Indigestion Many persons, otherwise vigorous and healthy, are bothered occasionally with indigestion. The effects of a disordered stomach on the system are dangerous, and prompt treatment of indigestion is important. "The only medicine I have needed has been something to aid digestion and clean the liver," writes Mr. Fred Ashby, a McKinney, Texas, farmer. "My medicine is Theford's BLACK-DRAUGHT for indigestion and stomach trouble of any kind. I have never found anything that touches the spot, like Black-Draught. I take it in broken doses after meals. For a long time I tried pills, which griped and didn't give the good results. Black-Draught liver medicine is easy to take, easy to keep, inexpensive." Obituary—John Diggs (Contributed) We regret to announce that Saturday May 20th, 1922 the grim reaper, Death, visited Cordova, and claimed brother John Diggs and bore his spirit to its final resting place in the flower field of the better country. Brother Diggs was born in Anson county, N. C., about Nov. 7th, 1851. He was married in Jan. 1871 to Miss Loretta Neal, of Anson county, and she served him until his death. He leaves a wife and 5 children, fourteen grandchildren and many friends to mourn his departure.

His remains were laid to rest in Zion Cemetery Sunday afternoon. A large congregation attended the funeral service, which was conducted by the Rev. Clark of the M. E. church, of which Brother Diggs has been a member for the last twenty-two years. I have seen a great deal of the life of Brother Diggs, and I feel safe in saying that he was true and devoted to every good work that lay before him, and the only foundation on which I have to base my statements is the life that he lived while here on earth. He has gone from our presence and we will no more hear his voice in the church, but he has left an influence behind that will roll forward through the ages and grow stronger and brighter.

We should not think of him, other than that he has finished his course here in this troublesome world, and has gone to be with his Lord.—Earth to earth, ashes to ashes, dust to dust, is only spoken over the body, when consigned to the house appointed for all living.

He will return to his loved ones no more, but they can go to him; share his pleasures, emulate his sympathies, and compete with him in the path of endless development.

We should not be grieved nor sad because brother Diggs has gone to his long, long resting place where he is free from sorrow, from pain and everything that makes sad and brings tears. But the thing for us to do is to set our affections on things above, and look to Jesus who will guide us to the beautiful home of the blest.

And now, may God in his goodness and mercy be with the family and loved ones in this sad bereavement. May Heaven's richest blessings abide with them and may the life that brother Diggs lived and the influence he has left behind, be a help and guide to them in leading them to the better land.

Now I am sure if we live the life as Christ has laid before us, we will have nothing to fear. Then when the last scene of all comes, and death takes us in its embrace, and our body is laid away in the cold ground, our spirit will glide to a never-ending rest, to ever be with the Lord.

"The stream is calmest when it nears the tide, And flowers are sweetest at eventide, And birds most musical at close of day, And saints divinest when they pass away."

By a friend, Sandy D. Hyatt To Brother John W. Diggs. Apply for Pardon This is to give due notice that I am applying to Gov. Morrison for a pardon for my husband, David Reynolds, who has now served 7 months of a 2 years sentence on the roads. He was found at a still, and convicted of blockading. We have three very small children, and are in need of his support and help at home. All who oppose this pardon will please file their protest with the Governor. This June 1, 1922. Mrs. David Reynolds.
