or snow ball, according to season. Only in color and in clothing can I recognize any difference between boys and wild Sioux Indians. I am in sympathy with law and order, whereas, to a boy law and order are but bars to freedom. I always have some good reason for believing that the highest ambition of every normal boy under twelve years of age is to become an influential outlaw. And Oh Lord, please send me a husband, and if he dies send me another, and if he dies send me another and if he dies send me another, and if he dies send me another.

Amen.

Noted Tennis Professional

Douglas L. Hilton, the tennis professional, has arrived to take charge of the tennis courts, to conduct the tournaments and give lessons at the Pinehurst Country Club.

Hilton stands head and shoulders at the head of his profession. He is not only master of the game in its finest points but he has an unusual knack and capacity of imparting his skill. It is fair to say upon his record that there is no better coach in this country. During the summer he is retained by the Piping Rock Country Club of Locust Valley, and has been expert at a great many of the major tennis centres in the East, including the Crescent Athletic Club, the Essex Country and the Atlantic City Yacht Club. He is known on the courts from Newport to Australia.

Bank Declares Dividend

The annual meeting of the stockholders of the Bank of Pinehurst was held Tuesday evening. An 8 per cent dividend was declared and a $4,000.00 surplus created.

The following officers and directors were elected for the year.

J. R. McQueen, President; Chas. B.
Hudson, M. C. McDonald, Vice Presidents; F. W. Von Canon, Cashier, and B. U. Richardson, Assistant Cashier.

Directors, J. R. McQueen, Chas B.
Hudson, A. S. Newcomb, I. C. Sledge, W. James MacNab, Geo. T. Dunlap, Tyler L. Redfield, P. W. Whittemore, M. C. McDonald, J. B. Von Canon.

The Advertisers Banquet

Even without the pop of the gin fizz and the blare of horns and rattlers, there was still enough pop to make the Annual Banquet of the Advertisers seem like days of yore. Led by Col. H. H. Treadwell, newly elected President, the host marched into the final gala of the week.

And then the fun began. Lou Hamilton, known the world over, as the only man who can make toasts at such an occasion without smiling, presided as toastmaster.
Uncle Davis McK Lloyd said he knew no reason why he should be elected again as Vice President of the sociable fraternity except that he had more vices than anyone else. The strains of a march came slowly through the hall, known to everyone and everywhere as Sousa's March, while John Philip Sousa himself was clapped and cheered as he acknowledged the tribute. About this time the music got to tangoing and eating was forgotten while everybody lightfooted to the tune of "Leave it to Jane." Old and young, weak and feeble, they went in and out the tables like the winds of dawn. Grotesque and unique were the hats and fandangles that were worn during this hilarious evening. After all had feasted to their heart's content, the assembly moved to the ball room where dancing was again resumed. However, even the best of times have an ending and it is ever thus that the orchestra gives up to Home Sweet Home, and the Banquet of the Advertisers came to a close.

Miniature Golf

Mr. and Mrs. James Barber gave a unique and entertaining party to the ladies of the Advertising Golf League at the Barber Estate last Saturday. For some time now Mr. Barber has been laying out and perfecting a miniature golf links winding in and out among the shrubby and paths of his place—a kind of glorified and elongated putting green, with obstacles to be negotiated with a well pitched mashie shot, and bends and curves calling for nice and discriminating slices and pulls.

Here a tournament was held by the ladies preliminary to tea and the aftermath. Mrs. Morrill negotiated the course in the lowest score, closely followed by Mrs. Daniels and Mrs. J. A. Moore.

Tribute to Mrs. Monypeny

Our readers will be interested in a letter recently received by Mrs. Florence Barber Monypeny from Lady Arthur Paget, chairman of American-British-French-Belgian Permanent Blind Relief War Fund. Mrs. Monypenny is the daughter of James Barber, a leader on the Pinehurst links and in the life of the colony, and has been missed this year by the whole village.

35, BELGRAVE SQUARE, S. W.

LONDON, November 1, 1917.

Mrs. Florence Barber Monypeny, Chairman, A. B. F. B. Permanent Blind Relief War Fund, Brayton street, Englewood, N. J.

My dear Mrs. Monypeny:—From the reports of our Honorary Secretaries I have learned of your untiring zeal in raising funds for soldiers and sailors blinded in the war. I would like to express personally to you and to the members of your committee my deep gratitude and appreciation of your splendid work.
Since the United States took up the
