Ray-O-Light Runs Last and Captures The Steeple Chase

We guessed right on the winner of the two mile Steeplechase on Wednesday, for the first time in the history of the Jockey Club's races. We picked Marshall Hall's Ray-O-Light to win and, as is usual when we say come forth, our selection came fifth, and a poor fifth at that, up to the time when a strange thing happened to alter history. Nat Hurd's Disturber got away in the lead, at the start, with the rest of the field (except Ray-O-Light, of course) right on his heels, but at one of the jumps the Disturber swerved into the infield and was promptly followed by all the horses in his immediate vicinity. Hall, who was riding Melos, was the only one of the jockeys who managed to get his mount back into the race before it was all over. And Yates, riding Ray-O-Light, away in the rear, just walked away with the race and the big purse by virtue of being so far behind that his horse didn't see the others depart from the beaten track. This was the last event of a remarkably good program and, so far as we could see everybody went home smiling, win or lose or draw.

Gentry Dictator, driven by Celvert, a new contendant in our arena, won both of the mile heats in the Class A pace, going under the wire in 2.18 1-4 on each round.

The mile flat race was taken by Hurd's Uncle Sam, with Burns up, in 1.46 1-5, and Henry Swoope, riding Kid Nelson, carried off the Guest's Race, a three furlong dash in 40 seconds.

The summary of all events follows: Three-Eight Mile Dash for Amateurs Kid Nelson, Henry Swoop, won. Lucilla, J. C. Thomas, second. Half Measure, Hayden Preston, third.

Time, 40 seconds.
