WING'S WALKOVER

Outdistances the Tin Whistles for Memorial Trophy

Playing a special tournament for a handsome trophy given by Mrs. T. T. Watson in memory of her husband, who was a leading spirit in the club, the Tin Whistles tackled the number one course in full array last Monday afternoon. There were fifty-six of the long-driving legion in the ranks, lined up on this occasion in handicap medal play. But of them all not a man could be found to keep within brassie distance or earshot of W. G. Wing. This Back Bay favorite selected a substantial handicap of 28, and then proceeded to travel around the course in close imitation of Francis Onimet in special exhibition. And when the hopeful champions returned to the clearing house around the big table, where Becker sits in majesty and announces the results, nobody was found to dispute the 65 net that he had to offer. J. R. Towle of Calumet and L. D. Pierce from Brae Burn wrought havoc with the usual record in Tin Whistle tournaments, and turned up with a pair of very creditable 74s, which were good for the MacLaughlin and club trophies for second and third place. And incidentally Pierce's card of 81 led all the rest.

J. Ebb Weir, with a 75 came in just outside of the trophy class, in the van of a close formation, a squad or more tallying 76.

The Summary. Played on Number 1.

FIRST ANNUAL DOG SHOW

Kennel Club Event at Fair Building
March 23

Bring on your Pekingese. Produce your champion setter and your bow-legged bulldog now, or henceforth forever hold your peace. The day of reckoning among all the boasted owners of wonderful canines has arrived. The relative merits points and appearance of every terrier and pointer in the Sandhills, and beyond, will be settled beyond dispute in exhibition held for that purpose, and for the delight of the community, at the new fair building beside the Pinehurst Race Track, on Saturday, the 23d of March.

The occasion is the first annual Bench show of the Pinehurst Kennel Club.

There will be classes for setters, pointers, Boston Terriers, Air dales, Cocker Spaniels, Highland Terriers, Pomeranians, Pekingese Police Dogs, and such others as appear to warrant a class by the time the entries close. A large entry list is already assured, including a long list from the Ayrault Kennels at Newport. Mrs. Eleanor Weaver has put in 6 of her famous Boston Terriers, a French Bull and a Pekingese; the hunting brigade are pitting the pick of the shooting dogs and the French Griffon, and the entries have been opened to the public.

Further announcement and detail will be given next week, meantime the public are notified by the committee in charge that entries should be made to either Jay Hall, Julian T. Bishop or Chas. W. Piequet. That they will close on Tuesday, March 19th. Please to observe this—your entry will have to be in by the 19th day of March.

There will be no fee for entering dogs. The prizes and the judges will be announced later. The public will be charged an admission of 25 cents to see the show.
