

(The typesetter had my article in last week's paper headed, "Attention, Horticultural Club Boys." It was written by m., "Attention, Agricultural Club Boys." Horticulture is a branch of plant production, dealing more particularly with the science and art of growing fruits, vegetables, and flowers or ornamental plants. What I was writing about was an Agricultural subject, and one not to be confused with Horticulture. W. H. BARTON.)

GRAZING CROPS FOR HOGS.

The following grazing crops will give good results in the sand hill section, for hog raising:

Two Acres of Permanent Pasture—Burmuda Preferred. First Year Crops.

Plot (1)—Corn and Velvet Beans with Peanuts in middles.

Plot (2)—Corn and Velvet Beans with Peanuts in middles.

Plot (3)—Oats and Rape followed by Corn and Soy Beans with Peanuts in Middles. (Oats, Rye and Rape in fall).

Plot (4)—Oats and Rape followed by Corn and Soy Beans with Peanuts in middles. (Oats, Rye and Rape in fall).

Plot (5)—Early Peas followed by Rye, Rape and Vetch in Aug.

Second Year Crops.

Rotate plots 1 and 2 with plots 3 and 4 and repeat crops on 5.

This acreage, if well fertilized, will support one sow and two litters of six pigs each, per year, and will furnish grazing practically through the year. The corn in the velvet bean areas (1 and 2) should be gathered to supplement green grazing while hogs are on such plots alone.

Hogs on green grazing (including burmuda) should be fed two per cent of their gross weight in corn daily.

This rotation will not produce cheap meat only, but will enrich the plots within a few years sufficiently to require only acid phosphate and potash as fertilizers.

There is no money in purebred hogs or any other kind if we put them in dry lots or pens and depend on producing, gathering and feeding them dry feeds alone. "Let the hogs do the work."

The above area, (5 acres of grazing crops and 2 acres of permanent pasture) should be increased to double for two sows and their litters, or relatively for any number of sows.

Green grazing is a powerful aid to hog production, but do not think for one moment that you can succeed on green grazing alone. If you have tried it, you don't need this caution.

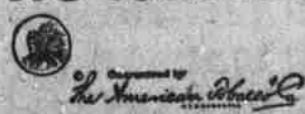

I shall be glad to answer any enquiries or to aid any one along this line.

Order your velvet beans. There will be a great demand for them about planting time.

Let the Grafonola Make You Friends

A Columbia Grafonola will introduce you to many pleasant people. Just slip him a couple of Columbia dance records and note the ladies' looks of interest. Give him a Grand Opera aria to reproduce and watch that rich old gentleman prick up his ears. Let him have a well-known hymn and some dear old lady will thank you. Every musical gem on a Columbia Record played on the Columbia Grafonola will make you many a friend. You'll find that you never need to be lonely with a Columbia Grafonola.

Many Talented Players Appear in Cecil B. De Mille's "Forbidden Fruit"

Agnes Ayres in Cecil B. DeMille's Production, "Forbidden Fruit" A Paramount Picture

Three new faces will greet film fans when they see Cecil B. De Mille's paramount picture "Forbidden Fruit" which will be shown at the Star Theatre

March 14th and 15th

All have appeared on the screen before but this production marks their appearance under the Cecil B. De Mille banner. The trio of Agnes Ayres, Forrest Stanley and Clarence Burton, who play the three characters of the central triangle of Jeanie MacPherson's fascinating picture story.

Agnes Ayres, known as one of the most beautiful women of the screen, Forrest Stanley, who plays the masculine lead is admittedly one of the most talented of the younger leading men.

The supporting company includes Theodore Kosloff, Kathlyn Williams, Theodore Roberts, Shanton Day, Julia Faye and Bertram Johns.
