> An Adventure With Jerseys. One night not ten years ago two of our "gilded youths" were on their far'as the lane between John W. Covington's and T. J. Steele's. Three soft-eyed, gentle Jersey cows had made their escape from a neighboring cow lot and were browsing on the grass in front of Mr. Covington's. It had been raining and the night was very dark. A young man, umbrella in hand, returning from a visit to his best girl, came along. He passed the cows, and, seeing the aforesaid gilded youths approacha small joke. He began stamping on the ground, flirting his umbrella, and ran towards the youths. "Good God !" said one of them, "here comes those cows; run for your life." And forthwith they proceeded to make themselves scarce in that neighbor um brella-the supposed cows-pursued them. They reached the sidewalk in front of Col. A Trance Preacher.

Major Perry, the illiterate and ignorant Edgefield County, South Carolina, negro, who, while in what appears to be a trance-sleep, preaches learned and eloquent sermons, is still attracting a great deal of attention, and several enterprising citizens of Edgefield County now have the human phenomenon in charge and are exhibiting him to large audi-

The modus operandi, says a St. | The Spring term will begin Jan. 26th. Louis Globe Democrat correspondent, is as follows: Perry goes to view of the audience, and by the time the spectators have assembled is fast asleep. After a few moments of apparently sound slumber, his muscles begin to twitch, his limbs to contract, and his body becomes contorted in unseemly shapes. This spasm soon passes off, and then he begins to preach. He takes his text from the Bible, naming book, chapter and verse, all the time lying flat ing, he thought he would perpetrate on his back, with his eyes shut, and for half an hour or more preaches, using strictly grammatical, and even eloquent, language. At the conclusion of his sermon he sings a hymn to an old air, but the words of it are entirely new and of his own composition. Then comes hood. The young man with the a prayer, and he dismisses the congregation. The text for the sermon preached by Perry Thursday night was announced by him to be found in Daniel vi., 21, and that it read as

"Then said Daniel unto the King,

O King, live forever." The words of the text will be found to be exactly correct, which is certainly marvelous when it is positively known that the negro cannot read a word, nor had he ever heard the text in question read or spoken to him by any one. Four reputable
