ISSUE OF WAR DRAMA IS STILL IN BALANCE

Great Struggle In the Orient at Its Height.

ARMIES GREATLY EXHAUSTED.

Russian Legions Terribly Battered and More or Less Demoralized, But the Fight Goes Stubbornly on Notwith-

St. Petersburg, Oct. 18 .- 2:08 p. m. -The issue of the bloody drama below Mukden is still in the balance. There is no attempt to minimize the severe character of the reverse suffered by General Kuropatkin last week, but as yet there has been nothing absolutely decisive. There certainly is no rout and no Sedan and the war office has not yet given up all hope that Kuropatkin may be able again to resume a genuine offensive. It is asserted here that the tone of Tokio assumed in referring to wha they seem to look upon as the closing act of the tragedy of General Kuroratkin's army, is certainly premature Both armies are greatly ex Fatal Encounter Between a Merchant hausted and the final issue probably will depend on which can regather it-the south bank of the Shakhe river. There was no fighting on the Russian left yesterday and the Japanese operations on the extreme right evidently intended to cut the railroad below the Hun river have failed, the Japanese being unable to get beyond Sincrinpu, 2 miles west of the Shakhe railroad station. Field Marshal Oy ama seems to be massing troops against the Russlan center and the war office expects that he will make a desperate effort tonight or tomor row to retake the two vital positions. The general staff believes that the battle of Lone Tree Hill for valor and slaughter will occupy a place by itself in military annals. Kuropatkin, under whose eye the assault was made. re-christened it Poutiloff hill, in honor of the man who led the attack at t head of the Second brigade on the East Siberian rifle division, and who was subsequently decorated on field with the St. George's cross. The hill is a precipitous rocky height, and although the Japanese had occupied it only a short time, they had thrown up a very strong defense. The river, running at its foot, increased the difficulty of the task, but is was scaled and carried successfully against the unprecedented opposition of a Japanese division of 14,000 med with many guns. The Russian losses were terrible. The fighting on the cold steel. The Russian officers crest of the hill was altogether with swords aloft leading the scaling column, were literally lifted in the air by the Japanese bayonets and the Japanese then bayoneted the first of the Russian soldiers who piled in the trenches. The dead in the trenches were bayoneted, their weapons bearing marks of dreadful combat.

While the war office holds out hope that Kuropatkin may resume the general offensive, it is privately admitted that the chances are against him unless there is some fortunate development, it being explained that his assumption of the aggressive at Shakhe and along the railroad was vital as the withdrawal of his left must be made under the shelter of his right.

Some of the newspapers, notably the Russ, boldly hail the Russian success at Lone Tree Hill as complete evidence that Kuropatkin will again make a genuine advance along the whole line, printing the announcement in big head lines: "The Russians Resume the Ad "Kuropatkin Has Crossed the Shak-

CONTRABAND OF WAR.

Anglo-Russian Negotiations Making

Little Progress. London, Oct. 18.—The Angio-Russian negotiations on the subject of contraband of war are making little progress judging from the correspondence of the foreign office with a steamship company trading with the Far East. The latter before accepting consignments of locomotives, fish plates, etc., to Japanese railway companies and raw cotton for private concerns in Japan asked the foreign office if this class of cargo could safely be accept-Foreign Secretary Lansdowne made two replies on Oct. 10 and Oct. He said that the negotiations with Russia, which were still proceeding, had only resulted thus far in the admission of the principle that rice and provisions were considered contraband, and, therefore, he could not undertake to say that vessels carwhich the diplomats and newspapers rying a cargo of the nature indicat.
