The sale of this lot winds up practically all of Mrs. Keating's real estate holdings in Pinehurst except the Mystic, which she will retain as her own home.

Messrs. J. D. Crosby and E. J. Arnold, who are guests at the Berkshire, are displaying with much vanity a small tin cup which they received in the mail from their home town, and which bears the following inscription in red: "From the City of Pawtucket to the Winner of the Crosby-Arnold Golf-Match." COUNTRY CLUB NOTES

According to percentages and averages, it is about time some lucky golfer is making another hole in "one".

Friends of Mr. and Mrs. I. S. Robeson have received word from Mr. Robeson that he recently won a tournament in southern France. Mr. Robeson is well-known in Pinehurst and has won three major tournaments here, and played well in many others.

One of the Pretty Drives Around Pinehurst

J. D. C. Rumsey, Mrs. G. M. Howard, and Miss Dorothy Barber. Mrs. Fayen, Mrs. Redfield, Mrs. Howard, and Mrs. Bausher won the prize at their respective tables.

John Chickering of North Andover, Mass., a 14-year-old lad now visiting Pinehurst, is developing a remarkably good game of golf. He has an easy, natural swing and shows much promise. He has made the first nine holes on Number 2 course in 48 and the full course in 102. It probably will not be long before he breaks 100 for the 18 holes. John is also quite expert at billiards, and performs with remarkable skill on the Carolina billiard tables.

Few golfers are more consistent in their play than W. E. Truesdell. Mr. Truesdell's medal scores in Tin Whistle tournaments this season were 87, 79, 82, 84, 86, 84, 86 and 84.

Playing in a medal round with a number of other professionals at Southern Pines recently, Emmet French covered the course in 71, after taking a 7 on the fourth hole where he drove out of bounds.

Eddie Fitzgerald, Manager of the Holly Inn, is far from a duffer on the links. He has a long drive and can be counted on to get his share of syndicates in practically any four-some in which he plays, and usually covers the course in the early 80's.

Congressman C. L. Underhill of Massachusetts, is spending the month on the links. He says he will keep driving into traps and getting out again until March, and hopes to break the 100 mark before he leaves.

W. J. Platt of Philadelphia, and his bride are at the Holly Inn. Mr. Platt is a brother of the good golfer, J. Wood Platt of North Hills, generally known as "Woody" Platt. W. J. says that his brother hopes to come down and compete in the North and South Championship this year.

Pinehurst golfers were sure of a real treat on Thursday last when four well-known professionals played an exhibition medal match for a purse subscribed by members of the club. The field included Emmet French, Charles Mothersele, Harold Calloway, Walter Howe, Charles Hoffner, George Fotheringham, and George McLean.

A. W. Herron of Pittsburg, father of Dave Herron, national amateur golf champion in 1919, is visiting in Pinehurst, and announces that Dave will go to England this year to participate in the British amateur championship. He said that W. C. Fownes, who is organizing the American amateur team for the British invasion, told him he felt certain of having Chick Evans, Francis Ouimet, and Bobby Jones in the party.

Twelve of Pinehurst's first-rate golfers engaged in a putting carnival on one of the practice greens on Monday last, and, although it would seem improbable, 103 putts were made before any member of the contest scored a "one." Four professionals were in the line-up, along with such skillful ones as Lou Hamilton, B. V. Covert and others.

Why is it that so many golfers are able to get their tee shots over the bunkers at the sixteenth hole on Number 2 course, but very often fail to get over the traps at the seventeenth, which is not nearly so far from the tee? One reason is that a wrong club is used. Players overestimate in selecting the club to be used. Remember that far more three's are made from the far-side than the near-side of a green.

An Atlanta golfer brought the news that Douglas Edgar, Canadian open champion, would not return to the Druid Hills Club of Atlanta as professional, but would devote his time to private instructing. Edgar is now in England in the employ of a wealthy American golfer. They are touring the British Isles and playing all the famous courses.

There is certain to be a vast amount of interest in America this year in the British Golf championships, for our best amateurs and professionals, as well as a number of our leading women golfers, will all go over to represent the United States in those famous events. The dates have been announced as follows: Week of May 23, Amateur championship at Hoylake; week of May 30, Women's championship at Turnberry; June 23-24, Open championship at St. Andrews.
