

EXHIBITS:

Exhibits of every nature, from live stock and farm products, down through needle work and flowers, are desired. These must be in place at the Agricultural building on the Fair Grounds by 10 o'clock of Wednesday, Nov. 5th. Call or write to A. G. Corpening, Secretary, in the Hotel building, for a premium book, or for any information regarding the Fair and exhibits. But above all we urge the people of Richmond county to cooperate by entering exhibits and thereby help in making this Sixth Fair the BEST Fair of all.

FRUSTRATION.
"This fellow is honest, anyhow. In getting up a sort of office questionnaire, I asked each man to state what work he did. Gave him a blank form."
"Well?"
"He left it blank."

A High Ideal.
"Is your husband a man of high ideals?"
"Very. He hopes some day to earn a salary that will meet the cost of living."

Familiarities.
"Is it proper to speak to people to whom you have not been introduced?"
"What are you going to do about it if the telephone exchange insists on giving you the wrong number?"

One Way to Do It.
"I don't see how you can afford to run an automobile."
"Easy enough. We've quit eating meat."

Son Was Safe.
"What you don't know won't hurt you."
"Then that oldest boy of mine is immune from all harm."

Dean of Whitewashers.
"You must be pretty old, mah-jah?"
"Tol'ably, sub. Ah reckon Ah's de dean of de whitewashers heah'bouts."
