NAZI BOMB KILLS U. S. MILITARY ATTACHE, HULL STUDIES ACTION

Capt. Robert M. Losey Hit by Splinter While Taking Shelter From Bombardment in Norway Mountain Tunnel.

BRITAIN FIGHTS RAID

WASHINGTON, April 21.—(AP)—Secretary of State Hull, expressing sorrow over dispatches reporting that Captain Robert M. Losey, assistant American military attache, had been killed by a German bomb in Norway, considered tonight whether to take strong diplomatic action toward Germany.

Hull said he was seeking all information about the circumstances of Losey's death, and would not make a decision as to diplomatic action, if any, until the information had been assembled. Captain Losey had gone from Sweden to Norway to assist Americans out of the latter country. A newspaper at Goteborg, Sweden, describing his death said he was standing in a mountain tunnel at Dombas during an aerial bombardment yesterday when a splinter from a bomb struck him in the heart.

FIGHT MINE LAYERS

LONDON—(Tuesday)—Great Britain, battering by land and air at German forces in Scandinavia, fought off a swarm of mine laying German planes from her own shores late last night while reporting 24 German "warship casualties," exclusive of submarines since the war began last September.

An air ministry communique early today said the German planes were attacked by anti-aircraft batteries and fighting planes and naval units as they tried to lay aerial mines in the Thames and Humber River estuaries. No bombs were dropped. At about the same time, anti-aircraft batteries in the Paris region barked for 15 hours at enemy planes.

CADDIES TO COMPETE IN ANNUAL GOLF TILT AT PINEHURST SUNDAY

The second annual caddie tournament for the colored boys and men who tote bags at the Pinehurst Country Club will be held on Sunday, April 28th, over the number one course. It will be an 18-hole medal play event. Subscriptions are invited, and all proceeds will go toward prize money.

The first event, held last season, proved an unqualified success.

That Pinehurst caddies are capable golfers was demonstrated in Greensboro recently when they finished in the first four places in an 18-hole event for colored golfers held at the Dingle High School course. Arthur Douglas scored 66-73-139; Taft Richardson 69-71-140; Jimmy Steed 68-74-142; R. Richardson and Hardrock Robinson also had 142.

THE WEATHER

Partly cloudy and warmer Tuesday. Wednesday, cloudy, showers in west central portion.

A Coffeyville youth smiled pleasantly as Steele snapped the shutter.

PINEHURST SCOREBOARD

by ROBERT E. HARLOW

An interesting young couple are Pinehurst visitors. They are Mr. and Mrs. Wasson Wilson of Hammond, Indiana. Mr. Wilson is a son of Jesse E. Wilson, member of Theodore Roosevelt's cabinet. Mr. Wilson is an attorney who expects to go into politics in Indiana.

He created quite a lot of comment in legal conclaves recently when he expressed the thought that in selecting juries he preferred golfers. His reason for this was that golf was a game which taught honesty and sportsmanship, and he felt if he could obtain a jury of golf players it would be composed of honest citizens who would render a verdict based on the merits of the case.

Mr. Wilson is himself a fine amateur golfer. He is a member of the Midlothian Country Club, Chicago and the Woodmar C. C. of Hammond. Entertaining golf stories are told by Mrs. Betty Wilson, who comes from one of the most enthusiastic golfing families of Indiana. Her home town is Richmond, and her uncle, Wilbur Hibberd, has played golf since 1899.

Mr. Hibberd really is a golfer. In 1901 he was medalist in the first amateur championship held in Indiana. In 1905 he won the championship of the Forest Hills Club, Richmond. He continued to win his club title at regular intervals until 1937, when he defeated his son. Thirty-two years is a long period to put between winning a club championship.

When Mr. Hibberd's first child was born he was putting on the first green; when his first daughter was born he was putting on the tenth green, and when his third offspring was welcomed, Mr. Hibberd was still playing golf. This time he was putting on the 17th green. In each instance he holed in two putts. Concentration was one of Mr. Hibberd's greatest golfing qualities.

Mrs. Wilson, who is a kin of President William McKinley, is one of the low handicap lady golfers of the Chicago district. She played Pinehurst number three yesterday in 57-44-101, but hopes to do better today.

Mr. and Mrs. P. S. P. Randolph Jr. are back in Pinehurst after a winter in Cuba. Mr. Randolph reports that he has retired from horse racing. His final experience in that business was most unpleasant. Having cut his stable to one horse he turned everything over to his number one groom. The horse was registered in this man's name and ran under his ownership.

Mr. Randolph gave up going to the track. He was getting his golf game in shape for his return to Pinehurst. One day his last horse won a claiming race and someone put the cash on the line and went away with the steed. Mr. Randolph's man went away with the claiming price. So Mr. Randolph gave up racing. Yesterday he did very well at golf.

COMPANY MANNERS

LINCOLN, Neb.—F. S. Blomkamp wonders whether some fellow was made desperate by 12 unexpected guests at a dinner party, or whether he was just considerate.

A thief broke into his car, took just 12 salad forks—and left two.

PATHE SPORTSCOPE STAFF TAKES SHOTS FOR PINEHURST FILM

Horton Smith in Leading Role as Local Golfers Also Perform While Camera Men Make Motion Picture.

No golf shot is impossible. This was proven by members of the Pathe Sportscope who are in Pinehurst making a motion picture newsreel on golf, with Horton Smith in the leading role. Yesterday morning, Clarence Ellis, soundman of Pathe, and Horton, were playing the 18th hole of No. 2. Ellis missed a shot and his ball landed in the upstairs men's locker room which faces the 18th green.

All this while the camera was grinding. Then Horton and Ellis, followed by their caddies, walk right through the lower locker room and upstairs, to find the ball, which went through a window, lying in the middle of the floor. Horton decided to prove to dub Ellis that the first sentence of this story is true. He opens the window, whips out a club and puts the ball up within two feet of the pin on the 18th. Seven "takes" were required for this, and stage settings, close-ups, lighting inside the locker room, the proper acting on the part of the characters in this bit of the production took five hours of hard work.

Later in the afternoon, the "set" was changed—to the first tee of No. 1 course. Here Joe Walsh, sports editor of Pathe Sportsscopes and Lou Koch of the Outlook staff, are teeing off for a round of golf. Walsh hits one and Lou steps up for (Continued on page three)

GALE BRINGS SNOW, WREAKS DAMAGE TO NEW ENGLAND STATES

Coast Strewn With Wreckage of Wharves and Buildings; Shore Cottages Suffer Severely.

ACCIDENTS NUMEROUS

BOSTON, April 22.—(AP)—A howling northeast gale, accompanied by giant tides, raging seas and a mixture of rain, snow and sleet, left many sections of the New England coast strewn with wreckage tonight, while several northeastern Maine communities repaired communications after being isolated.

Damage estimates throughout New England ran to hundreds of thousands of dollars. Indications were that the weekend storm had blown itself out. The coastguard at Quoddy, Maine station, reported that the wind, which once hit a 53 miles velocity, had dropped to 30 miles an hour and was continuing to abate. There, the old navy wharf and several boats, wharves and buildings used in the sardine fishery were demolished.

The patrol boat Travis was sent to Eastport, near the Canadian border, to assist in eradicating damage.

Shore cottages along the Massachusetts, New Hampshire, and Maine seaboard suffered severely as pounding seas undermined foundations.

Highway accidents were numerous, owing to glazed or snow covered pavements.

In some inland sections the spring storm deposited a foot of snow. At Boston, the noon tide was more than two feet higher than the level set by the almanac, invading cellars near the waterfront and covering several piers.

A very large number of floral tributes were received, and very many friends of Mr. Innes were present at the burial services.
