ROBERTSON TEAM WINS SILVER FOILS ANNUAL MIXED FOURSOMES

Couple Card Gross 92 for Net of 70; Second Honors Won by Mrs. Tyrrel and Robert Finney with 74 Net.

47 PAIRS COMPETE

Mr. and Mrs. Francis C. Robertson, two Pinehurst true-blue golfers, won first prize in the annual Silver Foils Mixed Foursomes tournament, held yesterday on No. 1 and No. 3 courses. The couple carded a gross 92 and net 70 for the top honors.

Second went to Mrs. B. Lester Tyrrel and Robert Finney, who carded a net 74.

There were four ties for third place, at 75, Mr. and Mrs. George T. Dunlap; Miss Betty Abernathy and George T. Dunlap Jr.; Mrs. J. O. Hobson and J. E. Kunkle and Mr. and Mrs. Seward M. Paterson. The splendid field of 47 teams took part.

INFORMATION, PLEASE OF FORUM WILL BE CONDUCTED BY LADIES

Session Next Thursday to Widen Scope of Questions, Which Will be Accepted up to Tuesday Night; Used Queries Win Dollar.

Next Thursday evening the Pinehurst Forum will hold its second "Information, Please," this time with lady interlocutor and "experts."

Since the previous stumpers were contributed largely by women, this is a fine opportunity for the men to avenge themselves.

One criticism of the first show was that there was a preponderance of questions of local interest. This will be eliminated next Thursday, and questions of general knowledge and interest will receive preference.

Some questions which were sent in late the last time will be used on this occasion, so don't be surprised if you receive a dollar you'd forgotten all about.

Questions will be accepted up until Tuesday night.

HELEN SIGEL WINS

AUGUSTA, Ga., March 22.—Using a putter with devastating effect in the last stages of an uphill fight, Helen Sigel today defeated defending Champion Dorothy Kirby in the final of the Augusta Women's Invitational golf tournament, one up in 19 holes.

Two down and two to go, Miss Sigel fell back on her trusty putter to win the next three holes and her first major title.

DOGS, OX, SNAIL, HEN HAVE ANNUAL REUNION AT PEPPY PET SHOW

Fun Plus Excitement Reign as Youngsters Parade Varied Assortment of Creatures They Cherish; Gymkhana Events Thrilling.

With a regular Noah's Ark collection of animals, spectators at yesterday's annual gymkhana and pet show were treated to plenty of laughs and quite a bit of excitement.

Leading the field for oddity was Miss Jane McCluer's snail, which crawled off with fourth place in the pet class. Voted champion of the field was a toy fox terrier owned by Mrs. Dorothy McGranahan.

Other pets exhibited included a large and varied collection of canines, a goat, a guinea hen, and Joe Horton's ox. A bit of difficulty was experienced in getting Joe's ox cart through the narrow gate, but with the help of some willing assistants the cart was safely lifted over the fence, while the ox looked bored with the whole proceedings.

Miss Maxine Maness won second place with her tame guinea hen, Mrs. Quinto Bello's Irish terriers took third place, and June Bug Tate and his goat came out fifth. Joe's ox was awarded a special blue ribbon.

The pet parade was the second event on the program which started off with a hard riding game of musical stalls in which Miss Patsy Southgate came out victorious. Miss Sarah Baker and Miss Kitty Morgan won second and third places respectively, to shut out the masculine competitors completely.

In spite of the valiant one man defense of his barrel, Master Donald Scheipers was unsuccessful in fending off a bevy (Continued on Page Six)

CHAPEL EGG HUNT

The Children's Easter Egg Hunt of the Village Chapel will take place this afternoon at 3:30 o'clock. This annual event is very popular, and a large attendance of young folks is expected. Children will assemble at the old Chapel at 3:15 o'clock.

WEATHER

Considerable cloudiness, possibly light snow in mountains, slightly colder Saturday. Sunday generally fair and rather cold.

VICTORY SWEET TO THEM

Outlook Engraving

PINEHURST SCOREBOARD

by ROBERT E. HARLOW

In the old days when Westbrook Pegler covered big time sports events he would stroll up and down the line in the press boxes peeking over the shoulders of the ace writers from all parts of the country, reading their opening paragraphs, or what is known in the business as the "lead."

Having digested the brilliant thoughts of his contemporaries, Peg would go to his own typewriter and compose a sort of composite lead, featuring the wisest and wittiest writings of his fellows. Not that Peg ever needed any help, but the idea had merit.

Thursday evening, as a number of ace golf writers were hammering away at their typewriters, telling their readers about the victory of Ben Hogan in the North and South, this correspondent strolled down the line and read the "leads" which were being made ready for the telegraph wires.

Rep. Wheelchel Indicted Under Federal Charge

ATLANTA, March 22.—(P)—Representative B. Frank Wheelchel (D-GA.) was indicted by the United States grand jury today on eight counts charging sale of postal appointments.

Indicted with Wheelchel was H. Grady Jones, county commissioner of Pickens County. The principal indictment charges that Wheelchel and Jones entered into a conspiracy "to buy, sell, and barter appointive offices under the government of the United States in the ninth congressional district of Georgia."

Blizzard Rages in Upstate New York

SYRACUSE, March 22.—Winter clung grimly to its seat yesterday in upstate New York, while spring rounded out its third day on the calendar. Northern counties suffered a blizzard that deposited up to 8 inches of snow in some sections. High winds continued after skies cleared, piling up drifts. Temperatures ranged in the high twenties in Buffalo, where three inches of snow fell. The main arterial highway to the west was still closed late last night.

AGAINST THIRD TERM

SAN FRANCISCO, March 22.—(P)—Mrs. Anna Roosevelt Boettiger, daughter of President Roosevelt, said here today that "at the moment," she did not personally favor a third term for the President and thought her father needed a rest.

But, she said, "it always has been a woman's prerogative to change her mind."

HARNESS CLASSES TO BE OUTSTANDING HORSE SHOW FEATURE

Some of America's Greatest Trotters and Pacers Will Appear for Judging; Event is on Tuesday.

Spectators at the Pinehurst Horse Show on Tuesday will have a chance to see some of America's greatest harness horses from the Pinehurst Race Track stables, which this year are housing the largest number of trotters and pacers ever quartered in one winter training camp.

Harness racing enthusiasts who have attended the matinee races in previous seasons, are looking forward to seeing the harness horse classes which will present the first public appearance of the Race Track horses this season.

Owners and trainers of trotters and pacers who have entered their horses in the event are B. C. Mayo, Tarboro; H. M. Parshall, whose stable includes Gentleman Jim, one of the leading Hambletonian candidates; John F. Davis, Toledo, Ohio; Millbrook stables, Millbrook, N. Y., R. Horace Johnston, Charlotte, and Mrs. Lawrence B. Smith of Southern Pines.

The show will take place at the Race Track showgrounds. Boxes and parking spaces may be reserved by calling the office of James W. Tufts, the secretary, telephone 2601.

PINEHURST POLOISTS WILL PLAY RAMBLERS IN SUNDAY SKIRMISH

Three Selected Fort Bragg Officers Will be in the Lineup; Another Big Gallery Expected to Watch Fast Teams in Action.

A good polo game is scheduled for tomorrow afternoon on the home field. Five Pinehurst Polo Club players and three selected Fort Bragg players will join up in making up two evenly-matched teams in the high-goal event. A large gallery is expected.

The outside team will be called the Ramblers, the local team to play under the banner of Pinehurst.

Quite a number of spectators turned out for yesterday's game on the Pinehurst Field, with the Yellows defeating the Reds in the closely contested game. The score was 5-4.

MRS. PAGE TO DEFEND NORTH-SOUTH TITLE AGAINST GOLF STARS

Large Entry Already in for Classic, Including Dorothy Kirby, Jane Cothran, Jean Bauer and Mrs. Tom Rudel.

QUALIFY MONDAY

Women golfers are gathering in Pinehurst for the 38th annual North and South invitational tournament for women which will start Monday with an 18-hole qualifying round over the number one course.

Mrs. Estelle Lawson Page, present champion will defend her title against the usual field of amateur talent. Miss Dorothy Kirby of Atlanta, Miss Jane Cothran, Miss Jean Bauer and Mrs. Thomas Rudel will furnish the principal opposition.

An interesting feature will be the entry of two of America's younger experts, Miss Jeanne Cline of Bloomington, Ill., and Miss Agnes Williams, Newark, N. Y. There is a possibility that Miss Suggs, the Atlanta expert, will be among the starters. Each of these young ladies is sixteen years old.

The following entries had been received up to last night:

THRILLS PROMISED AT SOUTHERN PINES HUNTER TRIALS TODAY

Four Classes Arranged in Equine Attraction This Afternoon Back of The Paddock; Col. Wyche is Judge.

The hunter horse will come into his own this afternoon at the Southern Pines Hunter Trials over the beautiful, rolling hunting country back of the Paddock on Bethesda Road.

Many leading hunters now stabled in the Sandhills will take part in this third annual event at the Paddock course. The first class will be called at 2:00 o'clock, and owners desiring to show their horses must be on hand at that time.

This affair, a benefit for the Southern Pines library, promises an afternoon of thrills to horse-loving spectators who delight in the intrepid performance of the hunter class, an outstanding breed in the equine world.

Col. William Wyche of Fort Bragg will act as judge in the four classes on the afternoon's card, one for heavyweight and middleweight working hunters, one for lightweight working hunters, one for open hunters, and one for hunt teams of three horses.

MRS. BURT DIES

The death of Mrs. Arthur Hartwell Burt occurred Thursday at the family home in Cleveland, Ohio. Mrs. Burt was the daughter of the late Judge and Mrs. Duane H. Tilden of Cleveland. She was a graduate of Vassar College. Her husband and three young daughters survive. Mr. Burt is a nephew of Mrs. Francis T. Keating.
