In the minds of many leading professionals, Pinehurst tournaments are the Alpha and Omega of winter golf. They started their winter campaigns at the P. G. A. tournament here last fall, and with most of them the traditional North and South Open, next week, will mark the climax of the winter campaign and the beginning of the Spring season. On such as this new 5th green on the No. 2 course they will vie for eminence in one of the most important tournaments of American golf.
