MUD SLINGING.

It is certainly gratifying to our order-loving people to believe that there will be no mud slinging in this campaign. We cannot afford to allow it, and he who begins it, will be the greatest sufferer thereby. Let every candidate be considered a gentleman and treated as such, and let him treat his opponent in the same manner. Another favorable indication in the campaign is that there will no bull-dozing or intimidation at the polls. Every man will vote as he desires to do without any fear of losing his job. If there ever was a time when employers had a right to expect employes to vote as they did, and even to require them to do so, that time has gone by, and now we are all free indeed, and will not submit to being dominated, or even dictated to by anybody. A man may sell his labor and his time, but he does not sell his religion or his politics. The employe may not see fit to vote with his employer, and yet he may be just as good a man, and both being in the same party, and voting for different men of the same party, where is the harm of each one voting to suit himself. It has been charged that when the negro should be eliminated from politics the poor white man would be brought into political slavery. This cannot be, and the great democratic party must not be charged with so heinous a crime. The very poorest white man is as much a sovereign, as the wealthiest man. We are all free, and no person can or shall influence our vote by purchase, or intimidation. Public sentiment demands a fair and free election, and an honest count, and any deviation from this order of things, will bring disgrace to the party in power, and untold trouble to any who engage in a contrary policy.

To Use a Good Tonic With Great Benefit.

WHY HESITATE

When needing medicines? I have anticipated your necessity and have them prepared in strict accordance with the latest written U. S. Pharmacopoeia. You should remember the familiar saying,

The Best is None Too Good in Time of Need.

A great many people do appreciate the standard of excellence, why not more? There are numbers of articles of less importance than medicines, I have not overlooked tho' haven't space to enumerate here.

Gratefully yours.

Thos B. Hunter,
Pharmacist and Chemist.
