STANLEY-WILLIAMS

A very pretty home marriage was solemnized Sunday morning at 9:30 at the home of Mrs. Mary L. Stanley when her daughter, Mary Ezell, became the bride of Mr. Robert A. Williams.

The bride wore a traveling suit of blue and carried carnations.

She was attended by her sister, Miss Martha Stanley and Miss Leana Matthews. The groomsmen were Mr. Lester Williams, brother of the groom, and Mr. Roy Mohorn.

Immediately after the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Williams left for Four Oak, the home of the groom where they will spend their honeymoon.

The bride is an attractive young woman and well known in this community. The groom is the popular clerk of Allsbrook and Cook and has made many friends here during his short residence here who wish him and his young wife a long life and much happiness.

"AS IS THE TEACHER"

"As is the teachers so is the school" said a wise one of an age ago. It is a sad and awful thought for teachers to realize that what they think and the ideals to which they aspire will be practiced by their pupils. It should be a source of great consideration to parents as to whom they employ as teachers, if they could realize what a powerful part the teacher plays in the lives of their children.

When we consider these things it would seem that parents should put forth every effort to employ the best, and would provide means so that teachers may equip themselves and be able to look upon teaching as a self-supporting profession.

Let us consider some facts: Railroad men getting $85 per month for twelve months, got an increase of 40 per cent beginning with May 1918.

The Committee on Education and Labor in the U. S. Senate received a petition that elevator men, Watchmen and scrubwomen in the Federal Building at Chicago, who received $720 per year, be increased by $360.

The Annual salary of public school teachers in the U. S. is $630.64; who has asked that teachers' salaries be made to average $1080 per year.

An Austrian miner in an Illinois town received $2700 in 1918. The American-born school teachers in that same town received $765 as her annual salary.

You note that the school teachers are classed financially below a Chicago scrubwoman and yet, a teacher's calling or profession is one of the most profound importance to every man, woman, and child in the United States.

Why is this unfair standard existing? Where does the fault lie?

The fault has lain partly with the teachers. If a person were not prepared to do anything in particular it was thought he could enter this profession of "keeping school". The teachers have allowed unprepared members in their profession. They have not held up a high standard.

But that day has passed. The very highest type of man and woman is devoting itself to this noble calling. Now it is for the citizens to recognize the profession by providing an annual salary large enough for a teacher to cloth and feed himself properly and attend summer schools that he may be "up to the minute" on his job.

"As is the teacher, so is the school" but as is the pocket book of our citizen-ship of North Carolina opened for education, so will be the teachers of this grand old State.

Yours in dead earnest,
Nannie E. Pigg,
Aurelian Springs, N. C.

Meeting of the Methodist Ladies Aid

The Ladies Aid Society of the Roanoke Rapids Methodist Church held its regular monthly meeting at the home of the President, Mrs. A. M. Proctor.

The attendance was highly encouraging and the interest of each one present was manifestly displayed.

Reports from various silver Circles held during the past months were heard from and final sum-total of collections reached a high water mark.

Thoughtfulness of the hostess was too vigilant to over-look those additional features which automatically direct the business transactions to the cream of the occasion.

LETTER FROM FRANCE

Prov. Sup. Co., Sub Depot 14
A. E. F., A. P. O. 762
March 9, 1919.

The Roanoke Herald,
Roanoke Rapids,
N. C.

Dear Sirs:

You will find enclosed a Paris Edition of Chicago Tribune which has a few letters in it from the boys over here and as you will see they all are anxious to get back home. I can speak for myself and leaving out the name of Jail bird. The American jail is a better place to spend your life than in France after the war is over. There I could hear from my people and my friends who are dear to me. Here I don't know whether I have a mother, sister or brother, and without them I could not have a place to call home.

It has been just about five months since I heard a word from the U. S. I wonder how that would feel to some of the folks there to be separated from their mother or wife and children in a country like this and not a word in five months.

I am in Supply Company now attached to the I. M. C. and there is no telling how long I have to stay here. It is a sure thing that the I. M. C. will be the last home.

There is a good deal of difference from seeing France at some moving picture show than looking on real scenes with the eye just as they are. The buildings are old and worn as if they are ready to fall. The Cities are all dirty and the streets are narrow, very few lights and sunny weather is almost out of the question. But still, the pictures you may see go to prove that most any old thing painted up will look good.

I am getting on fine and still expect to get back some day in the future.

The Roanoke Herald would certainly look good to me now. Hope things are still booming in Roanoke Rapids.

Yours very truly,
Cpl. Jno. C. Smith.

ALBEMARLE PRESBYTERIAL

NOW IN SESSION

The Twenty-First Annual Session of the Albemarle Presbyterial Auxiliary convened in the Roanoke Rapids Presbyterian church Wednesday evening, at 9:00 o'clock.

The first session was an informal reception and organ recital which afforded a happy medium for all delegates and local workers to get acquainted.

The first business session was held at 9:30 Thursday morning, being opened and presided over by Mrs. J. N. Baker, of Tarboro, who for the past six years has been president of the Auxiliary. After devotional exercises the Reports of the Secretary and Treasurer and Recording Secretary were read.

Mrs. J. F. Beckwith in a very gracious manner delivered an address of welcome to the delegates of the Auxiliary, to which Mrs. S. N. Hanell responded in a happy and appropriate manner.

This session closed with devotional exercises conducted by Mrs. Geo. Ramsey.

The afternoon session opened at 2:30. Miss Mary Owen Graham, President of Peace Institute, made a most interesting and instructive talk on Young Peoples' Work.

Miss McAlpine, representing the training school at Richmond and daughter of the Auxiliary's Missionary to Japan, delivered an interesting address on "How to Teach a Mission Study Class".

At the night session Mrs. Martin L. Swinehart, the retiring missionary to Korea, in costume of Korea, made probably the most interesting address of the program.

There are about thirty-five delegates attending the auxiliary and the sessions will close today.

The ladies of the Church desire to thank the people of the town who help entertain the visiting delegates in such a charming manner.
