

SOUTHERN PINES

By Jerry V. Healy

Shields Cameron and Herbert Cameron, flying the colors of the Cameron clan, are in Fayetteville for a few days to participate in the ceremonies commemorating the 200th anniversary of the Scottish settlement of the Cape Fear Country. Together with many other members of the Clan Cameron they will march in the parade of the Highland Scotch clans.

A number of musically minded people from Southern Pines and vicinity will journey to Raleigh tonight to listen to the John Charles Thomas recital at the auditorium. Attending with Mrs. L. D. McDonald, will be Mrs. Charles Picquet, Mrs. J. D. Sitterton, Mrs. P. P. Pelton, Miss Iris Tate and Miss Blanche Sherman.

The Civic Club announces a full and varied program for this week. Tonight Chief Blackbird, Chippewa brave from Wisconsin, will present authentic interpretations of American Indian songs, stories and dances. His "song and dance" will start at 8:00 o'clock at the Civic Club.

Friday morning at 9:30 the ladies of the Club will hold a food sale, proceeds of which will go toward the building fund. The sale will be conducted by Mrs. Ernest Morell, Mrs. Wade Stevick, Mrs. William E. McCord and Mrs. L. D. McDonald. A benefit bridge will follow in the afternoon at 2:30. Mrs. James J. Spring and Mrs. Edward Horne will be in charge.

Mrs. John G. Erhardt is anticipating the arrival of Mr. and Mrs. N. P. Davis of Washington, D. C. Mr. and Mrs. Davis will spend several days with Mrs. Erhardt at her home on Weymouth Heights.

Committee Chairman B. C. Doyle stated today that much progress has been made by the Welfare Committee of the Junior Chamber of Commerce toward furnishing needed families in and around Southern Pines with clothes, fuel and other necessities of life. However, the surface has only been scratched and there is much work to be done. Together with Boy Scout Troop No. 4, which is ably assisting them, they ask for your hearty support.

WANTED

Male, Instruction. Would like to hear from reliable men we can train to overhaul, install and service Air Conditioning and Refrigerating Equipment. Must be mechanically inclined. Up yonder the road a piece is rather a unique tourist home. To many of us living here in the Sandhills it is, and has always been known as "Skyline." As a habitation for tourists traveling the broad highway 'tween points north and south of here there are few comparisons. In addition to its beautiful location and the congenial hospitality shown the tired and wearied traveler, Skyline houses within its four walls a varied and unique collection of rare antiques, assembled from many countries. Conducted by Mr. and Mrs. Arch Coleman, Skyline bids you welcome.

As something offside and different, but costing not a wee penny, John Ormsby, manager of the Southern Pines Bowling Alleys, will allow two free games of bowling to the two parties whose names are mentioned from time to time in this column. Out of the grab basket we have — Miss Katherine Buchan and Miss Iris Tate.

Mrs. Arthur Woodbury and her niece, Barbara Arbour, enroute from Baltimore to New Orleans stopped over to see Mr. and Mrs. Frank Viall.

Southern Pines Building & Loan officials attended a District meeting of North Carolina Building and Loan associations yesterday at Fayetteville. Attending the afternoon discussion and informal evening dinner meeting were President A. S. Ruggles, secretary-treasurer Ralph Chandler and directors, Howard Burns, J. D. Arey and Frank Wilson.

Mrs. G. J. Hardwick and Miss Betty Hardwick of Augusta, Ga., and Mrs. L. L. Willet of Port Washington, N. Y., were guests at the Woodworth for a few days. Mr. and Mrs. George M. Schettler of Detroit, Mich., were recent arrivals.

The Junior Chamber of Commerce met at the Southern Pines Country Club on Monday evening, the occasion of their monthly dinner meeting. An attendance of 25 enjoyed the entertainment provided by Chief Blackbird following the dinner.

Yesterday at the Club the Willing Workers of the Baptist Church entertained at a Silver Tea for 30 guests. Mrs. F. M. Gardner and Mrs. Louis Schiepers poured.

Mr. and Mrs. H. G. McElroy, announce the birth of a son, at Moore County Hospital, Sunday. The child weighed nine pounds, nine ounces, and has been named H. G. Jr.

Crystal Lassies Show Is Just A Broken Mirror

FORUM SPEAKER HAS PERSONALITY CHARM THAT WINS AUDIENCES

John Temple Graves II is Noted As Writer and Economist; Newspaperman Has Written Books, Primarily on South

John Temple Graves II, who will inaugurate the Pinehurst Forum series with a lecture on a topic to be chosen, is a brilliant, entertaining and thoroughly authoritative lecturer. Mr. Graves was heard here last year as the guest speaker for the Southern Rotarians convention.

Mr. Graves, at present associate-editor of the Birmingham Age-Herald, was educated at Princeton University and George Washington University, and is the holder of many honorary degrees from other well-known institutions. A Georgian by birth, Mr. Graves' ability as a newspaper man and economist have led him far afield. As early as 1919 he was sent to the Peace Commission in Paris as assistant to Edward N. Hurley. He was named as one of the outstanding economists on the Federal Trade Commission in Washington, where he served from 1919 to 1925.

Starting on the editorial staff of the old New York Journal, Mr. Graves was later editor of the Palm Beach Times and the Jacksonville Journal. Sandwiched in between these activities, Mr. Graves has found time to write several books, primarily about the South, and win a Middle Atlantic States Tennis championship to boot.

As newspaper man, economist, and author he has long been well established, but it is by dint of his wit and dynamic personality that he has endeared himself to his Southern audiences. This will be, insofar as we know, his first address to the ex-patriate Northerners wintering in Pinehurst.

Mr. Graves will speak Thursday evening, December 7 at the Country Club immediately following the Club's regular Thursday night buffet supper.

At this point we can't help telling about the reaction of one young lady in Pinehurst when she heard he was coming. Although any type of lecture doubtless still held for her all the terrors of a college classroom, she unhesitatingly exclaimed, "I'd listen to that man, even if he spoke on alfalfa-growing." Although as yet we don't know exactly what his subject will be, we feel fairly safe in announcing that it will not be alfalfa-growing.

Ted Turner Arrives At Pine Needles

Ted Turner, Pine Needles golf professional, arrived at Knollwood yesterday ready for his season's duties. Ted, who is professional at the Pine Valley Country Club, New Jersey, during the summer months, makes a strong addition to the professional golfing talent located in the Sandhills.

Turner had a good tournament season, having finished second in the Philadelphia open and second in the Pine Valley Invitational tournament held early this month. He led the Philadelphia qualifying round for the national open at Overbrook with a card of 141.

Ted is on his game at present and plans to go to Miami for the Miami-Biltmore $10,000 open, first event on the winter tournament schedule. This event is scheduled for December.

Ted will assume his duties as head professional at The Pine Needles Golf Club today. He is assisted by Johnny Capello.

Exotic Show Designed by Bel Geddes Cut from New York World's Fair Along with other Exhibits; John K. Weeks is Stockholder

The effort of John K. Weeks of Southern Pines and Norman Bel Geddes, to elevate the World of Tomorrow through their exhibit Crystal Lassies, at the New York World's Fair, has been terminated by Fair officials.

The exotic show was designed by Mr. Bel Geddes. Mr. Weeks is a stockholder in the corporation.

Mr. Weeks has been advised that the amusement area of the Fair will be shortened next year so that all of the exhibits in the lower end will be cut off. The new line will be designated just South of the Sun Valley exhibit.

The Crystal Lassies show, the popular parachute drop, the Cuban Village and about 25 per cent of the 1939 amusements will be out, according to the announcement from Fair officials. No reason was given.

The Crystal Lassies production was an original creation by Mr. Bel Geddes. Patrons entered a darkened and mysterious hall. The blackout was complete. Suddenly the lights came on and the spectators beheld a beautiful maiden, whose form divine was multiplied a thousand times, by hundreds of cleverly placed mirrors. It was difficult to pick out the original from the duplicates.

Mr. Weeks estimated that when the exhibit is torn down there will be enough mirrors for each stockholder to redecorate his home, but the beautiful reflection will be gone.
