PINEHURST

Years ago, when grandfather was a lively young chap Minstrelsy was popular.

Billy Kersands, with a mouth that opened like a furnace door and a voice that seemed to come from down cellar sang,

"Every day'll be Sunday bye and bye."

He was singing of the days when we wouldn't have to work, and when play would be the rule. Note how he was forecasting Pinehurst, the great play ground of the continent, with its extended facilities for classical and simple sports and games.

Once you get sand in your shoes you always come back, and you might as well provide for a permanent year after year stay in Pinehurst by securing a home location of your own.
