CHAUTAUQUA OPENS SPLENDID PROGRAM

Best Program Yet Presented Follows Most Successful Season Ticket Sale. Dr. Geisel's Lecture Worth Price of Season Ticket in Opinion of Most Who Heard Her Speak. Conrad Company's Program Pleases. Prof. Guy F. Bingham Delivers Splendid Lecture on American Patriotism

DR. PAUL M. PEARSON, CHAUTAUQUA PRESIDENT COMES HERE

The community's fourth Chautauqua opened here on Wednesday afternoon, following the most successful advance sale of season tickets yet realized by the local Guarantors. Had there been an organized ticket selling campaign it is practically certain that this year the Guarantors would have gone "over the top" with their season ticket sale, as more than twelve hundred dollars worth of tickets practically sold themselves. As it is the guarantors, fifty five in number, face an even smaller individual deficit than was experienced last year with more than a hundred names on the guarantors contract.

Chautauqua this year seems to have achieved the impossible by presenting a program superior to the excellent one given last year at the same prices as prevailed last year, in the face of rising costs on every hand. Certainly a better program has never been shown here than that now being given at the Chautauqua tent.

Dr. Carolyn E. Geisel's lecture on Wednesday night, given to the largest first night crowd yet had, met with universal approbation. Dr. Geisel was applauded time and again and recalled to take curtain bows several times after the close of her talk on "Miss Columbia, M. D.". It will be recalled that Dr. Geisel was a feature of last year's program and was returned at the almost unanimous request of every town on the circuit.

The entertaining program of the Conrad Company on Thursday evening was both unusual and enjoyable. Clayton Conrad the "talking cartoonist" was exceptionally good, as was also the musical program of Andrew Visocchi, the wizard of the accordion and the singing of Miss Mildred Sanders, who has a remarkably pure soprano voice.

The lecture on "patriotism" given on Thursday evening by Prof. Guy F. Bingham, of Lisbon, Ohio, who has been acting as Superintendent of the Chautauqua platform this week, was one of the most constructive lectures ever delivered here. Prof. Bingham is a deep thinker and student, keenly alive to the great changes taken place in American thought and habit resulting from our reaction to the great World War, and his address, delivered on July Fourth, was a most appropriate and persuasive plea for deeper and more vital patriotic thought and action. His appeal was primarily to the thinking part of his audience and was thoroughly enjoyed and appreciated by them.

Dr. Paul M. Pearson, president of the Swarthmore Chautauqua and also Swarthmore College, will arrive here to-day and will act as Platform Superintendent of the Chautauqua for the remainder of the week. Dr. Pearson is a gifted speaker and the community is to be congratulated upon being able to have him with us during the week. Dr. Pearson comes here to replace Prof. Bingham, who leaves to-day to take charge of the Petersburg, Va., Chautauqua which starts to-morrow.

The program this afternoon is a series lecture by the Superintendent, and a concert by the McDonough-Paird Company. The College Players will stage the great four act comedy "The Fortune Hunter" for the evening program. George H. Turner lectures on

Geo. E. Treake Writes From France

Somewhere in France, June 11, 1918.

My dear Mr. Jackson:

I received your nice letter a few days ago and certainly was more than glad to hear from you. I have had my experience in the trenches, and believe me good times are certainly scarce while we are in there. I have been in range of the "Bosche" guns ever since I arrived over here and been through lots of gas attacks, but old "Bul" is still among the boys.

I also have a brother over here but in a different Division than I am in the Rainbow Division with the Ohio boys. We have one of the best ball teams over here with lots of old Leaguers. I have been picked by "Hank" Gowdy to play on his team, he is our regimental Color Sergeant, and I guess you know what he made Connie Mack look like when the "Braves" took four straight from them, in the World's series. Gowdy getting two homers. This sure is some great country over here, especially where the great shells have been falling, and believe me where one falls there is something going on for I know, and have had to "duck" more than once.

I am writing this hurriedly for the censor is waiting on me so will write more later. Give my best regards to your wife and the little "Jacks", and also Mr. Patterson.

I don't know anything about any of the other boys whom you wrote about.

Your old friend,
Private Geo. E. Treake,
Co. "H" 166th U. S. Infy.

DEALERS IN SUGAR FILE STATEMENTS

New Ruling of Food Administration Calls for Statement of Sugar Requirements to be Filed by Dealers, Hotels, and Jobbers.

DRASTIC PENALTY ENFORCED

The following letter to "All North Carolina Editors" has been received from the Executive Secretary of the Food Administration relative to the new sugar rulings:

Gentlemen:—All dealers of whatsoever class, and all consumers handling or using sugar will hereafter be able to purchase sugar only upon certificates furnished by this office after they have made a statement of their requirements. Those who do not file such statement by July 15 will not be issued any certificates and will be out of business for the remainder of the year in so far as sugar is concerned. We are very anxious that none of our dealers, hotels, restaurants, etc. be caught in this predicament, and we shall appreciate it if you will, through your editorial columns or otherwise, call the attention of wholesalers, retailers and public eating houses to this requirement.

The Food Administration will put eight inspectors, or field agents, in the field July 1. The effectiveness of the work of these men and of the Food Administration generally depends upon the co-operation of the people—producers, dealers and consumers. We feel that it is the duty of every patriotic American citizen not only to do his duty, but in order to make the work of the Food Administration most effective in its part toward winning the great war, to report to County Food Administrators or to this office violations of Food Administration rules, regulations and orders by any person whatsoever. We have no respect for a "tattle tale", but in this instance an informant, instead of being a meddler, would be rendering a valuable patriotic service, and the effectiveness of the work of our organization can be greatly increased by the giving of this information.

The liberal co-operation of the press in North Carolina has gone a long way toward placing North Carolina in the very forefront of the States in the degree of results accomplished by the Food Administration. We desire to thank you for your co-operation and to give you this assurance that your co-operation has been of inestimable value.

Very truly yours,
John Paul Lucas, Executive Secretary and Educational Director.
