My Poor Back!

That's the common exclamation of those suffering with rheumatism or kidney troubles. In either disease Paine's Celery Compound will surely effect a cure, and there will no longer be any cause to complain of "poor backs." Hundreds of testimonials like the following confirm our claims for that grand old remedy, Paine's Celery Compound:

"Two weeks ago I could not sleep, was constipated and kidneys did not act, back. Since I took Paine's Celery Compound, and I can sleep like a child." Zenas "Having been troubled with rheumatism to get around, and was very often confined to my bed for weeks at a time. I besides outside advice, but to no advantage. Having seen Paine's Celery Compound advertised, I gave it a trial. I have used only one bottle and am perfectly cured. I can now jump around and feel lively as a boy." Frank Caroli, Eureka, Nevada.

THE LONDON "BOBBY."

GOOD UNDER ORDERS, BUT A DUM-MY UNDER RESPONSIBILITY.

The London Policeman Wonderful Civil and Naturally Obliging—Anecdotes of the Force—Something in a Name—Timidity and Indecision.

The London policeman is by no means a bad sort of fellow. On the contrary, he is wonderfully civil and obliging, and his natural desire to please is stimulated by a small "tip." Every stranger who visits London will carry away with him grateful recollections of the kindness and courtesy of London policemen in showing him how to find his way through the intricate thoroughfares of that great human hive.

The system employed by those who control the London police makes of them machines, blind obedience to their superiors is the ideal of excellence. It is their business, not to think. Give a London policeman orders and he will obey them to the letter. But put him in a position where he has to suggest orders for himself, where he has to act on his own judgment, and the weight of responsibility overweighs his business as a dummy. He shows up worst just where the New York policeman would be at his best.

WAITING FOR "BORDERERS."

I remember once attending a political meeting where Leonard Courtney was to make an address. Mr. Courtney's business was to talk. Give a London policeman orders and he will obey them to the letter. But put him in a position where he has to suggest orders for himself, where he has to act on his own judgment, and the weight of responsibility overweighs his business as a dummy. He shows up worst just where the New York policeman would be at his best.

WHY, A NEW YORK POLICEMAN WOULD HAVE THEM OUT IN A JIFFY.

"May be, sir, but this is a free country, sir, and a political meeting everybody has a right to happen to," he replied, "sir." "And he looked at me after a fashion which indicated that in his judgment he had shown the superiority of English institutions. The upshot of the business was that after a while the majority of those present came to the conclusion that patience had ceased to be a virtue, so they rushed the obstructionists out of the hall and hustled them down stairs at the risk of breaking their necks or limbs. And when they were out in the street the policeman arrested them for disorderly conduct.

SOMETHING IN A NAME.

The London policeman nicknamed by the street "bobby." "Choose it, the cop" exclaim New York gamins when interrupted by the approach of some minion of the law. "Look out, here comes the bobby, boys," is the language usually employed by mischief making London street Arabs when a policeman looms up in their vicinity. There is a difference in these names, and the difference is in favor of the New York "cop." The "cop" is a much slyer individual than the "bobby," as the name would imply.

WHEN THE DYNAMITE EXPLODED IN LONDON all the policemen were instructed to look out for dynamite, but they were also directed how to look out for it. I shall never forget the ludicrous spectacle presented at the entrance to Westminster abbey one Saturday afternoon in consequence of these orders. Saturday is a great day for country folk to visit the abbey, and every man, woman and child who goes there carries a bundle that afternoon was made to submit its contents to the scrutiny of a policeman before being allowed to pass into the abbey. The spectacle of an officer of the law examining greasy packages of sandwiches, cakes and pastry from the recesses of the capacious basket of women's satchels, with its order to discover if there was any dynamite there, was very funny.

Worth Trying.

A farmer in Wilson county, Texas, experimented last season by planting cotton several different widths. Most of it was planted the usual width, but he planted 5 rows with the rows eight feet apart, and the latter did not seem growing the entire year, the cotton finally meeting in the middles. He says the cotton planted with rows eight feet apart made twice as much to the acre as that planted the usual width.

The experiment is worth trying even on a small scale. We know one gentleman who always plants a part of his cotton in checks, and he says it yields better and is less expensive and troublesome to cultivate. The wide rows as suggested above is somewhat on the same principle—greater space—and may be desirable. Will not some progressive farmer try it?—Roanoke News.

Pimples, Sores, Acne and Pains.

When a hundred bottles of Sarsaparilla or other pretentious specific fail to eradicate in-born scrofula or contagious blood poison, remember that B. B. B. (Bontanic Blood Balm) has gained many thousand victories in as many seemingly incurable instances. Send for the Blood Balm Co., Atlanta Ga., for "Book of Wonders," and be convinced. It is the only true blood purifier.

G. W. Messer, Howell's X Roads, Ga., writes: "I was afflicted nine years with sores. All the medicine I could take did me no good. I then tried B. B. B. and 8 bottles cured me sound."

Mrs. S. M. Wilson, Round Mountain, Texas, writes: "A lady friend of mine was troubled with bumps and pimples on her face and neck. She took three bottles of B. B. B., and her skin got soft and smooth, pimples disappeared, and her health improved greatly."

J. L. Bosworth, Atlanta, Ga., writes: "Some years ago I contracted blood poison. I had no appetite, my digestion was ruined, rheumatism drew up my limbs so I could hardly walk, my throat was cut several times. Hot Springs gave me no benefit, and my life was one of torture until I gave B. B. B. a trial, and, surprising as it may seem, the use of five bottles cured me."

She Didn't go to Texas.

Last Monday evening Mr. A. A. Dees, of Chesterfield county, S. C., arrived in Monroe, with his family, for the purpose of taking the train for Texas. Mr. Dees took up camp with the intention of leaving on the morning train, but when he awoke Tuesday morning and counted noses to see if they were all there, he found that he was minus a daughter. The missing daughter, Miss Ida, had left a lover, a Mr. Welsh, in Chesterfield, and naturally both objected to a separation. Mr. Welsh followed the emigrants to Monroe, and during the night stole the lovely Miss Ida away, and lost no time in reaching a haven of safety beyond the South Carolina line, and doubtless ere this they are man and wife.—Monroe Enquirer and Express.

"It's only a question of time," and a short time, too, as to when your rheumatism will yield to Hood's Sarsaparilla. Try it.

WOMEN'S REMEDY.

"One of the most profitable forms of business in New York," remarked an upstart politician under the other day, "is that of putting furnished men. Nearly all of the principals in the business are women. Some have started in a small way, and some have elaborately started in the enterprise backed by capital. The women in this business will give you a good deal of information, and they will give you a good deal of information, and they will give you a good deal of information."

The Republicans around here have it settled that J. B. Evans is to be the collector under the new administration. In that event we suppose the "Religious"—"men who are not afraid of the devil"—will be the pickers, the deputy collectors, the stockpilers and gaugers, &c. These "Religious" were promised, you recollect, that when Hamilton was suggested they should be rewarded. When these fearless men get into the office they will have a return to the good old times of the garbine, the black knuckles and the blue-jean. No wonder North Carolina went Democratic.—Stateville Intelligencer.

The young man who swallowed by mistake the whole contents of a package of Lander's out again, says he feels rather pale, but otherwise is all right. He will however follow the directions next time.

Dr. Bull's Baby Syrup is recommended by all druggists as being a perfectly reliable and safe preparation for babies. Price only 25 cents.
