JUDGE BEN B. LINDSEY TO BE IN WELDON, TUESDAY NIGHT APRIL 6TH

A Lindsey lecture always deals with vital topics but it is also always entertaining and brim full of fun and humor. Judge Lindsey is a capital raconteur and his audience laughs with him heartily.

SURVEY OF LOCAL SCHOOL SYSTEM

Early in December the Board of School Trustees authorized the Superintendent to invite the School of Education of the State University to make a survey of the local school situation, and indicate plans for the future development of the schools. The school of Education gladly accepted the invitation and Dr. L. A. Williams, Professor of School Administration in the University, was authorized to make the survey. Dr. Williams spent two days in January looking over the buildings and left a questionnaire of several pages to be prepared by the Superintendent. He is expected to spend several days making a close inspection of work being done in the school. If present plans mature, he will be here all next week and will probably return for a visit near the close of the term. The idea of such a survey is not new. Dr. Williams having made other surveys in towns and cities of this State. Just recently Columbia University sent down a group of experts under the direction of Dr. Strayer, to make a complete survey of the school situation in Greensboro. Other surveys have been authorized for different parts in the State. The purpose of towns this work is to take stock of the resources as they now exist, and to work out plans for the development of the school system along progressive lines. No more forward looking movement could be inaugurated by the Local Board of Trustees, and we may confidently expect that the public school system of this community will keep pace with the best system in the State.

INDIGESTION

Indigestion is one of the meaningless terms that cover a thousand pathological conditions ranging from gall stones to kinking of the food equal. It has been defined as a condition in which there is difficulty in digesting food. It is one of the most frequent complaints of the human race. Every physician knows that a patient complaining of indigestion may have appendicitis, inflammation of the stomach, tuberculosis, gall stones, cancer or any one of a number of conditions, so the physician begins to look for the trouble.

The trouble with some people is that after a few years of over-eating, irregular eating, over-work, worry, decayed teeth or other conditions, Nature begins to fail to perform its natural functions. There ensues a period best described as digestive disturbance.

The patient has pain in the abdomen, sometimes before eating, sometimes after and sometimes all the time. There is headache, a feeling of lassitude and constipation usually follows. Often there will be pain in the back, close up under the right shoulder blade and the patient thinks he has the so called kidney trouble. At this stage the patient usually makes his first mistake. He will, in an endeavor to save a doctor's fee buy a bottle of Dr. Fakir's sure cure for indigestion, or a bottle of "stomach cure" tonic, etc. This usually spells disaster. These popular brands for indigestion usually contain enormous quantities of alcohol loaded with laxatives. The alcohol has more of a tendency to cause indigestion than to cure and is worse than nothing.

The best rule for indigestion is to prevent it rather than attempt to cure it after it appears. To prevent indigestion one should eat slowly and regularly and chew his food well for we are not blessed with a gizzard. The food should consist of the simplest of foods, well prepared. It should be selected so as to afford a well balanced diet, consisting of sufficient proteins, fats and starchy foods - plenty of fresh vegetables and fruits in season. Milk and butter form a most important part of the diet. Worries and troubles should be vanished and if possible a rest should be taken after each meal.

Indigestion from overeating is a simple affair and can be remedied but should it be caused by an ulcer or cancer of the stomach it is a more serious matter and an early recognition of the cause is very essential to recovery.

TIME TO HATCH

Hatch your chicks in February March and April. Ten reasons why.

1. Early hatched chicks come when nature is at her best.
2. Early hatched chicks grow rapidly and have more vigor.
3. Early hatched chicks are strong and are less liable to die of diseases and lice.
4. Early hatched chicks have a longer growing season.
5. Hot weather retards the growth of chicks.
6. Early hatched chicks mature by early fall.
7. Mature pullets produce fall and winter eggs.
8. Fall and winter eggs bring the highest prices.
9. Early hatched pullets lay while the hens are moulting.
10. Early hatched chicks are the ones that become broody early the following spring. Be sure to dust your setting when you set them, and positively three days before hatching. Allow the chicks to pick around on course sharp sand before giving them any digestible food. Their first food may contain hard boiled eggs, jockey cake, stale bread, oat meal or rolled oats, which feeds or combination may be used with good results. Mash mixed with milk are excellent to give them a good start, but must be fed in a crumbly state and never in a sloppy condition. Feed a little at the time and several times a day. Feed just what will be eaten each time, never allowing any to lay around and become sour. Keep a supply of fresh clean water before them at all times. Do these things and your chickens will grow off nicely.

MR. E. A. MATTHEWS APPOINTED LIST TAKER

Reasons Why The Schools Of Halifax County Should Be Consolidated Into Larger Districts

BENEFITS TO THE CHILDREN

Children that live to far away from school to walk and have no way to ride, will be taken to school on trucks.

Where you have a big school with a teacher for every grade, with music and domestic science and agricultural teachers, they can teach the children better than they can in small schools, where one teacher has to teach from three to seven grades.

You can get better teachers to come to a big consolidated school, where they can do the children justice, than you can, to come to a small school.

The teachers have more time to give to the children.

Many children in the country will never get beyond the sixth or seventh grade unless they have a school of this kind to go to, because they are not able to go off to some outside school. Then there are children away off in the country that are very timid and have never mixed with other children much. If they had a big consolidated school to go to, their timidity would be worn off by mixing with other children.

BENEFITS TO THE GROWN FOLKS

It would be cheaper to pay the teachers of one big school than it would to pay the teachers of about a dozen two or three teacher schools.

It would be cheaper to keep one big building in repair and the fires going than it would be several small schools.

It would be cheaper for the fathers and mothers that are financially able to send their children to an outside school, after they pass the seventh grade to keep their children at home until they finish the eleventh or twelfth grade.

Then there are a lot of people in the country that do not have much education. They couldn't help but learn right much if there was a school of this kind in the community.

BENEFITS TO THE COMMUNITY

It would be a great benefit to any community to have from eleven to fifteen well educated men and women to come into its bounds.

Having a big consolidated school in a community, will give people progressive ideas and make them get to work to keep up with the school.

Having a big school in the community, the people will naturally come together there and mingle with their neighbors, and this will develop a good community spirit.

If the children of a community are well educated you will naturally have well educated men and women and therefore a well educated community.

If we do not have a good school in the country all of the best people will move to town so they can educate their children. So if we want to keep our best people in the country, we will have to have consolidated schools.

Iron Pipe Makes Good Sprinkler.
Somebody attached to the Arroyo Seco library and playgrounds in Los Angeles had a bright idea. In order to sprinkle the rose hedges and vines in the grounds with little trouble, a three-fourths-inch pipe was perforated at intervals and placed on top of the fence. The pipe was then given water connection; and now, when the water is turned on, the entire hedge and border of flowers is sprinkled. Another length of perforated pipe takes care of the library terrace.—Popular Science Monthly.

Dye From Onion Skins.
To make dye from onion skins, says The Electrical Experimenter, take the outer skins from half a dozen onions (medium sized), and boil in water until the color is extracted. This is a very suitable yellow dye.
