Midway Pleases.
The following comment on the Lew DuFour shows (that will make up the Midway for the Richmond County Fair here next week) is clipped from the Gastonia Daily Gazette of October 11th, and will give Post-Dispatch readers some idea as to the Midway for our Fair:

"When the gates of the eighth annual Gaston County Fair were thrown open at 6 p. m. last night Lew DuFour, the youthful owner and manager of the shows bearing his name, gave the word to his corps of electricians and the most dazzling midway ever witnessed at the local fairground was displayed to the remarkable large crowds of fair visitors for an opening night.

"The officials of the Gaston County Fair today expressed themselves as more than pleased with the magnitude and general excellent appearance of the DuFour shows. A splendid midway of bright, clean and worthy attractions, nearly all of which are new to Gaston County Fair visitors, was the expression of one fair official today.

"The general clean appearance and excellent conduct of the hundreds of DuFour employees surely reflects upon the managerial ability of the show's owner and management.

"The 1922 edition of the DuFour Shows which were 'Made in Dixie,' offers to Fair visitors this season every conceivable riding device, all of the old ones and every new device that the amusement market has afforded to this date.

"An official of the DuFour Shows stated today that every member of the organization has put forth a special effort to please Gaston County Fair visitors on this initial visit to Gastonia so as to cement the friendship of a real amusement organization and a real community.

"It is fair to assume that under present conditions the Lew DuFour Shows will make and keep a host of friends among patrons of the Gaston County Fair."

MANGUM ITEMS.

Misses Kate Johnson and Leah Harris spent Saturday in Mt. Gilead.

A social event of very much interest was the meeting of the Ladies' Missionary society at the home of Mrs. Claudine Dockery Thursday, October 12th. Among those present aside from the regular members were Rev. and Mrs. Lacy L. Little, returned missionaries from China, and a bunch of young people representing the Epworth League. The program, which was a splendid one, was followed by some beneficial and very appropriate remarks by Mr. Little.

Cake, cream, sandwiches and other dainties were served at the end of the program.

BY FAR THE BEST
Parents, Teachers et al interested in the happiness and education of children, should see "Compton's Pictorial Encyclopedia (just off the press). This work entertains, charms and educates the child and benefits every member of the family. This is by far the best reference work for school children. It is more USABLE, more entertaining and in all respects superior to the "Book of Knowledge," or "the Wonder World" or the "World Book" or any other similar publication on the market. Write for free sample pages and descriptive circulars. J. T. Nourseworthy, The Book Man, Gastonia, N. C.
