Don Budge, professional champion of the world, John Nogrady of New York, Richard Skeen of California and Bruce Barnes, the blond Texan, all gained their semi-final round brackets yesterday afternoon in the Pinehurst Country Club's annual professional championship tennis tournament.

Skeen will meet Barnes at 2 o'clock today and at 3:30 Budge and Nogrady will start play.

The final will be played on Saturday. The semi-final brackets in the doubles were also filled out late in the day, with Don Budge and Barnes, Skeen and John Faunce, Frank Rericha and Nogrady and Lloyd Budge and John Hendrix as the winners.

The gallery that filled the stands to witness the singles matches was again attracted by Budge. The dynamic red-head defeated Ted Rericha, Pinehurst pro, at 6-1, 6-0, 6-3, and in doing so treated the spectators to a dazzling exhibition of play. Budge was keen and merciless yesterday, and while Rericha put up a notably fine fight, his was a hopeless battle from start to finish, for the world's greatest player unleashed the full power of his stroking, raking Rericha's court with unreturnable deep court drives and occasionally advancing into fore-

Hoey Will Support Hull For President

RALEIGH, April 18.—(AP)—Governor Clyde R. Hoey, who has kept a firm hand on the reins of the North Carolina Democratic party for the last 3 and 1-2 years, announced today he was supporting Cordell Hull for President, and expressed the hope that North Carolina votes in the Democratic convention would be cast for the secretary of state.

The governor said he had very good reason to believe that President Roosevelt would support Hull, and predicted Hull would be nominated.

PROFESSIONAL TENNIS TOURNAMENT CIRCUIT WILL BE ESTABLISHED

John McDougal, Treasurer of Pro Association, Says Means Have Been Provided For Tour Similar to That Conducted by Golfers; Icelly Aiding.

John McDougal, chairman of the tournament committee and treasurer of the Professional Lawn Tennis Association announced here yesterday that means had been provided for the purpose of establishing a circuit of professional tennis tournaments, and that the association would begin work on this promotion at once.

More than twenty professionals are gathered here for the third annual North and South professional event, and will move on to White Sulphur Springs, where an event has been held for a number of years. These are the only two tournaments on the program at this time, but McDougal expects to add others.

"Practically all of the star players," said McDougal, "are in the employ of the equipment companies, and officers of these concerns have promised support and to provide the stars in building up professional tennis tournaments in a similar manner as professional golf."

McDougal reports that a number of chambers of commerce are interested in having professional tennis tournaments. Some of these would be indoor during the winter months.

It is known that Donald Budge is playing in the Pinehurst tournament because of his connection with a sporting goods firm, the Wilson Sporting Goods Company. L. B. Icelly, president of this concern has done much in aiding the promotion of the pro golf tours, and is now lending similar assistance to the Professional Lawn Tennis Association, along with other manufacturers.

(Special to Outlook)
OIL CITY, Pa., April 18.—Oil City paid homage at the bier of its "first citizen" today when the mortal remains of Samuel Young Ramage, one of the city's builders and a pioneer in refining and crude oil production, arrived home this morning in the midst of a hard downpour of rain, and was taken in charge by sorrowing relatives.

A delegation of Knights Templar in uniform escorted the body from the railway station to the Second Presbyterian Church, where it lay in state from 11 a. m. to 3:30 p. m., many people from all walks of life paying a final tribute to one endeared to all who knew him for his sterling character and many benefactions.

Interment was in Grove Hill Cemetery, with the Knight Templars in charge of commitment.

PAN AMERICAN DAY IS CELEBRATED BY SCHOOL CLASSES

April 14 has been observed for fifty years as Pan American Day. On this day the three Americas—North, South, and Central America—shake hands with each other and show their friendship by raising flags, making speeches, singing songs and giving various types of programs.

The Pinehurst school took a part in this national celebration on Tuesday morning. Two classes, Miss Sherrill's fifth grade and Miss Lilly's seventh grade, combined their program and presented it before the two groups.

The seventh grade has just completed a study of two Americas, South and Central America. Each student selected one country from these Americas, and pretended that he represented that country in the Pan American meeting at Washington. Each one had drawn his country's flag and map. These were demonstrated during the talk that each made about his country.

The foreign leader in charge of the Pan American was Dorothy Wescott. She called on the representatives to bring greetings from their respective countries.

The fifth grade has completed a study of United States and Canada. Each child in the class chose a state in the union and Nazis, Still Holding Oslo and Narvik, Claim Britain Already Shown it Cannot Establish Naval Bases; Assert Cruiser Sunk.

EXPECT OSLO BATTLE

STOCKHOLM—(Friday)—(AP)—Norwegian sources reported early today that Norway's civil and military authorities north of Trondheim have declared their confidence in their ability to hold their present positions, with German troops concentrating at the key port in expectation of a major battle.

The Norwegian troops, the legation here said, have established a connection with forces of the Allies in the area both by sea and by air. An oral summary of the situation by the legation said the Germans had attempted to take Nansos, a port 100 miles north of Trondheim, by planes, but were believed to have been forced back by Allied troops.

In the south, about Oslo, the Germans still hold Narvik, and are attempting to push northward toward the junction of the Swedish and Finnish borders. They also control the railway to the border. They are expanding their gains in the Oslo district, where three Norwegian forts are putting up stout resistance.

The Norwegian legation made public a proclamation by the Norwegian government from "somewhere in Norway" that the Nazi government in Oslo was not legal, and was not expressing the will of the Norwegian people.

NAVY WILL MATCH HUGE BATTLESHIPS BUILT BY JAPAN

WASHINGTON, April 18.—(AP)—Convinced that Japan is building at least 43,000 ton battleships, Admiral Harold E. Stark said today that the navy contemplated future construction of superdreadnaughts of 50,000 to 52,000 tons.

The chief of naval operations told the Senate naval affairs committee that he believed Japan was building eight of the large type vessels but doubted reports that 12 were now under construction by the island empire.

Earlier in a statement the navy renewed its advocacy of a major air and submarine base at Guam, tiny American island outpost 1,500 miles from Tokyo.
