

Ladies Night Observed By Ruritan Club

CONWAY — Monday night, November 15, the Conway Ruritan Club met in the Conway Elementary School cafeteria for a banquet honoring their wives and the faculty of the elementary school. President George Clark presided. Lit Woodard led the group in singing "America."

The invocation was given by Russell Johnson, Jr., and the welcome by Stirling Hamilton. Mrs. Zelma Liverman responded by asking the faculty to gather at the piano and join in singing a response to the tune of "Hello, Dolly."

The dinner was served by the Conway Woman's Club. Russell Johnson, Jr., introduced Mrs. M. E. Whitehead, principal, who in turn introduced the faculty.

Mr. Johnson, program chairman, presented a choral group from the seventh and eighth grades who sang three numbers directed by Mrs. Zelma Liverman and accompanied by Mrs. Mary Agnes Swanson. Taylor Ward played three numbers on his accordion.

Time To Think About Storing All Of Those Light Clothes

RALEIGH — And where have you put your summer clothes? Have you really packed them away so they will be protected through the long winter months? It will take only a few hours to provide winter-long life insurance for summer clothes and accessories. If you pack out-of-season washables clean and store them properly, you will most likely avoid moths, mildew, abrasion from soil, and the unnecessary wear that deep creasing causes in fabrics.

Miss Mary Em Lee, Extension clothing specialist at N. C. State University, says the first rule for storing clothing is to store it clean. "You want to be sure the clothing is clean and dry but you can skip the ironing," Miss Lee adds. "Anything which is folded will need ironing in the spring anyway. Skip the starches it attracts silverfish. To prevent crushing and creasing, avoid overcrowding containers."

Miss Lee says this is a good time to remove special stains or that may become permanently set during storage. It is a good time to replace missing buttons, mend tears, and take out hems which will have to be altered in the spring.

The more expensive garments, like men's summer suits or coats or women's "best" dresses, will keep in best shape if carefully placed on padded hangers in clothes bags to keep off dust. You should put transparent storage bags or boxes where strong light will not cause colored fabrics to fade. Unless it is easy to see the contents, label the container. This will save time and trouble later.

Lamb Can Add Variety To Family Meals

RALEIGH — Lamb, while not commonly used by many families, can add variety to the family menu. Further, lamb supplies are good and prices are about the same as they were last year, according to John Christian, professor in food science at N. C. State University.

High quality lamb has a smooth covering of clear, white, brittle fat over most of the exterior. The lean is pinkish red in color, in yearling lamb and mutton it is a deeper red. The texture of the lean is fine grained and velvety in appearance.

Not only does lamb add variety to meals but it is also a good source of protein and provides both iron and vitamins.

Workshop Is Planned At Williamsburg

WILLIAMSBURG, Va. — A new event three weeks before Christmas here combines a seminar on holiday decorations with a "weekend away" designed to banish the early December doldrums.

Leisure — season rates will be a feature of Colonial Williamsburg's Holiday Decorations Weekend on December 3-5, the first of a series of 14 special winter events running through mid-March.

Edna Pennell, official flower arranger for Williamsburg's historic exhibition buildings, will offer new ideas and practical suggestions on 18th century style arrangements during a workshop and demonstration Saturday morning, December 4.

Complementing Miss Pennell's lecture will be visits to Carter's Grove Plantation by candlelight Friday evening and to five private homes on Saturday. All will be festooned with Yuletide finery, and many of the Carter's Grove decorations will be analyzed step-by-step by Miss Pennell the next day.

The Greensprings Garden Club of Williamsburg will offer five homes — two of them in the Historic Area — to show both traditional and modern arrangements in actual settings.

Acquiring decoration know-how will be only one aspect of the weekend, however. There will be food and merriment at the Groaning Board, a sixteen-course colonial banquet featuring entertainment of the 18th century variety. From a table "groaning" from the weight of so many dishes, visitors may sample such old-time specialties as Virginia game pie, roast ribs of beef, pumpkin fritters, sponobread, and plum pudding with brandied sauce at the Saturday night feast.

Do's and Don'ts

What's the proper way to roast meat? There are two important do's: use rack for the meat and let it cook at constant low temperature. When heat penetrates the meat slowly, this usually gives it more palatability.

There are three important don'ts: do not add water; do not cover, and do not baste.

Spices for Pot-Roast

Families who like a light spicy taste in their foods will enjoy spiced pot-roast. Simple to use is the combination of two bay leaves and 5 whole cloves. A small amount of vinegar (1 to 2 tablespoons) may be added with hot water (¾ to 1 cup) as the braising liquid. Sliced onions also contribute a harmonious flavor companion.

IT DOESN'T TAKE A GREEN THUMB or artistic talent to dress up your kitchen with a touch of fall. The Roanoke-Chowan area abounds in lawns that are a gardener's delight, but even these are not essential. The 12 small chrysanthemums and red leaves above are the products of an almost barren lawn, but when arranged in a sugar dish with matching saucer you could never guess the origin.
