

The Gymkhana

"Two thousand spectators watched the racing season open on Thanksgiving Day," said the daily papers. What they really watched, besides some good races, was a series of equestrian performances of a rather unusual nature. Some of these, dealing with people, pigs, brooms, mules and other things are pictured on this page.

The Grantland Rice Sportlight, ready with its sound cameras, was not disappointed. (The pictures will be released about December 16th and will be at the Carolina shortly after.)

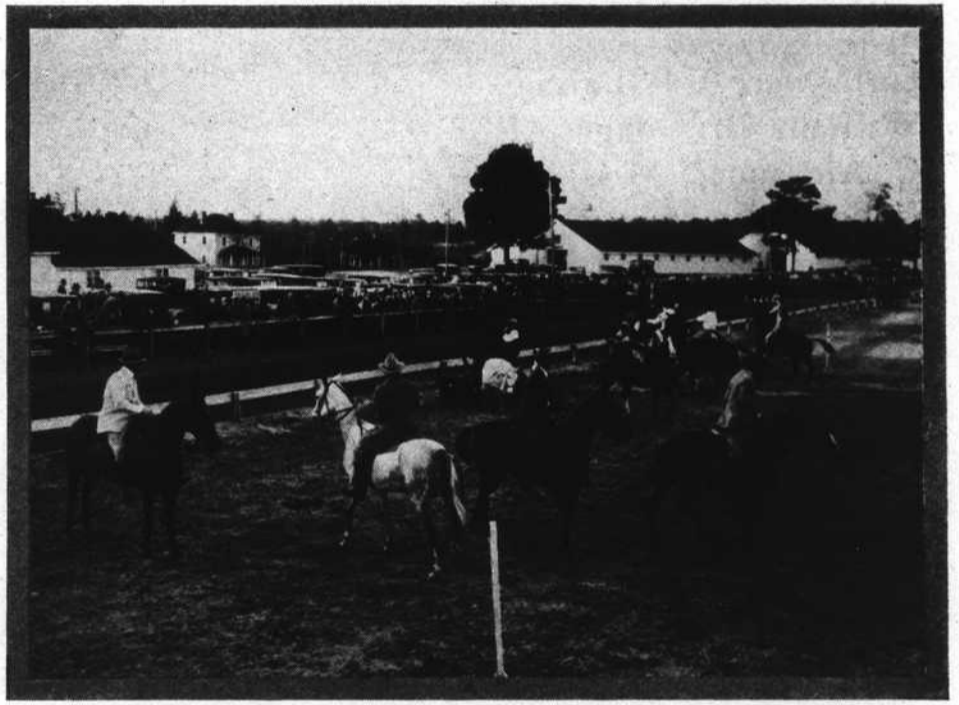

Mr. Picquet managed the races and he and Dr. J. B. Giltner judged all the events.

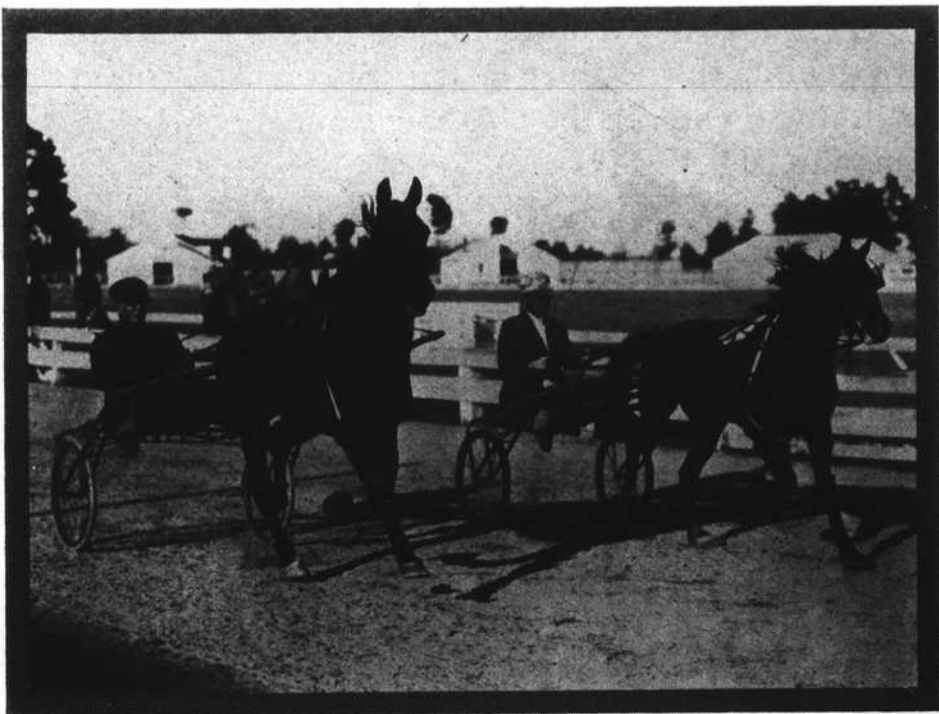

W. V. Slocock, Mrs. Beverley Walters, Beverley Walters (bareback rider) and Mrs. Richard S. Tufts on the way to the races.

Mrs. Walter D. Hyatt, Mrs. Walters, Mrs. Tufts, Mrs. Herbert D. Vail, and Miss Julia Scott Butterfield toe a rather indefinite mark in the pig race which Miss Butterfield won.

J. C. Bunn, of Asheville, and "Slim" Tate, of Roaring Gap, take a spill in the ribbon race.

Two old Pinehurst drivers return to the tracks. Mr. W. H. Watt, driving Prodigal Silk, wins from Mr. T. S. Wheeler, driving Donna Volo Peter, in the special matched pace.

In the time-honored mule polo game, Mrs. Walter D. Hyatt, of Toledo, Ohio, tries for a goal.
