The only reason looked for is a brief one in summer when the national party conventions are in session. Political speeches of presidential candidates and members of congress up for re-election are expected to flood the Congressional Record.

A Record Of Important Events At The Capitol And Throughout The State, Reported For Herald Readers

JUDGE DANIELS IS ROUGH ON MOB LAW

EXCUSES GIVEN BY SOME ARE CONVICTIONS ARE UNCERTAIN AND PARDONS COME EASY

ONLY AN ALIBI OF COWARDS

County Officials Who Are Lukewarm About Law Enforcement Bring Down Reproach on Community.

Opening the superior court here, Judge Frank A. Daniels, brother of Secretary Daniels, in his charge to the grand jury, scored mob law in no uncertain terms. Citing the Franklin lynching as a distressing example of what an infuriated crowd can do, he said that when someone pleaded with the infuriated mob to desist the answer came back that if they let criminals go to the courts the courts would not convict and if they did convict the governor would not let their sentence stand.

Judge Daniels denounced such an excuse as being only the alibi of cowards, but at the same time urged the grand jury to do its duty in such a manner as nobody would question its sincerity.

Judge Daniels, continuing his remarks, said that county officials who are lukewarm about law enforcement bring reproach on any community. There are communities, he said, in which a sheriff's posse can be recruited at any time to chase a little negro for stealing a pig, while people guilty of graver offenses are allowed to go free.

In asking the committees to select Raleigh as their convention city this year, the Chamber of Commerce will point out the advantages of Raleigh over other cities expected to bid for the meetings. Its central location and proximity to more towns than other large cities will be one of the reasons why Raleigh should be the place of the conventions.

CURB USELESS EXPENDITURES

Further Issues of Treasury Certificates Are Probable. They May be Paid out of Cash on Hand.

Washington.—Another liberty loan will be necessary if Congress embarks on "new flies of large expenditures or reduces the aggregate volume of taxes," Secretary Glass declared in a statement setting forth in detail the government's financial condition.

If the present tax level is retained and new expenditures are kept down, the turn has come in the tide of government financing, the secretary asserted.

Barring the congressional action mentioned, Mr. Glass believes the treasury would be able to pay its own way from tax and war salvage receipts. Although further issues of treasury certificates of indebtedness may be expected, they will be redeemed from cash on hand rather than through the sale of new issues of certificates for the first time since late in 1917.
