Lick Branch.

Misses Eliza and Berta Haywood are visiting at Roberdel.

There was a candy pulling at L. W. McNeill's last Friday night.

Mrs. Sallie Blue is visiting at Rockingham.

Mrs. Charlie Terry and John Webb were in this community, making up syrup this week. Hope they will come next year, and we know John would be glad to.

The Headlight is all right and we know that it has done more to enlighten the children than any paper that has ever been published in Rockingham, and we trust that it may continue in the good work. I myself, would take the Headlight for the benefit of the children's column, if for no other reason. Now, we hope the Anglo-Saxon will be quiet and not kick until it is spurred. We need the space that the Headlight is using for answers, for the children. We hope we will never see another cross word. The good Book tells us to love our neighbor as ourselves, and if the Saxon will do that we will have less trouble.
Rambler.

Little's Mills.

Julian Little, of Charlotte, is visiting his father, J. P. Little, who is quite sick.

Mrs. J. P. Little and children are visiting relatives in High Point.

Little Lucy Ingram, who has been very sick with fever, we are glad to say is improving.

We are glad to say that Robert Bowles and family are up again.

Ben Ledbetter and nephew, J. S. Ledbetter, of Rockingham, have been visiting Miss Mary Ledbetter.

Mrs. Emma Poole and children visited her brothers in Mt. Gilead, this week, and on her return spent the night at T. M. Ledbetter's.

We had a musical entertainment at Exray last Thursday night. I think all who were present enjoyed it much.

Rev. Mr. McLanolin will hold a three days meeting commencing on Friday before the first Sunday in October, at Poe Dees church, Presbyterian. We hope all will come out and will take much interest in it.

Ed Poole, of Capel's Mills, visited his daughter, Mrs. Ingram, last Sunday.

Miss Emma Tyson visited at Rockingham last week, and we hear that one of our boys has the measles about it. He has our sympathy.

The farmers are busy gathering their crops and making syrup.
J. L. E.

Rev. F. E. Lee filled his appointment at the Presbyterian church last Sunday.

Ledbetter's.

Some of Roberdel's best men have been over and rendered good service in our meeting. Thank-you gentlemen—we appreciate your presence.

There was singing at J. A. Sullivan's Sunday evening, in which both old and young participated. It was a pleasant and enjoyable occasion.

We state with great pleasure that our Sunday school yesterday, outnumbered any attendance we have had in six months. Through the medium of the church we ought to have a good and well attended Sunday school. The cordial hand of welcome is extended to all who are within reach.

The freshest last Thursday, which fell in this community, caused an overflow in the streams and the wood work which was recently completed on the factory dam was literally swept off, leaving only the old brick structure. We very much regret it. By the aid of the engine the mill is making time and will continue to run if possible until arrangements can be made to replace the work.

It is very evident to us that great interest is being manifested in the meeting which has been in progress here for a week and it is still going on. In fact it is a glorious revival in every sense of the term. Church members have been revived and strengthened, while sinners have yielded to the power and influence of the gospel and are making professions daily.

Our arrangements for furnishing funerals are complete in every line. Every department of the business is strictly up-to-date in every respect. We have a cooling board, church truck and everything needed. Our line of coffins and caskets embraces every size and quality, and will be sold at short margins.

With every casket sold, the hearse will be furnished without extra charge. When desired to do so, we will take charge of the corpse at death and complete all arrangements for the interment. Call on W. T. Fulford, salesman, at any hour of day or night. At night he can be found at the residence of Rev. W. J. Fulford, on Randolph street.

Prompt and faithful service at the lowest living rates, is our motto. Greatly appreciating our large patronage in the past, we will endeavor to merit greater favors.
Respectfully,
W. J. FULFORD,
Manager.
