THE POET'S CORNER

WITH THE AMATEURS

A WOMAN'S LOVE

The hand that rocks the cradle. Is the hand that rules the world To the mothers of humanity A banner should be unfurled On the finest silk that is woven Place in golden letters bold A message to the whole world That has never yet been told.

A woman's love is a priceless gift That can neither be bought nor sold And once bestowed it is yours for life Though you bring her sorrows untold It is a prize every man works hard for.

Till he reaches the coveted gold But he feels he is well rewarded By winning a good woman's soul.

She is found in all life's battles Where man needs a woman's care But when victory spoils are divided Does the woman get her share? At her country's call she gives all To fight for a cause that's just Trying to hide the tears that fall For sons slain in battle's dust. Millard C. Davis.

In Memory— Mrs. J. D. Covington

The Passing of Sarah Alice Watkins Covington.

It was on the morning of November 9, 1930, that our Heavenly Father visited the hospital, in which one of our Saints lay suffering, and removed that soul from her suffering and carried her to a Home in which there is no suffering nor sadness, but all is joy and peace.

Sarah Alice Watkins Covington was born August 14, 1875, and died November 9, 1930, being at the time of her departure, 55 years of age. She married John D. Covington December 20, 1894, who, with eight children, Jeff, Ruth, Bennett, Susan, Sara, Johnnie, Eugene and Mildred, and six grandchildren, survive.

The funeral service was held in the auditorium of the Ellerbe Baptist church, and was conducted by the pastor, who was assisted by Rev. W. G. Thomas, of the Presbyterian church; Rev. J. C. Whedbee, of the Methodist church, and Rev. J. M. Bennett. The auditorium was filled to its over-flowing, and the rostrum was banked with beautiful flowers sent by sympathizing friends, both of which attest the high esteem in which the deceased was held in her community.

A Tribute by Her Pastor

"Just about five and a half years ago it was my privilege to meet this good woman. I went back to my home and told my wife I had met a good woman. I have never had an occasion to take back that statement, but my acquaintanceship with her has only served to deepen that conviction.

"She was a good woman in her home. No one could visit her home and, leave discontented. The very atmosphere of the home was conducive to high and holy living. Neatness was a virtue with her. 'She is not afraid of the snow for her household: for all her household are clothed with scarlet.'

"She was a wise counsellor and a good wife. Often I have heard her husband say, 'I talked it over with Alice' and I have no doubt that her judgment has saved him from many a pit-fall.

"She was a good mother. All of her children bear marks of culture and refinement that true mothers place upon her children. They will indeed rise up and call her blessed.

"She was friendly. 'She stretcheth out her hands to the poor.' No one ever went to her for help, and went away empty.

"To me the closing scene of her earthly life is glorious. Her companion was seated by her bed-side, and having finished reading a chapter in the Bible, he said, 'Alice, I want to place one hand on you and one on the Bible, and have a prayer.' That was the closing scene. Her eyes closed on this side of the river, but opened on the other side. What a glorious ending."

Below is a poem that she delighted to have read:

When Death Comes

"When life is done and I embark Upon that shoreless sea, Let no wild fear assail my heart At all its mystery. But let my simple childish faith Be placed in God's own hand And know my ship will sail somehow Towards a better land.

"For He who marks the sparrow's fall Will safely pilot me, He stills the wind. He calms the waves As once on Galilee. And well I know that through the hour Of life's most solemn night, He'll go with me from light to dark— And then from dark to light."

"THE HOOVER FARM BOARD IN DIXIE"

Dear Herbert I'll write you, We are able to breathe, But underwear's scanty, I hope we won't freeze.

Our pants they are faded, And patched at the knee, And socks are holie, As holie can be.

The tariff played thunder, And won't work at all, And it's pushed the old farmer Hard upon the wall.

The Farm Board they offer, And reads like a dream, They don't use brains But run it with steam.

They get up early, And go to bed late, They sit at the table, And investigate.

They talk about cotton, They talk about corn, And listen for Herbert To, toot up his horn.

They met down in Dixie, The land of the free And didn't do nothing, But look at the sea.

They looked at the water, And then at the moon, And they took their departure, Before it was noon.

They hurried back northward, With lightning-like speed, And say that the farmers Have just what they need.

They say down in Dixie The people lack brains They ought to quit cotton, And push in grain.

Think a Moment!
Can you stop?

Your brakes may grip, but will your tires?

On those few square inches of rubber that touch the road often depend your own and your family's safety!

Better be sure that rubber is deep-cut with the tight-gripping pattern of the Goodyear All-Weather Tread.

Its known safety is one big reason why "More people ride on Goodyear Tires than on any other kind!"

There must be, and there is, a very good reason why more people prefer GOODYEAR'S to any other kind of tire. The Hicks four selling stores around Rockingham give you clean stock, excellent service and FRESH rubber. The tires are buoyant, firm and will last you. We ask you to give us the chance to make you a price. Any size, any price. Just let us show you.

LOW PRICES MAKE JOBS

Increased Buying Speeds
Wheels of Industry

All authorities agree that the best way to help business is to speed up consumption of goods. That sets idle wheels turning, increases employment of labor, and so adds to buying power. These same authorities agree that the best way to speed up consumption is to keep retail prices as low as possible. A&P does this in good times as well as in bad times. How this policy has worked in the present circumstances is shown by the fact that A&P is steadily adding to its payroll.

Today A&P is giving employment to 3,685 more wage earners than it did a year ago.

During the last year, because of the general slowing-up of business, increases in salaries have been rare.

A&P has increased the average wage of all its employees by more than $50 a year.

The fact that A&P has been able to hire more workers and raise wages during hard times is due directly to its policy of cutting the retail price of food as fast as growers and producers reduce their prices to A&P.
