PINEHURST GIRLS ROUT WEST END TO KEEP RECORD CLEAN

High School Basketball Squad Runs Winning String to Six in Row; Boys Defeated

The Outlook is a day late with the news that on Tuesday night the Pinehurst high school boys' basketball team lost to West End by a score of 44 to 8. This story is about the Pinehurst girls, who won from West End 27 to 12. It seems that the young man who was to "cover" these games forgot to come to the office, and we were wondering if the score—West End boys 44, Pinehurst boys 8—could have had anything to do with the Outlook missing this item on time.

The real story was about the girls, who won their sixth straight victory, and are on their way to a nice record for this season. They have 12 games remaining on the schedule, the next being Vass-Lakeview at home on Friday.

POLO TEAMS OPEN MATCH SERIES ON SUNDAY AFTERNOON

Undaunted by the setbacks of unfavorable weather twice when the opening game was scheduled, Pinehurst's polo teams will saddle up Sunday afternoon for a third try to get the match series launched.

This time it looks as though the clash will really eventuate, for the long range weather forecast is for glorious weather both Saturday and Sunday—Saturday to assure hard turf for the riders, and Sunday to permit a throng of spectators to enjoy the contest under genial skies.

The teams selected for Sunday's battle are the Sandhill Polo Club and Blind Brook club. The players on both teams are experienced and hardy poloists. They know every angle of the game, and promise to give the spectators a fast and thrilling exhibition of the pony sport.

No other sport or pastime has the exciting moments that crowd almost every minute of a polo skirmish. Rallies in the open field, or on the boards, or near the goals, are always tense affairs, and drives by individual players with ball at mallet end likewise arouse the enthusiasm of the spectators to the highest pitch.

As Sunday's game marks the return to the Sandhills of polo after several years' suspension of play, there is certain to be a large attendance to greet the teams, for polo had a very extensive following in the Sandhills.

There will be a practice game at 2:30 p. m. today.

The line-up:

Blind Brook Club
Henry Gibson
Fred Wilms
Merrill Fink
Captain Dave Erskine

LITTLE, STAHL AND KRUEGER LEAD COAST GOLF WITH 70 SCORE

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 17—(AP)—Clayton Heafner of Linville, N. C., is getting the publicity "breaks" on the winter tour as well as playing plenty of startling golf. Yesterday in the first of two qualifying rounds in the San Francisco match play event he lost his ball in the pocket of a spectator. He dropped without penalty to finish in a tie with eight others at 72 in 12th place.

Lawson Little, Alvin Krueger and Marvin Stahl led the field with rounds of 70. Darkness prevented 35 members of the large field from finishing. They will complete their first round early tomorrow. The second qualifying round will be completed tomorrow to select 32 for match play, beginning Friday.

Leading scores: Little, Krueger and Stahl 70; Beer, Byrd, Sheppard, Machado, Wood, Metz, Demare 71; Lynch, M. Fry, Coltrin, Oliver, Heafner, Thomson, Brown, Keiser and Difaurie 72.

AIRMAIL SERVICE FOR SANDHILLS IS TOPIC AT MEETING

E. S. Blodgett Attends Session at Fayetteville Where Representatives from Vicinity Discuss Plans

(Special to the Outlook)

FAYETTEVILLE, N. C., Jan. 17—Edwin S. Blodgett, president of the Pinehurst Chamber of Commerce, and Shelby Cullom of the Bank of Pinehurst were among the 14 who attended a meeting at the Prince Charles hotel here today to discuss steps to be taken to bring regular passenger and air mail service to this section.

Stacy Lee, Charlotte, outlined to the representatives from Wilmington, Fayetteville, Pinehurst, Charlotte and other cities, the procedure of applying to the Civil Aeronautics Authority, Washington, which must sanction new routes before airway companies can establish regular mail and passenger service.

Mr. Blodgett stated that it would require probably a year to establish a line which would serve the Sandhills, but he felt confident that it would be done, and that the Knollwood airport would be hooked up to regular north and south service via Charlotte.

Communities interested in establishment of such a line must present figures to Washington indicating the amount of airmail and passenger service which would be handled. Two of the four large airway companies are said to be interested in a Wilmington to the west route, with stops, including Knollwood.

Howard Burns, Southern Pines, wired the meeting that illness had prevented him from being present.

R. B. Page, publisher of the Wilmington Star-News, and L. R. Ash, Fayetteville banker, attended.

Those present decided that committees should be named in each interested city to survey the general situation such as terminal facilities.

Rotarians Will Hear Talk by Globe Trotter

Rotarians will have the pleasure of hearing another winter resident of Southern Pines tell tales of the outside world at the club's weekly luncheon meeting to be held Friday at 12:15 o'clock in the Southern Pines Country Club, when Harold Wallace (Wally) Smith, globe trotter, international photographer and lecturer, will be the guest speaker.

Mr. Smith has traveled far and wide with his camera, and his tales of travel and adventure should prove both instructive and entertaining.

TEACHERS CLUB BOWLS

A team captained by M. P. Wilson was victorious over a team captained by Miss Lillian Moore at the Amusement Center last night. Both these teams are from the teachers club and are composed of seven players on each side. This match will be a weekly feature until the end of the season.

PINEHURST SCOREBOARD

Dennis R. Scanlon, New York, frequent Pinehurst visitor, is trying to collect by court action $92,000 he says Sonja Henie owes him for past favors as an agent, including his services in convincing Olympic officials of 1936 that Sonja was still an amateur and, to use his best effort to cause to be named as judges . . . persons who were known to be not unfavorable to the defendant.

Sonja was not the only top lady amateur skater in the 1936 Olympics, but she was the only one whose fond parents had been electrified by tales of the cash to be made in "the States," and knew that the Olympic title would be needed in exploiting their child when she turned professional. There is plenty about the Olympic competition among the girls that year that has never been published. There were buckets of tears by the ladies. Miss Cecilia Colledge, the English star, who competed in this 1936 Olympic championship, could really call the cops if she wanted to put in the w.k. rap.

From Cleveland Sonja said Mr. Scanlon's suit was "the most ridiculous thing I ever heard. Scanlon is going to be in for trouble because, I am going to New York next week to testify, and tell plenty."

Scoreboard is well acquainted with Dennis Scanlon and knows that Dennis was the man who first interested the Henies, particularly papa and mama Henie, in the possibilities of exploiting their skating daughter in America. Dennis brought them over the first time.

If Sonja talks, a lot of people who have skated in the Olympics as amateurs, and a lot of stuff that was not exactly "cricket" will be brought out, some of which might backfire on the Norwegian star herself, whose parents could make out an expense account that looked like what Herb Graffis would call, "the national debt in pennies."
