East Shivers in Grip of Zero Weather

By Associated Press
The bitterest cold wave of the winter penetrated deep into the eastern half of the United States today, sweeping over western New York with a storm that approached blizzard proportions.

Temperatures sank below zero in Michigan, Ohio, Maryland, Kentucky, West Virginia, Pennsylvania and Maryland, and freezing temperatures were recorded in every state in the south.

At a mountain camp near Huntsville, Ala., inhabitants stared at thermometers which read 8 degrees below zero.

A reading of -3 at Memphis, Tenn., was the lowest since 1918, and temperatures throughout the south were generally lower than any time in the past four years.

Driven before a 36 mile an hour wind, the worst storm of the season almost paralyzed traffic over a large section of New York. The average temperature in three western counties was 12 below zero, while at Watertown more than two feet of snow had fallen since yesterday. A light snow covered most of Virginia.

PINEHURST GIRLS REMAIN UNDEFEATED

PINEHURST SCOREBOARD

by ROBERT E. HARLOW

When Bobby Jones made a Grand Slam, the competent critics said it would never be repeated and it is entirely possible that this is the truth as far as the British and United States open and amateur championships are concerned.

But Japan had a Grand Slam King for 1939 in Torchy Toda, of Kobe, who played in the North and South championship in Pinehurst in the spring of 1936. Toda, the artist of Japanese golf, during 1939, won the four major championships of Japan; the Japanese open, the Western Japanese open, the Japanese professional and the Western professional.

In the open, played in June over Toda's home course in Kobe, the Japanese star won with 73-71-70-73—287. He had a five stroke margin over Chin, who was in Pinehurst with Toda in 1936. Tommy Miyamoto, who was in Pinehurst in the spring of 1935, finished third with 297. The course measured 6,773 yards with a difficult par of 72.

In the Western Japanese open, a 36 hole event, held in October, Toda won with 69-68—137. The course is 6,620 yards and the par 70. He was eight strokes in front of the second man.

Toda won the Japanese professional championship at match play defeating Miyamoto in the final 3 and 2. He won the Western pro championship at match play, when again in the final he defeated Miyamoto 5 and 4.

It appears that war with China had little effect on the Japanese golf championships, all of which were held with the familiar pros in the top spots.

Toda greatly impressed critics when he came to America for the first time in the spring of 1935 with a six man Japanese team. In the first match the Japanese team played in Portland, Ore., against six Northwest professionals, Toda and Chin, with a better ball of 67 beat the two Zimmerman brothers, 2 and 1. To say that Portland golfers were surprised would be putting it mildly. The Japanese won all three bestball matches.

This team toured the United States by train from Portland to Los Angeles, to Kansas City to St. Louis and from St. Louis east, via bus. It was a rocky voyage part of the way, but the Japanese players and their manager enjoyed it. They played 42 matches, winning 25, losing 12 and tying four. The opposition was P. G. A. sectional teams.

In a final match at Skokie in Chicago, the Japanese won three matches from Chicago's leading amateurs. Chick Evans, Bob Gardner and Russ Martin were on the Chicago side.

Nakamura, the Japanese open champion of 1934 holds the distinction of being the first Japanese professional to win prize money in America. He finished in the money in the Western open at South Bend in 1935.

Best showing ever made by a Japanese in America was by Toda, who finished in a tie for second in the Hollywood, Florida, open in the spring of 1936 in a field in which practically every class American, professional was entered. Toda was 277, one stroke behind Ghezzi, the winner. Tony Penna tied with Toda for second.

In a match at Atlanta, Georgia, Toda and Chin played Bobby Jones and Charley Yates, even, in 18 holes of bestball play at East Lake.

Toda is a great artist and is evidently being kept away from the war in China. This writer would go a long distance to see Toda play golf under competitive circumstances, to note what improvement he has made since he was last in America in 1936. He looked then to have the possibilities of becoming one of the game's greatest.

Models Dare Debs to "Battle of Glamor"

BOSTON, Jan. 19—(AP)—Determined to eliminate debutante competition, Boston professional models issued a challenge for a "battle of glamor" today in their fight against society models.

Led by Miss Ruth Allen, who holds more titles for beauty and all-around "oomph" than can be counted on the fingers, the models hope to win their fight by legislative action which would give them professional status akin to nurses, hairdressers and similar groups.

"Bring on the debutantes," said Miss Allen. "They do our work for fun and amusement, and we do it to earn a living. All we want is a chance to earn that living without unfair amateur competition.

"We can prove that a professional model has it all over a debutante. We challenge any and all of them to a battle of glamor—a 'tournament of beauty' and let the public judge.

"We'll even let the debs choose the weapons. They can make it evening gowns, bathing suits or sarongs—we can beat them at any of them."

The models have drawn up petitions, which they are circulating throughout the state, asking Gov. Leverett Saltonstall and the legislature to take action on their problem.

AMATEUR-PRO GOLF LEAGUE GOES INTO 2D ROUND MONDAY

Tilt Will be Over Mid Pines Course; Full Quota of 40 Players is Listed to Take Part

The Sandhills amateur-professional golf league will go into the second round on Monday at the Mid Pines Club when a full quota of 40 players, ten professionals and 30 amateurs are expected to compete.

With Monday's play a line will be obtained as to the teams which must be considered in the competition for club and individual league titles.

George Dunlap Jr. and Ted Turner, the crack Pine Needles team, are leading for club as well as individual honors with their fine first round score of 65. Two Pine Needles and a Pinehurst team are tied for second at 68. These are Turner and George Dunlap Sr., and Turner and F. H. Hyde Jr., and Richard S. Tufts and Harold Callaway of Pinehurst.

Play will be 18 holes, with handicaps, and the event will be an individual tournament, but with scores going into the 72 hole league competition to make 36 hole totals.

In order to win the club title the lowest score made each week by a team representing the club counts. In the pair competition the same players must play all four rounds.

WEATHER
Fair Saturday and Sunday, slightly colder on the coast Saturday. Slowly rising temperature Sunday.

CHINESE REPORTED TO HAVE ENTERED CANTON DEFENSES

Troops Surround City with Ring of Steel, Giving Japanese Worst Setback Since Start of War Two and A Half Years Ago

HONGKONG, Jan. 20—(AP)—Chinese troops were reported to have entered the outer defenses of Canton and to have surrounded the city with a ring of steel.

The entry following one of the worst setbacks the Japanese have experienced since the start of the two and one-half years of war.

Canton, normally a city of 1,500,000 fell to the Japanese in October, 1938, and has been used as a base for extensive operations in South China.

FAST RIDING TEAMS SELECTED FOR POLO GAME ON SUNDAY

Plenty of Action Expected in Match in Which Two Army Men and One University Star Will Be Players

The polo game scheduled for 2:30 Sunday afternoon at Pinehurst between Sandhill club and Blind Brook will bring together a couple of fast riding outfits, with expert polo players on each team.

Two army officer players from Fort Bragg, Capt. Paul Miller and Capt. Dave Erskine are in the lineups. Capt. Miller with the Sandhill four and Capt. Erskine being in the Blind Brook squad. Both are fine poloists.

Henry Gibson Barnhard Jr. of Summit, N. J., is a University of North Carolina polo star who is on the Blind Brook team.

There will be plenty of action in the six chukker clash, as the teams have engaged in strenuous practice, two postponements giving them unwanted respites. The ponies are seasoned mounts, and the practice sessions of the clubs whipped both men and horses into first class shape.

Colonel George P. Hawes will handle the whistle, while the time will be checked off by W. E. Baker.

Successes Are Claimed By Soviet and Finns

MOSCOW, Jan. 20—(AP)—The Russian military authorities claim to have annihilated a Finnish battalion at Kitela, on the northern shore of Lake Lagoda.

The Finnish official statement reported gains in the Lake Lagoda section and the use of Swedish volunteers in bombing Russian camps and columns.

A battle is being fought in the Lake Lagoda area, where the Finns are reported to have caught up with 40,000 Russians in retreat above the Arctic circle.
