Dunlap and Hunter In Race For Whistle Title

Defending Champion Leading Field With Score of 72, Rival Running Second With 73

Championship Tournament Develops Into Two-Man Struggle; Richard S. Tufts in Third Position with 79.

FINAL ROUND TODAY

The Tin Whistle championship of 1940 developed into a two man race yesterday, with George Dunlap Jr., the club's ace player, and James T. Hunter, the club's King player, out in front of the field and engaged in the only competition remaining for the second round which will be played today to complete the championship.

Mr. Dunlap, who has been the defending champion ever since 1934, scored 36-36-72 and Mr. Hunter 38-35-73. Both played on the number two course from the white markers, saving the easier number three course for today's round. Mr. Dunlap is the favorite, but Mr. Hunter could easily upset the calculations and win.

Practically the entire field selected number two for yesterday's round as a breeze was helping on the starting holes.

Mr. Dunlap and Mr. Hunter are so far in front that as far as the club championship is concerned they might as well engage in a singles and decide the issue. But others will play for the fun of seeing which member can finish third.

C. B. S. Marr, who elected to play number three yesterday, led on that course with 38-39-77.

The opening round of the championship was likewise a regular Tin Whistle tournament, with major and minor prizes in four classes. As the winner of the championship can take but

She was on the stand only a few minutes, testifying as to the charges of cruelty and desertion in her complaint. Then the case was set over to 11 o'clock Monday morning for testimony of her brother, Howard E. Cushing, principal witness, who is ill.

Mrs. Roosevelt testified that her husband asked her in May, 1938, for a divorce and later deserted her in the east upon her refusal.

"In May, 1938, in Washington, D. C., did you have a conversation with your husband," her attorney asked.

"Was that the first you knew that he desired a divorce?"

Radio Message Gives no Details of Attack, Which Is First Reported on This Side of Atlantic.

REPORTS VERIFIED

NEW YORK, March 1.—(AP)—Mackay radio reported tonight that the British steamer Southgate had radioed it was being attacked by a submarine at a point somewhere near Porto Rico. Mackay also reported that the United States coast guard cutter Unalga, about an hour away from the vessel, was proceeding to her assistance.

The Southgate is a vessel of 4,862 tons, built in 1926, and out of London. The radio message gave no details of the attack, nor did it indicate the ship's situation.

This was the first submarine attack reported on this side of the Atlantic. On several occasions, however, foreign undersea craft have been sighted off the American coast. Mackay picked up the message at 6:09 p. m., E. S. T. The point given by the Southgate in its message would place the vessel about 300 miles north of Porto Rico, and approximately 1000 miles southeast of Miami, Fla.

NEW YORK—Marine sources disclosed Friday night that British men of war for days had been searching Central and South American waters for a squadron of at least four German submarines believed to be operating in those areas. The first tangible evidence that subs actually were in American waters came Friday with the report of the British steamer Southgate, which radioed it was under attack.

A number of German vessels have been operating mysteriously in and out of a Mexican port for some weeks, and rumors have been current that they might have been making rendezvous with subs for refueling purposes.

GERMAN SHIP BURNS

ARUBA, Dutch West Indies—The German freighter Troja, 2390 tons, which sailed from this port, was intercepted by a British cruiser and was burning off Aruba tonight. The crew of the Nazi vessel attempting to reach home through the British blockade apparently fired their ship rather than submit to the British warship.

Soviet Troops Close In on Viipuri Region

MOSCOW—(Saturday)—The Russian army reported its troops were advancing into the southern outskirts of Viipuri last night, and that the Finns were setting fire to the ancient fort.
