

C. B. FOWNES WINS TIN WHISTLE EVENT

Under H. H. System

C. B. Fownes of Oakmont, won the Par and Bogey contest held by the Tin Whistles on Friday last. This event was originated by Major Harold E. Porter, and is known as the H. H. system of scoring. It is an unique and entertaining affair and the idea will undoubtedly be carried to other clubs and H. H. tournaments added to club fixtures.

Fownes won with 54 points. Points are awarded on the basis of ten for an eagle, or two under par, par plus one point for a birdie, the par figure for a hole played in par, and par minus one point for a hole played in bogey. W. E. Truesdell finished second with 53 points to his credit, and Lou Hamilton and G. W. Carroll tied, at 50, for third place in the first division.

George VanKeuren won the prize in Class B; W. L. Milliken in Class C, and H. B. Swoope in Class D. Major Porter, who was entered in Class B, found the practice of the game more difficult than the authorship, and picked up when he had reached a point furthest from the club house with only 13 points to his credit.

A summary of the winners' card is as follows: First column represents the hole; second column the score, third par, fourth bogey, and last column represents number of points gained.

ENGLISH GOLFER HOLES OUT IN ONE

Here's a new one in golf. Can a player hole out in one and still lose the hole?

Holing out in one is so common these days that the feat hardly attracts more than passing notice, and the Hole-in-One Club members are innumerable. But to hole out in one and still lose the hole is unique.

This novel experience recently befell an English golfer. Driving from the first tee, his ball struck the tee box of the ladies' tee. It bounced sharply to the left, landed on the eighteenth green and rolled into the hole.

He lost the hole.—Ex.

Jes' Right.

SIR.—After purchasing a quart I found it corroded my zinc-lined interior, so I gave it to Al, our saddle-colored janitor. Later I asked him how he found it. He replied, "Jes' right, Cap'n, jes' right." "What do you mean, 'jes' right?'" said I. "Well, suh, Cap'n, if it had been any better you wouldn't have given it to me, and if it had been any wusser I'd 'a' died. It was jes' right."—J. G. S. in the Chicago Tribune.
