MASONS TO LAY M. E. CHURCH CORNER STONE

At 7:30 o'clock next Tuesday evening, the local chapter of the Masonic Order will have in their ceremonial charge the laying of the corner stone of the Roanoke Rapids Methodist Church. Everything shall be conducted in appropriate style, and all the people in the community are expected to be present at this glad occasion.

Died From Lock - Jaw

We regret to announce the death of Mrs. B. D. Hamill, of Thelma, which occurred at a hospital in Norfolk last Saturday. She was taken to a hospital about two weeks ago for an operation, and while the operation was thought to be successful at first, as she improved very much for two days, she was taken with lockjaw and died in a short while. The remains were brought to Thelma and interred in the family burying ground on Monday.

Bishop Cheshire Here Sunday

The Rt. Rev. Jos. Blount Cheshire, D. D., Bishop of the Diocese of North Carolina will visit All Saints' (Episcopal) Church next Sunday morning - Trinity Sunday at eleven o'clock. A class of candidates will be presented to receive the apostolic rite or the "laying on of hands" commonly known as confirmation. The public is cordially invited to the service.

RUN OVER BY WAGON

Mr. J. R. Myrick, one of our local contractors, received very painful injuries Monday afternoon when a wagon engaged in hauling for him ran over his body. Mr. Myrick was riding on the wagon occupying a position on one side between the wheels. He probably became overheated which caused him to fall from the wagon in a faint, the rear wheel passing over him before the driver could stop.

While Mr. Myrick's injuries were very painful, they were not serious and he is able to be out.

STICK - TO - IT

You probably recall the story of Mr. Gray, boys! How he studied and took examination again: Failure again and again did not daunt him until he had taken it for seven times. By this time any man with an ordinary amount of perseverance would have pitched medicine to him who could catch it and gone to plowing; but not so Gray. In this time he had studied the subject so thoroughly and had found so much more than the book gave that he sat down and wrote a new anatomy. The most excellent of its kind ever written. It pays to spit on your hands and take a fresh grip. Thomas Edison who had set a car on fire with experiments while he was a newsboy, was angered because the Conductor pitched him off the car. Many boys would have "cussed" and gone off to smoke a cigarette. Thomas did not. He tucked his wrath under a smiling countenance until he made money enough for a better situation. Then he just stepped off and did not get on again. "Let not him that putteth his hand to the plow look backward." One day a country school teacher asked the people to vote bonds to erect a building that her pupils might have an equal opportunity with their friends in town. Her best friends said she better not stir up anything like that; that that community would never remember a better building by bonds. She stuck; bonds were bought, building built. "Hitch your wagon to a star" and grab the star if your wagon turns over. Benjamin Franklin was on the verge of giving up many times. He never did. He held on. Many times success is only ten years ahead of us. One of our foremost preachers who has done more perhaps toward educating young men for the Baptist Ministry than any other one man in the state. He said he worked on his father's farm and they seemed to get poorer. He felt that he must go to school. He hated to leave but think, boys, of the vast amount of good he has been able to do compared with the few paltry dollars he could have made for his father. How much more able was he to care for his father when he came to need aid in old age. Many times this young man scarcely able to make his way. He just stuck, had pluck, and trusted God. Be sure you're right; then go ahead. Care not what any man shall say. It is wonderful what faith in God and stick-to-it-iveness will do for a man. To be frank there is nothing that can withstand such spirit, once it has taken hold a fellow. There must be no dividing between several opinions, boys, you must know what you want and then strike a bee line. Let nothing daunt you. If the nettle sticks you grasp it the more firmly and the sharp edge will soon wear off. Take a bull-dog hold, do not turn loose until you are choked off and be dead when you are choked off."

People of Rosemary Village Take Interest in Gardening and Canning

With the nearing summer the community garden of the Rosemary Manufacturing company is a scene of great activity. Starting on a small scale the gardens have been greatly increased to meet the needs of the employees of the company. The land is prepared for cultivation by the mill and plotted, one or more plots being allowed each family according to their needs. A great stimulus was given gardening when the company erected, for the use of its employees a large modern cannery. Provided with the most, modern efficient and sanitary equipment for the canning, preserving and drying of fruits and vegetables a long step is taken to enable the housewife to practice food conservation and economy. The equipment consists, in part, of two steam pressure retorts for canning, two dump scalders for rinsing and blanching vegetables, etc. steam heated dehydrator for drying, white vegetable slicers, fruit parers and similar labor saving devices reduce the preparatory work to a minimum. This branch of the Rosemary Manufacturing company's activities which also includes the children's gardening and tomato clubs is under the capable direction of Miss Anna Rowe. Through the winter months Miss Rowe has conducted the classes in domestic science, sewing and similar work in the interests of the women. As assistant Miss Rowe will have with her this season, Miss Mary Powell who has been with us as principal of the high school department of the Roanoke Rapids Graded schools. From all indications the amount of vegetables and fruit preserved this year will greatly exceed the record of last season about 10,000 cans and one ton of dried vegetables. Furthering this work an annex to the cannery is being built which is to be used for storage of potatoes and winter vegetables. Built after the specifications of the U. S. agricultural department this will afford proper storage facilities and enable the people to save a large quantity of vegetables and potatoes which is lost through improper storage.

"Robin Hood" Famous Opera AT CHAUTAUQUA

MARGARET SMITH—"DAME DURDEN" IN "ROBIN HOOD"

Chautauquans will have no difficulty in recalling the musical headlines of past years on the Chautauqua program. The light operas, "The Mikado," "The Chimes of Normandy," and "Pinafore" have set a high standard which some may think it will be difficult for his year's offering to equal and impossible to surpass. And yet the Chautauqua management without the least hesitation announces that Reginald DeKoven's opera "Robin Hood" is the greatest success which it has ever had the pleasure of offering for the approval of the towns on its circuits. Not only was "Robin Hood", the first musical attempt at legitimate opera comique by American authors, but of all the light musical works born on this continent since its production twenty-six years ago, it is the one most worthy of revival. At Chautauqua this beautiful and tuneful opera will be produced by a full cast chorus and orchestra. This company will consist of thirty-five members, each an individual artist in his part and chosen because of his ability to interpret his special role. The artistic effect will be greatly heightened by the special costuming and elaborate scenery which is carried to give the special setting necessary for this production. One of the features of "Robin Hood" which never fails to delight the audiences is the unusual collection of well-known songs which are contained in the score. Some of the most popular hits, among which are no doubt some of your own personal favorites, are these: Songs from "Robin Hood": "Then Hey! For the Merry Greenwood," "Ho! Ho! Then for Jollity," "Ye Birds in Azure Winged," "Ye Birds' Song," "Armorer's Song," "A Hunting We Will Go," "Ah! I Do Love Thee," "Sweetheart, My Own," "Love, We Never More Will Part!"

OFFICE OF APPRAISERS OPENED

County Supervisor, Mr. S. G. Whitfield, of the Board of Appraisers, for the revaluation of real property, of Halifax county, will open offices in the Randolph building, Enfield, rooms formerly occupied by Mr. R. C. Dunn. Mr. W. W. Wiggins, of Weldon, and Mr. Thomas H. Dickens, of Faucetts township, have been appointed appraisers. Mrs. S. W. Dickens has accepted the appoint of assistant. Other assistants from the several townships, necessary for the conduct of this work, will be named later; also plans of conducting the tax appraising work under the new revaluation law.—Roanoke News
