Scout Executive Williams Takes Girl Scouts on Hike
 There was an excited bunch of Girl Scouts awaiting Scout Executive Williams, of State University, last Saturday afternoon, when Local Director Keyserling blew her whistle, at one o'clock sharp.

With Captains Coble and Temple Lieutenant Byrd and Scouts Herbert Scott and Colburn Glover the girls marched double file, by Patrols, through the town of Roanoke Rapids and then on by a new route to Camp Sam. Along the way we kept our eyes open and fully realized that nature had made this trail the most beautiful one we had ever been over. The waters of the canal seemed to be just as happy as we were, and every phase of the entire walk made us happier.
 We arrived at Camp Sam at 2:30 o'clock, and as Scouts always do we knew there was something to do. Executive Williams first gave a few simple rules relating to good camp fire making and each girl scampered away, by herself, to collect her building material. Each girl was given two matches and in a very short while the entire site was covered with small fires. Each one was examined, because this was a part of the second class examination. At 4:30 o'clock all of the small fires were made into one big real Autumn Camp fire and we had fun roasting bacon marshmallows and eating to our hearts content. We ate and we ate, we ate and we ate, we ate till we could eat no more, but nothing was wasted. I imagine we caused the birds to have a merry time after we left, picking up crumbs from the different spots around.
 We left Camp Sam after Executive Williams gave us a drill in semaphore signaling, which was very interesting. On our journey home we walked slowly, sang scout songs, and had our fun cutting trails, getting lost and finally finding ourselves saying "Goodbye", to different ones as they got to their respective homes.

LOCAL ARBOR DAY NEXT TUESDAY

More than a Hundred Pin Oaks to be Set out On Roanoke Avenue Schools will Plant Trees Around Grounds. All Citizens Asked to Co-operate.

PROGRAM CENTRAL SCHOOLS TWO THIRTY

Due to the fact that it was feared that the trees would not arrive in time, the local Arbor Day has been postponed to Tuesday, November 22. Trees will be delivered on Monday to property owners who have placed orders for them, and the committee in charge of Arbor Day have ordered some extra trees, which they will gladly sell at cost to any property owners in the community who may wish them.
 Over one hundred pin oaks will be planted by property owners on Roanoke Avenue on Arbor Day. Mr. J. T. Chase has offered to lay off the Avenue and put down stakes at the proper intervals for the trees and the Halifax Builders Supply Company have donated the necessary stakes. An expert from the Nursery furnishing the trees will be here on Tuesday and anyone who wants his services in connection with the planting of trees can secure same upon application to Mrs. J. A. Moore. Property owners are asked to have holes dug before Tuesday.
 All of the schools are having pin oaks planted around their grounds. At half past two on Tuesday afternoon a little ceremony will be held at the Central Schools. There will be a brief address by Hon. W. L. Long, immediately after which the children will plant the trees around the school grounds.

Microbe of Love Benefit Eastern Star Tuesday Night Peoples Theatre

Miss Strickland Highly Pleased With Voices in Comedy's Cast.

Rehearsals are in full swing for the "Microbe of Love" the attractive three act musical comedy that will be presented Tuesday night, Nov. 22, at Peoples Theatre.

The production is under the personal direction of Miss Ruth Strickland, of the Wayne P. Sewell Lyceum Co., of Atlanta, Ga. Miss Strickland has had wide experience in staging this and other musical comedies in the southern states. She came to the Roanoke Rapids from a two night run of the Microbe of Love in New Bern.
 The Eastern Star has made pledges to the Oxford Orphanage the Hicks Memorial Hospital, and the Masonic and Eastern Star Home. This Chapter hopes to cover all its pledges with the proceeds of this play.
 The theme of "Microbe of Love" is unusually clever. The lines are of the keenest humor and guaranteed to bring a laugh from the most stoical individual. To make them "go" Miss Strickland has been fortunate in finding in Roanoke Rapids talent that can best interpret them.
 Among the out standing local dramatic talents the very best talent has been secured for the leading roles. Miss Eunice McAdams as Madam Cupid, Miss Myrtle Holt as Lovie Long, Miss Alice Hockaday as Mrs. Henpeck, Miss Ethel Byrd as Priscilla Prunes, Miss Clara Hearne as Piney Melting Hart, these characters are showing up unusually well in rehearsals. M. M. Faison as Bobby Bashful, Mr. Ned Manning as Mr. Henpeck, Mr. Cameron Reynolds as Billie Bachelor, Mr. Cooper as Simon Shy, Mr. Allen as U. B. Careful, Mr. Simpson as Lord Tisa Pity. There are many others in equally important roles and the Roanoke Rapids audience will have the pleasure of enjoying as splendid dramatic and musical effect as any amateur can produce.

Tickets are on sale at Taylor-Matthews Drug Co. General admission 75c, reserve seats $1.00 balcony 35c.

RED CROSS ROLL CALL

Held in This Community Nov. 19. Enlistments to be Received at Banks and Drug Stores.

BIG ENROLLMENT IS EXPECTED

Southern Division Headquarters of the American Red Cross sees a veritable triumph of the Red Cross cause in Dixie as a result of reports from every section of the Division on the results of early Roll Call activity.

The South, these reports indicate, is keenly alive to the importance of the peace time program of the organization and the response to the appeal of The Greatest Mother is believed ample assurance that the work now being attempted will be carried on throughout the coming year and possibly extended so that every community in the Division will feel and know its benefits.

This has been made possible solely through the whole hearted cooperation of people in every walk of life throughout the section. Big business has recognized the benefits that accrue to it from participation in Red Cross activity and the response has been generous, and organized labor has been no less quick to grasp the opportunity to aid a cause that is one of the prime factors in our national life in adding strength and force to the masses. In fact, practically every labor leader in the South has not only enrolled himself as a Red member, but has given his enthusiastic endorsement of the Red Cross program.

The doctrine of Red Cross service has been preached from hundreds of evangelical pulpits in the South and the same time it has been made the subject of endorsement from prelate and priest, in church and in synagogue.

In fact the cooperation has been as widespread as the cause to which it is given. As a result Division Headquarters officials predict that despite the uncertainties of the times, the South will smash all its records for response to the annual appeal of this great national organization.
