"LOOKING BACKWARD."

Just a little way-over a scope of a few years in the political history our State, and what a multicolored panorama is before us. A dissatisfied people seldom consider a remedy for their ills-they flock to the first bugle note that promises revolution. When crops and prices were not adjustable to agricultural prosperity and money was hard to get, the laboring classes were ready to complain. Led by Butler and his populist i leas they rushed to the condem nation of every thing and every man connected with the State government. They followed his I tuis fatuus and a populist Legislature made "Mary Ann" the successor of Vance and Ransom, and the State management made its record, and what a record! It did not take long for that bubble to burst, and when it exploded Butler went out of the ring and and Pritchard went up the spout.

Tired of protection, for the already too well protected trusts, our people are again at themselves. The record of Democracy in this election registers the homecoming of the restless ones. It is a vindication of the policies of that party which guards the State, whose sons and daughters are its wards. It stamps approval on the rapid strides of the Governor and the last legislature in developing the State and its resources. It condemns a scheme that pensions deserters and traitors. It takes the public school ed the full Republican ticker and rious. teacher by the hand and smiles all the five Republican candidates | Tennessee-Elected governor as well as the God of love, that we have into the faces of the children un- for Congress.
