Santa Anita Win Makes Seabiscuit Greatest Money Winner

By Associated Press
LOS ANGELES — Seabiscuit won the greatest race of a great career Saturday, rounding out one of the most amazing chapters of the American turf by winning the fabulous Santa Anita $100,000 added, handicap, in a new track record of 2:01 1-5 before a roaring crowd of more than 70,000.

The Biscuit carried top weight of 139 pounds, and started from the 13th post position, under expert handling by Jockey J. Polard. From this outside position the great horse had clear running. In the stretch drive, Seabiscuit, Kayak 11 and Whichcee were inches apart, but C. S. Howard's gallant horse pulled away to win by a length. Kayak 11 was second, Whichcee, third and Wedding Call, fourth. The Seabiscuit mutuel paid $3.40, $2.80 and $2.60.

The Seabiscuit share of the purse was $86,650 and made the horse the greatest all time money winner with a total of $437,730, passing Sun Beau's gross of $376,744.

BELGIAN PLANES SHOT DOWN BY NAZI BOMBER

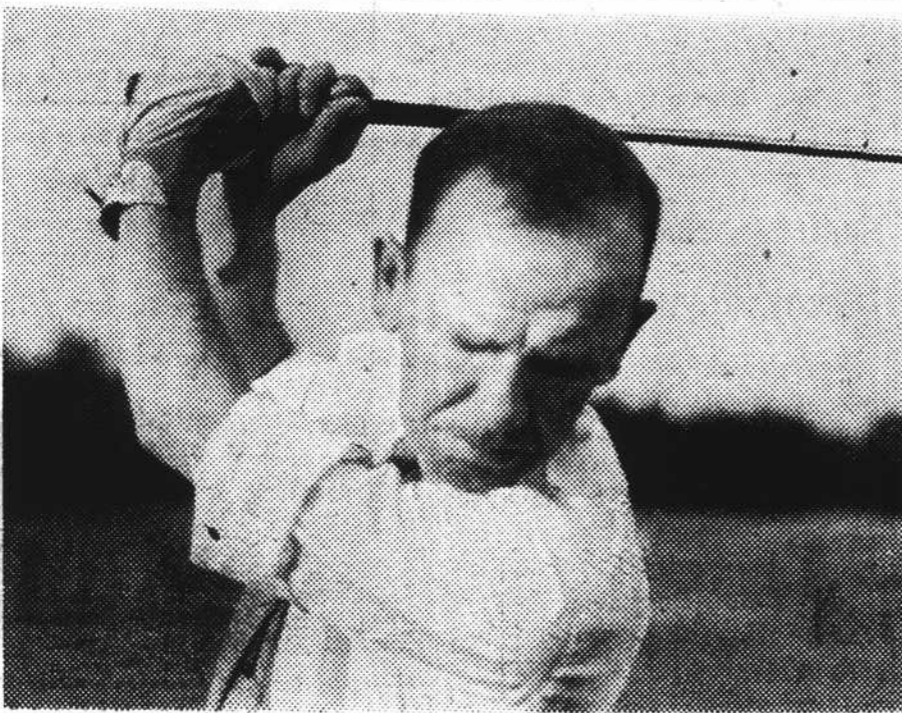

BRUSSELS, March 2.—(AP)—Two Belgium army planes were shot down over their homeland today by a German bomber. One pilot was killed and another wounded. The Belgium government protested to the German ambassador, claiming the Nazi flier guilty of violation of Belgium neutrality and an act of aggression.

FINNS DENY CLAIM VIIPURI HAS FALLEN

MOSCOW, March 2.—(AP)—The Russian army claims to have entered the Southern portion of Viipuri and that Red forces are encircling the important Finnish city.

HELSINKI — The Finnish government denied tonight that Viipuri had fallen, but conceded the loss of Tammsuio, a few miles North of Viipuri and the island of Turkian, southwest of the city.

A GLOVE DIRECTS THE BALL

Harold Callaway, a member of the teaching staff of professionals at the Pinehurst Country Club has sold more than 500 of his wrist restraint golf gloves, which restrict over cocking the wrists on the back swing and makes you pivot, thus avoiding those terrific slices.

Bobby Jones has written Mr. Callaway that he considers "this glove is a valuable aid in the hands of a competent instructor," and Horton Smith and Dick Metz have recommended it to develop a proper swing.

Mr. Callaway will be pleased to demonstrate this glove at the Pinehurst Country Club to those "all forlorn" golfers who want to cure a slice or a pull, and hit the ball down the alley.

CAMDEN POLO GAME AT 3.00 P.M. TODAY

Pinehurst's No. 2 field, revamped, enlarged and greatly improved, will resound today with the thud of pounding hoofs as Pinehurst Polo Club will go into action at 3:00 o'clock, against a strong Camden, S. C., four.

The skirmish will be a return game for one played at Camden earlier in the season, in which the locals were losers. On their home field and with more practice together, the Pinehurst players believe it will be a different story today.

A really thrilling and spectacular clash can be counted on, as the Camden players are bringing a strong team.

The enlarged field will allow much more parking space, and a better view of the play. The loud speaker today will be handled by an expert announcer, and in every way the spectators are going to enjoy watching the match. A record crowd is likely to greet the teams, and Earl Shaw and Merrill Fink have made all plans to take good care of them.

Jones Makes Mincemeat of Ham

Horace Jones, 175 pounds, a porter of the State Sanatorium, made mincemeat out of Ham Braboy, 210 pounds, Hartsville, S. C., in the fourth round of a scheduled ten round wind-up between colored heavyweights at the Amusement Center last night. Jones was 1989 175 lb. colored Charlotte Golden Gloves Champion.

The Ham went down under a shower of blows as if he had been hit by a skillet. Horace landed a right and left to the chin, a right to the chest. Braboy began to back away, and to fold up. A left hook to the midriff finished him.

The Ham went down in his own corner, and assumed a posture similar to a Miami Beach vacationist out for a sun tan. It was the real thing.

The program was a vast improvement over last week.

There were two technical KOs. In the second bout, between "Red" Kennedy of the Pinehurst power plant and Willie Brody of Vass, the KO was called, after a series of straight Brody shots to Kennedy's face put him out of commission in the second round.

In the fourth bout, James Overton of Sanford, 18 year old elevator boy of the Carolina Hotel, came out of his corner with

FLY TO BRIDGE HERE, TWO PITTSBURGHERS ANNEX TOP HONORS

Dr. Huber Wagner, Surgeon, and Ralph E. Davis, Engineer, Will Celebrate by Flying to Havana.

The Holly Inn duplicate bridge tournament of last night came to a thrilling climax when Dr. Huber Wagner, eminent Pittsburgh surgeon, and Ralph E. Davis, prominent Pittsburgh consultant engineer, took top North-South honors.

The thrilling part of it is the fact that these two gentlemen flew from Pittsburgh to make the entry deadline in the Pinehurst card play. Outlook records show that this is the first time anything like this has ever happened. They will celebrate by flying to Havana, after the large margin win.

And—this is only the second time that Dr. Wagner has played duplicate.

Mrs. Edwin S. Blodgett and Mrs. Donald Parson, leading Pinehurst personalities, captured first honors in East-West play. Runners-up in the North-South division were two Southern Pines experts, Dr. L. M. Daniels and Dr. E. W. Bush. Runners-up in East-West play resulted in a tie between Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Moyer, guests at the Holly Inn and George D. Murphy and Dr. Francis L. Owens of Pinehurst.

Dr. Bush and Dr. Daniels came within five-thousandths of a point of winning the Mid-southern bridge tournament, which was held at the Carolina Hotel in January.

Rubber bridge winners included Mrs. H. D. Lombard, George Flint Warren, Samuel Hart and George Gilchrist, all guests at the Holly Inn; Raymond S. Farr, Mrs. Seward M. Patterson and H. Frederick Lesh.

BUDDY "WOOD"

Buddy has taken leave of this war-troubled world, gone on a long journey to a happy hunting ground, away from "cares that are." Buddy, the Boston Bull terrier pet of the Joseph W. Woods of Pinehurst, for 15 years was known to man, woman and child of the village, with a friendly wiggle of his short tail for all, rain or shine. The Woods had Buddy since he was just five weeks old. He passed on to the land of everlasting rest, eternal puppy biscuit and open fields, last weekend, leaving happy memories behind him with all who saw him scamper about, and all who knew him as a friend to man.

ACTIVE TRAINING OF HARNESS HORSES AT TRACK IS STARTED

Land Bird, Filly in Mrs. L. B. Smith Stable, Shows Well in Workout, Also Butch, Haines Colt Trained by Miller.

By Wayne Groves

Pinehurst Race Track, Saturday Active training began in earnest out at the Pinehurst race track this week, as the various trainers had all of the aged members of their stables headed the right way of the track, going miles from 2:35 to 2:45. Up until this week, for the most part, the aged horses have been receiving only slow jog work, but now they are moving into the real training period, and will be stepped along a bit faster each week, until miles around 2:10 will be rather common.

Though the older horses will be in the picture from now on, yet it is the colts that will hold the spotlight of attention for the next two months. Those that have been raced before are naturally expected to race back to their former efforts, or perhaps a bit better, but the nearly half a hundred two year olds are really "on trial." What they can show in the next sixty days will to a large measure determine their future usefulness as race horses. Some few are nice gaited and can show speed right from the beginning, while others will fumble around through several weeks and possibly months, and then just overnight, hit their stride, and go on to be among the season's stars. Others that show much promise in their early lessons,

GEORGE T. DUNLAP JR. ANNEXES 7TH STRAIGHT TIN WHISTLE TITLE

Defending Champion Finishes With 141, After 69 Made On No. 3 Course; Hunter Second With 143, After a Final Round of 70.

George T. Dunlap Jr. won the Tin Whistle Club golf championship yesterday for the seventh consecutive season, by making a brilliant finish on the final nine of number three, which he played in 32 strokes. Twos at the short holes were important. His scores were 72 on number two Friday and 69 on number three today for a total of 141. He won last year with this figure.

James T. Hunter was the only member in a field of 67 starters to give Mr. Dunlap a battle for the title, and at the 27th hole, Mr. Hunter had picked up a two stroke lead. He finished with a 36 for a splendid round of 70, which gave him a two round score of 73-70-143.

Mr. Dunlap was away to a bad five, six start. At the second hole he pushed his tee shot into the woods, whacked his second deeper into the woods, his third hit a tree, and stayed in the pines and he finished with a six. After that he was George Dunlap Jr. for the rest of the afternoon. He holed a two at the sixth and was out in 37.

Mr. Hunter, playing behind in another fourball game, made no mistakes until he took a four at the seventh, but he made up for this with birdies at eight and nine to be out in 34 and two strokes in front of George.

The 15th hole ruined Mr. Hunter's day's work. He took a six. A lazy tee shot was in the rough, and the ball snuggled close to a whisker. On in three, he went for a long putt, and took three putts. He had three putted twelve, trying to hole a three.

As Mr. Dunlap had scored a three on the 15th, he picked up three strokes on his only rival at this one hole. This great

Country Club Notes

By Robert E. Harlow

It had been some time since this reporter "covered" a competitive golf event in which William C. Fownes Jr. of Oakmont, Pittsburgh and Pinehurst, has been engaged.

Mr. Fownes won the national amateur golf championship in 1910 at the Country Club, Brookline, Mass. He played in the national championship at Baltusrol, N. J., in 1926, qualified with 161, and lost to Chick Evans, two and one. Scoreboard reported the Baltusrol championship for the Associated Press.

Yesterday Mr. Fownes won a three cornered putting contest from his daughter, Mrs. Louise Fownes Blue and Roland MacKenzie, a former Walker Cup member. This match was played on the Pinehurst Country Club course, and Mr. Fownes was 33, three under par. He holed consecutive aces at the 13th and 14th. MacKenzie was
