DR. PETER W. STANSILL

Among all the influences which tend to the uplifting of frail human nature and directing the common mind in the channel of aspiratio after that higher lite for which the present is intended as a prepartion, these is note so off clive of the desired end as practical example farnished in the lives of men. Ex ample is better than precept, and the reality of the Christian religion? is made a matter of proof infinitely more by the living than by the teaching of its principles. A few godly men, born, maturing and dying in a community-them whole lives having been consecrated to good works-contribute far more to the betterment of that community than does all the teaching of all the schools, whatever the medium sought or invented for the promulgation of the truth. "How did he trict to say that not one of them is live?" is the question, with reference to any man, a favorable answer to his superior, and few, if any, are his which meets the faith sentiment in equals. In addition to his other qualifications, he has an experience the inquirer with a power to conwhich is valuable to the people in vince that is irresistible. If the life that it enables him to effe t a more truly harmonizes and comports with rapid administration of justice. He the principles professed, then are ought to get the nomination, and we those princples vindicated pre-emibelieve he will. nently, and the benefits of that lite are seen in the harvest of fruit that springs from the good seed sown by

it. Sure it is that "the blood of martyrs is the seed of the Church ;'

JUDICIAL OFFICERS. In our opinion the highest-moral and intellectual qualities are needed for the Bench; and when a Judge possesses these and has discharged

his duties faithfully, the public interest requires that he shall be coninued in his place so long as he is willing to hold it. "Rotation in of fice," is the cry of those who want place, and who seem to think that offices are meant to gratify personal ambition or supply the needy with emolument. The doctrine is fallacious and harmful. Officers are a necessity, and places of public trust ire to be administered for the benefit of the people. They care very little who gets the profits so their usiness is intelligently and honor ably managed. The interest o nine-tenths of morkind is in that miy, for but comparitively few expect or even desire official position In addition to other elections in November, we shall have to choose a Judge for this district for a term of eight years. Judge McRae is not only one of the ablest men on the Bench of the Superior Court but was thought by a large number of the delegates in the last State Convention to be eminently fitter for a seat in our highest Court. We thought so. As a Judge he has een intelli gent, honest and importial, and, in our opinion, it would be a wrong to the public to displace bim for any man in the District. It is no injustice to all the lawyers in the Dis-others without letting them kno it. · Vain men should be treated az boys treat bladders-blo them up till they I hav alwus noticed that he iz the best talker whoze thoughts agree with our own All suckcessful flirts have sharp eyesone eye they keep on yu and one on the other phellow.

sp, in an analogous sense, the lives of good men, maintained in their integrity "through evil as well as good report," serve to perpetuate that loyalty to truth, for which they were distinguished, in the surviving mass of sincerely truth loving imitators. The death of Dr. Peter W. Stansill which occurred, at his residence, in our town, on Wednesday night, 16th inst., marked the close of such a life as we have attempted to portray. He was born on the 29th of August 1812, and was, therefore, in the 78th year of his age. His death was due, remotely at least, to an attack of la grippe more than a month agothe effects developing into heart tailure, the immediate cause of his death. His Ga. latth in Jesus Christ as the saviour of mankind was the charm of his religious character, it seing of that grannie type that was simply marary-like and ready, whenever controversy might arise, to seek as its only secure reluge a "thus salth the Lord." Educated for his profession in the Medical College of Charleston, S. C., he gave numsen wholly to its practice for a long series of years, enjoying fame as a physician second to none in this section of the State. He was atways conservative in his practice, being slow to adopt new means or methods of treatment of disease, and adhering taithfully in this to the doctrine of his life in other matters, that is, "prove all things : hold fast that which is good." His skill was re and many were the houses of afflic ing generation to his example as a those sacred relations which call in-
