Most of these Fall amendments have already failed.

They say Senator Reed found something rotten in Ardmore.

Hey! Whatcher doing parking that mule on the wrong side of the street?

We see by the papers where Gen. Leonard Wood has captured Gary, Indiana.

The leader and the shirker are as much or even more to blame for high prices than the profiteer.

The Morally Stunted are claiming that we haven't had a good rainy season since the country went dry.

If Sam Gompers and Judge Gary can agree upon any settlement of labor disputes, the said settlement is bound to be all right.

The question of world championship having been more or less satisfactorily disposed of, we can now turn our attention to the spectacle of the Senate trying to talk itself to death over the peace treaty.

So many prominent and heretofore blameless citizens have been caught in the toils of the law this week, it'll probably be easier for the news editor to simply list those who were not arrested.

A king and queen and two heirs apparent to royal thrones in America at one time is something of a record. If we just had the Kaiser bringing up the rear in a black Maria, we'd all be satisfied.

If mobs, riots, strikes and insurrections do not soon become less the ordinary sequence of events, President Carranza will be proposing intervention for the purpose of establishing and maintaining order!

"Produce and Save" is the advice of the Federal Reserve Board in reducing the h. c. of l. Increased production and decreased consumption will do more than all the investigation and legislation in the world.

Can Be Cured.
 Mean thinking is a habit with some of us and it can be cured just as any other bad habit can. Good time to begin, about now.
