

The WORLD of TODAY

Nine German Planes Destroyed

By the Associated Press

Eight German planes were reported shot down over the Western front yesterday in fiercely growing air war, and a German bomber fell in flames in Flanders while attempting to return from battle in France. Three members of the bomber's crew lost their lives. The pilot escaped with a parachute. The French reported the loss of two planes.

Early today (Thursday) a plane, presumably German, circled over Paris. It was driven off amid thundering anti-aircraft fire. The sirens sounded five minutes before the arrival of the plane. Raiding German planes were driven off as they flew over the East Coast. The British reported the loss of a seaplane in this engagement.

British Destroyer Hits Mine

Great Britain disclosed last night the loss of the destroyer Gypsy, which was so badly damaged after striking a mine that it was beached. Twenty-one officers and men were injured and 40 were reported missing. The Gypsy carried a complement of 145 men.

The Gypsy was the seventh British Naval vessel acknowledged as lost by the government.

Victories at sea were reported by the French, who claimed two German submarines were sunk by a French torpedo boat.

The Italian freighter Fianona was sunk after hitting a mine off the British Coast.

Japanese Advance On Nanning

From Hongkong, the Japanese Army staff claimed land forces had advanced within ten miles of Nanning, present headquarters of the Chinese Provincial army and the terminal of a highway leading to Indo-China. Nanning was bombed during most of the day by Japanese planes.

Netherlands Cancels Sailings

Ship owners of the Netherlands announced the cancellation of all sailings upon advice of the government. The step followed the British announcement that goods of German origin would be seized regardless of the nationality of the ships.

United States

FAYETTEVILLE, N. C., Nov. 22—Dr. Frank Graham, president of the University of North Carolina, asked today to comment on reports that he was a candidate for the presidency of Ohio State University, said merely, "I am not a candidate."

Myron Barret Leads Sixty in Turkey Shoot

Competition was very keen in the Thanksgiving Turkey Shoot which was concluded at the Pinehurst Gun Club yesterday under the management of Glenn Davis. Altogether, 60 contestants were entered in the contest for the six turkeys which were awarded as prizes for top scores in each division of ten shooters.

Winners in the rifle competition included Myron Barret, who posted a perfect bulls' eye three times for a score of 27; Paul Butler, 26 and Jack Williams, 24. In the shotgun class, winners included John McKenzie, who carded 55, Alex Kennedy, 54 and Meredith Herndon 51. Miss Anne Hotchkiss came close to winning one of the six birds by scoring 22 in the rifle class.

Mr. Davis stated that the shoot was highly successful. If sufficient interest is shown, he will stage another shoot to be timed for the second Thanksgiving Day of this season.

Foreign

TOKYO, Nov. 22—Toshio Shiratori, ex-ambassador to Italy, today declared that if the European war should spread into a world conflict "too many Japanese remember the bitter lesson of the Washington Conference to feel inclined to fight again for Britain and America."

(Many Japanese feel that in the Washington Conference of 1921-22 their country was compelled to accept a position of naval inferiority to Britain and the United States.)

Shiratori, who was recalled after his attempts to forge a military alliance with Germany.

SNOW DUE IN SPOTS FOR FIRST THANKSGIVING

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22—(A. P.)—Generally fair weather and a streak of white from the upper South to Northern New England was predicted for the Roosevelt Thanksgiving which will be celebrated tomorrow by about one-half the nation. Snow flurries and freezing weather were predicted for New England. The Mid-West looked for higher temperatures. In New York snow was expected. Six inches of snow fell in Northern West Virginia and there was light snow in Western Pennsylvania.

LEWIS WINS $210

Jim Lewis, Pinehurst, won the $210 banknight pot at the Aberdeen theatre last night.

NO DWARFS SEEN AS SNOW WHITE, FILLY, ARRIVES AT STABLES

Hal of India and Anna Held are Two Other Yearlings Reaching Pinehurst Wednesday; Bought by Dr. Parshall

At a really indecent hour for such a very young lady to be up and about, Snow White arrived in Pinehurst at 3 a. m. Wednesday morning. To avoid confusion let it be known that the young lady, who will winter in Pinehurst, is not related to the Disney heroine. No dwarfs were seen around the race track stables in the wee sma' hours when Snow White and two fellow travelers arrived.

Though of the equine rather than the cinematic family, Snow White would grace any screen, for she is a pure white yearling filly and could pass for the original of the horse with the dreamy eyes, having blue orbs that would make a leading lady green with envy. Not only that, but Snow White is really "different," being the only pure white filly ever foaled in race track history. She is by Hollroad Harkaway.

Snow White is one of three yearling fillies who were welcomed to the race track stables Wednesday. Hal of India, a chestnut filly, and Anna Held, whose pure black coat is in striking contrast to Snow White, were her traveling companions. Both fillies are by Hal Dale, and are foaled at Leo McNamara's Two Gaits Farm near Indianapolis. Hal of India is half-sister to Single Stein, five-year-old mare, who was best race winner of the year from the Pinehurst stables.

Though tired and sleepy after their 700 mile ride from Indianapolis, the arrivals seemed well content with their new home. Snow White, being the smallest and most delicate of the three seemed more exhausted than the others, and greeted visitors with a pardonable languor. The three fillies were purchased by Dr. H. M. Parshall at the Indianapolis sale last week.

HORTON SMITH HERE TO SHARPEN GAME FOR WINTER TOUR

Golf Star and his Wife Play on No. 3 Course; Gives Views on Recent Election of P. G. A. Officers

Mr. and Mrs. Horton Smith arrived in Pinehurst yesterday for a week's visit during which the nationally known golfer will take advantage of the Pinehurst courses to get his game ready for the long winter campaign. As usual, Horton will make the entire tournament circuit.

Mr. and Mrs. Smith played nine holes on the number three course yesterday afternoon, but will get down to more serious golf today. Mrs. Smith plays a very good game, being in the 80s when stroking the ball according to instruction from her husband.

The Smiths will be joined today by Mr. and Mrs. Alfred S. Bourne of Washington, Conn., and Augusta. Mr. Bourne is an ardent amateur golfer and sportsman. It will be his first visit to Pinehurst.

Horton did not have as large an amount of new golf news as usual. He has been away from tournament play for some weeks, enjoying a vacation with Mrs. Smith, during which they spent several days with Mr. Smith's parents in Springfield, Mo., and in New York City.

Horton does not consider that the new officers of the P. G. A. will effect any great changes in the work or administration of the tournament bureau, but is of the opinion if the P. G. A. considers this department too great a financial burden, that the funds to support it will be supplied by the golf manufacturers and the leading players.

There is no need for worry on the part of the players as the winter schedule is more attractive than ever, with an increase in prize money.

Asked to name a possible new star, Horton could not think of anyone. When the name of Clay-

Pinehurst Teacher's Dancing Steals Show As Clans Parade

PINEHURST VISITOR

Mrs. Horton Smith

Jean Gibbs, Member of Party Hosted by F. H. Krebs at Fayetteville Celebration, Does Fling Pleasingly

70 SANDHILLS GUESTS

FAYETTEVILLE, N. C., Nov. 22—The descendants of the Scottish Highlanders, wearing the tartan of 30 of the clans marched down the main street here today to the pibroch of the bagpipes. Kilts were flying in the breeze. The Scots were celebrating the 150th anniversary of the settling by their ancestors of the Upper Cape Fear region.

Seventy people from the Sandhills, guests of Franz Hugo Krebs, watched this colorful procession from the mezzanine floor of the Prince Charles Hotel, engaged by Mr. Krebs for this occasion. A number among the group were of Scottish ancestry and were able to call out the various tartans. All enjoyed the colorful spectacle from grand stand seats.

After the procession of the clans had passed on to the athletic field for the Scottish games Mr. Krebs picked up the cue and provided a gentleman with an accordion, who played favorite Scotch airs for his guests. Donald Currie remarked that Mr. Krebs was giving a most cosmopolitan party.

"Here we have," said Mr. Currie, "an Austrian, giving a Scotch party, attended by Irish, and at the moment being entertained by a Jewish musician playing, 'Coming Through The Rye!'"

Miss Jean Gibbs, attractive Pinehurst school teacher, a lassie with a talent for the Highland dances, accompanied by the Jewish accordionist, gave a pleasing interpretation of the Highland fling. Miss Gibbs was so good she stole the show from the parade. As an encore she did a Seantruibhus.

The school teacher gave the very definite impression that supported by the bagpipes she would be sensational. Here is a sure fire act for the Pinehurst Forum. And local talent.

PINEHURST SCOREBOARD

by DOUGLAS DOAK

The most celebrated quadruped who will winter in the long leaf pine section will be Peter Astra, of the horse and buggy class.

They'll be laying out the best guest blankets and giving the welcome mat an extra brushing off at the Pinehurst race track stables when this equine pride of the pine needles country comes home to his winter training quarters.

Pete is just a rarin' tearin' harness horse; a three-year-old trotter who swept through practically everything in sight this summer and raced to the profitable tune of better than $40,000 under the guidance of Dr. H. M. Parshall, leading money winning driver of the Grand Circuit. Pete won 23 out of 24 heats in nine races and Dr. Parshall takes the blame for the one heat in which Peter finished second, saying that he failed to get his steed in position to go in front.

To further complicate the horsey situation Dr. L. M. Guilinger, Peter Astra's owner, is not of the horsey set. Dr. Guilinger got interested in horses while making his rounds in the outskirts of Andover, Ohio, in the days when the horse and buggy doctor was a reality and not the title of a best-seller.

Peter will be returning here after a summer in which he took not only the Hambletonian at Goshen but eight other important stakes for horses of his class. At Toledo, Ohio, he took the Matron stake in three heats, winner's share $1,750; next at Goshen over the half-mile track he took the winner's share of $1,050 in the Harriman stake. Later at Old Orchard Beach, Me., Peter raced away with the National stake, winning $4,150; and again at Old Orchard trotted home with the bacon for the same amount in the American stake. On August 8th Pete tooped the Hambletonian field at Good Time track, Goshen, winner's share $21,860.35. Peter Astra is the great-

Interesting Matches Played by Golfers

A number of interesting matches were played at the Country Club yesterday.

James Hunter and his son, Bing, defeated Eric Thomson and C. B. S. Marr, two and one, in a fourball game which was featured by a round of 34-35-69 by the senior member of the Hunter team. Their better ball was 68. Mr. Thomson returned a 71 and Mr. Marr a 76. The match was played on number three course.

A professional-amateur fourball found Harold Callaway and Purvis Ferree on the winning side against Bobby Knowles and Richard Tufts. Ferree, with a 74 was low. Callaway was 79. Amateur Knowles was 79 and amateur Tufts 81. Play was on number two.

On Tuesday William T. McCullough and H. Frederick Lesh were five down to Raymond S. Farr and Kenneth B. Trousdell, at the seventh hole. They were playing two points to a hole and at the tenth Mr. McCullough and Mr. Lesh had recovered six of the seven minus points. One down going to the 18th, Mr. McCullough and Mr. Lesh squared the match.

William Meehan has three guests in Ed Nesbit, George Kearns and Martin Steinthal. They will engage in some competitive golf, in which professionals Callaway and Ferree will take an active interest. Down from New York, Mr. Meehan's friends spent yesterday in getting ready for the battle.
