Asks for Year's Pay.

One Year Extra Pay Plan.

National Headquarters.

The first and original plan started to benefit the men of the service. Now several other plans have been started that seem to be only for the purpose of keeping the men from getting the full 12 month's extra pay. The plan was started soon after the armistice was signed. If Congress will let the public vote on the plan, the taxpayers and men of the service will both be satisfied.

The plan is to put a bill through Congress whereby every man in the service, regulars, reserves, etc., shall receive 12 month's extra pay, whether they went abroad or not. Those staying in the service will receive it as well as those being discharged.

Our motto: "Justice to those who stood by the flag."

The men of the service have worked in the various camps for one dollar per day, while the civilians at their side received as much as 10 and 15 dollars per day, the civilian going home at night and the service man standing by night and day.

Dear Sir: Do you know that the majority of the men that joined the service this year at Norfolk gave up positions paying them around $150 per month and some as much as $300 per month? Compare that with $30 per month.

This is a moral issue. The men of the service worked or fought night and day for whatever the government chose to pay them; they did not strike, neither did they get 10 per cent plus. They only obeyed orders. The only record we have of a whole company disobeying orders was that one of our companies were charging the Huns and the officer gave orders to halt, but they captured several German dugouts before obeying him.

At a public mass meeting held in the Armory hall the plan was discussed and voted on. Every one present voted to request Congress to enact a law in accordance with the plan.

Some people oppose the plan because will cost the government three billion dollars, saying that we are not able to stand it. Such statements are an insult to the flag, for our experts tell us that it would have cost us over 25 billion dollars per year to have carried the war on several years longer and they further state that we could have financed it for a number of years under our same liberty bond plan. Now, taxes, don't faint, for our generation could pay the three billion off by an averaged increased tax of just one dollar per year for each person of the United States. Our great country is not bankrupt; no far from it. A vast amount of the money we have borrowed has been invested in permanent improvements and bonds of our allies and should we be disposed to do so we can collect the balance from Germany. Our government is better off financially than any government or institution in the world today.

Others oppose it, saying that it would put too much money in the hands of the irresponsible. Well, when you hear a man talking like that he either does not know what class of men are in the service or he is one of those kind of men that asked every one of his friends to sign his or his son's exemption card while your boy or brother was going to the front to defend humanity.

There is no charity in this plan. It will only give the men what they have earned thrice and a very small portion of what they deserve. How much would we have had if it had not been for the men of the service?

Would it be giving our service men a fair deal to only give them a one month bonus when their commercial competitors have saved a few thousand dollars for a rainy day, while the gates of our national treasury were swung wide open for necessity?

Letter From McFayden.

Winnigen, Germany
Jan. 4, 1919.

Dear Uncle:-

Well, I am in Germany now, and have been here for about a month. Have traveled lots since I left home. Came through France, Luxemburg and then to Coblenz, Germany. Am at Winnigen now; it is a small town on the Mosel river, with mountains on both sides. Weather is quite different from ours; rains here every day. Think there is a lot of game over here, but never have a chance to try my hand. Don't know when we will come home. Hope I can get in time to make a crop. I understand there is a lot of flu back in the U. S. Hope you have been spared. Will close, hoping to be back with you soon.
