University News Letter

Chapel Hill, N. C., Jan.—Temporary hard times in North Carolina does not prevent boys and girls from going to college but rather stirs them to go in greater numbers if authentic figures from Dr. T. J. Wilson, Jr., registrar at the University of North Carolina, count for anything.

Dr. Wilson's figures show that attendance at the University has steadily mounted all fall, took a big jump after the Christmas holidays, and is now higher than it has ever been in the history of the institution. Up to date 1,473 students have registered at the university since the opening in September. Of these 70 are new students who registered in January. The number of students who have dropped out of college for all reasons since September is 107, which Dr. Wilson says is just about the normal number who fall out every year because they cannot keep up with their work, who are affected by various personal reasons, and who finish their courses before the regular graduation time.

Deducting this loss of 107 from the total registration leaves 1,366 students actually in Chapel Hill today, which is probably the largest number ever on the Hill at any one time. University records do not show that periods of business depression cause a marked falling off in attendance. So-called "bad times" generally has the opposite effect one reason being that with high paying jobs scarce some students go to college who would not go otherwise. And all the university officials are looking for more applications next year than ever before.

Co-educational students at the university, re-enforced by 18 new students in January, are beginning to show more life and interest as a body. They recently elected as president of the woman's association Miss Ellen Lay, of Beaufort; vice-president, Miss Adeline Denham, of Chapel Hill; secretary, Miss Mary Yellott, of Bel Air, Md., treasurer, Miss Mary Verner, of Cristobal, Canal Zone.

In addition they have organized a basketball team and tossed the bomb into the athletic authorities by politely requesting that they have an hour on the basketball court for practice, Miss Mabel Bacon, of Charlotte, chairman of the woman's athletic committee, has found a number of students who at other colleges were just as successful in shooting the ball in the basket as they are now at gathering in high grades on their studies.

The university basketball team the be-team, left Feb. 1, on the longest and hardest northern trip a North Carolina team ever took. In succession they will play Virginia, Washington, and Lee, V. M. I., Georgetown, Rutgers, the Army, the Navy, and Elks Athletic Club of Lynchburg. It will be a trip that will test the team's metal to the utmost.

Roanoke Rapids High School Defeats Enfield

The best basketball game of the season was played on the local court yesterday afternoon between the Roanoke Rapids High School quint, and the Enfield High Tossers.

The game was very fast throughout, it seemed as if every player thought it was up to him to win the game.

The game opened with whirlwind plays which seemed to favor the local tossers. By a succession of fast passes Saunders shot first goal for high, Daughtry and Harris followed example and shot several goals giving Roanoke Rapids a lead which Enfield was unable to overcome. The first half ended with a score 12-4 in High's favor.

The second half opened with the local quint adding more points to their score. However the Enfield five soon showed more pep and began tossing the ball through the ring at no slow pace, Meyers leading his team. Although they played well and put up a stiff fight they could not overcome the lead of the Roanoke Rapids Boys. The game ended with the score standing 28 to 19 with R. H. S. holding the big end.

Daughtry and Harris starred for High while Vick, Taylor and Saunders played a hard game.

The line up was as follows: Roanoke Rapids, Daughtry, R. F. Harris, L. F. Vick, C. Taylor, R. G. Saunders, (Capt.) L. G. Enfield, Meyers, (Capt.) R. F. Stancan, L. F. Neivel, C. Dick, ens R. G. Hargrove, L. G.
