Roanoke Rapids 6; Emporia 0

The same strain of adverse luck seemed to follow the Roanoke Rapids high school football eleven in the game with Emporia high last Friday afternoon on the local gridiron and after a hard fight they managed to nose out a six to nothing victory. The lone score was the result of a touchdown from behind their own goal line, which struck the ground in the field of play, then bounded out side the side line extended before being touched. The Emporia team showed their usual strength in defensive work and presented a generally well-balanced team. The locals lost opportunities to score a touch down three different times as a result of fumbles near their own goal line. Barnes and King put up the strongest fight for the visiting team while Bernard Edmondson in the backfield and Harrison in the line played a featured game for the home eleven.

The two teams will meet again this afternoon in Emporia and another close game is expected.

Stop! Look! Listen!

The D. O. K. K. Ceremonial is on the Horizon.

On the twenty second day of November, in the Valley of Zizi, by the waters of the Roanoke, on the plains of Weldon will be heard strange sounds, weird music and foreign costumes will be seen. It all will have a meaning to many of the Weldon sons who will do battle with the tigers and Bolivar. Every day is bringing shipments of tiger milk and applications from Tyros who are to be the comedians of the streets. All Weldon is invited to join us in making this strange festival one of the greatest ever held in the Valley of the Zizi. All are invited to see the streets as they team with the scenes of conflict; to listen to the strange music and waltz dance of these vicious Arabs, hungry for the candidates who will undergo the trials and tests for the rank of the Votary.

Harken ye! Harken ye, the Sons of the Desert. Don the festival plumage for your migration to the city of strange events to behold the wonders of these Arabs five hundred strong as they feast upon the innocence of Knighthood.

Sometime in the day the parade will begin. Watch, this is the last time you will behold these candidates as Tyros. This is the march, the last of its kind with them, which will lead them into the walled courts unknown to the outer world, and where none but the faithful may enter. Here the last ordeals of the journey will be enacted and those found brave and knightly will wear the high and noble friendship and fraternity found in the fraternal world.

The following committees have been appointed:

Manager—C. E. Carter.
Membership—W. C. Walton, A. L. Durham, W. K. Gray, O. P. Mohorn, Paul H. Joyner.

ARMISTICE DAY OBSERVED HERE

Celebration Under Auspices Local Legion Post Successfully Carried Out. Mr. Holenga Delivers Forceful Address. Large crowd attends celebration.

FIREWORKS DISPLAY AT CLOSE

The Armistice Day celebration held here on last Saturday under the auspices of the local post of the American Legion went through without a hitch on the program anywhere. The weather was ideal for the occasion and ex-service men from all the county were here to join in the celebration although not in numbers as large as had been expected.

The program began at 10:30 with a splendid band concert by the Rosemary concert band in the High School Auditorium, after which Rev. L. N. Taylor delivered an invocation and Mr. A. C. Zollicoffer introduced the speaker of the occasion, Mr. Dan S. Hollenga, former assistant national commander of the Legion and now secretary of the Petersburg Chamber of Commerce. It is to be regretted that on this as on a previous occasion such a small number of people were present to hear Mr. Hollenga, who is an unusually compelling, forceful and interesting speaker.

Mr. Hollenga recalled the eventful days of the war and that first armistice day which the Legion observed in France in 1918. He argued forcibly for more liberal treatment of the disabled veterans and stated that four million men and women in whose hands was entrusted the honor and safety of the United States in time of war were no less worthy of the confidence of the nation in time of peace.

All ex-service men were served a dinner on the High School grounds immediately after Mr. Hollenga's address. Barbecue, Brunswick stew and trimmings were present in overflowing abundance and at the conclusion of the dinner the ex-service men marched to Roanoke Rapids where the parade formed, headed by the ex-service men and enlivened by floats from Scotland Neck, Halifax, Weldon and local businesses and community organizations, squads of girl scouts in costume, and both the Rosemary and Roanoke Rapids bands.

The football game between the Freshman teams of the University of North Carolina and North Carolina State College, played at the high school grounds was largely attended. Carolina won by a score of 19 to 0.

The program closed with an elaborate display of fireworks at the High School building at 7:30 witnessed by a large crowd of people.

PRUDEN-BROWN

The marriage of Miss Mary Brown, of Garysburg and Mr. Howard Pruden, of Rosemary took place on Saturday afternoon November the tenth at three o'clock at the home of the bride.

The entire lower floor of the home was beautifully decorated with white chrysanthemums and autumn leaves.

The guests were welcomed by Mrs. Reese, aunt of the bride. Misses Frances Brown and Florence Suiter, amid a bower of varied colored autumn leaves, served delicious punch. The ceremony was performed by Rev. William Towse, of the Methodist church in the presence of members of the families and friends. The beautiful and impressive ring ceremony was used.

An improvised altar of green pines, intermingled with white chrysanthemums and white lighted candles was arranged in the parlor. Mrs. W. D. Barbee, of Seaboard, rendered the music using Lohengrin's bridal chorus. Little Sarah Harris Brown, sister of the bride, was the first to enter, bearing a silver tray with the wedding ring nestling upon a white satin cushion. Immediately following the ring bearer, entered the bride and groom, who were met at the altar by the minister, who performed the ceremony, while McDowell's "To a Wild Rose," was softly played by Mrs. Barbee. The bride wore a modish traveling suit of blue villena cloth with squirrel trimmings, shoes and gloves to match. Her snail hat was of metal cloth tastily trimmed with squirrel fur and ornaments.

Immediately after the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Pruden left in their new car, a gift from the bride's father, for a tour through the valley of Virginia. They were met in Richmond by friends who gave them a reception in the Jefferson Hotel.

The bride is the attractive and accomplished daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Brown of Garysburg, who has many friends throughout the State, who will be interested in her marriage.

The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Bettie I. Pruden, of Seaboard, and holds a responsible position with the Rosemary Manufacturing Company.

Mr. and Mrs. Pruden will be at home in Rosemary after November 25th.

MRS. S. C. VANN

Franklinton, Nov. 10—After a sickness of three weeks, Mrs. S. C. Vann died at her home here early this morning.

She was born in Franklinton, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Henly, sixty-five years ago. Charitable in all things and constant in well doing, every one feels the fineness of her influence and there was so much unassuming quietness about it that no one knows how to begin to measure its extent.

This is the first break in the family circle and she leaves her husband, Mr. S. C. Vann, a son, Mr. A. H. Vann, and two daughters, Mrs. J. A. Mopre, of Rosemary, and Miss Eleanor Vann.

Mrs. Vann was a member of the Methodist Episcopal Church devoted to it and to all Christian work.

The funeral service will be conducted from the church here at 4 o'clock tomorrow afternoon.

Miss Dicie Howell Pleases

Miss Dicie Howell, "North Carolina's Own," lyric soprano, delighted a very appreciative audience in the auditorium of the high school Tuesday night. Philip Hale, a noted critic of Boston once said of her, "she is a singer with voice, art and brains." This sums up the case admirably for Miss Howell. Miss Bessie Futrell, of Scotland Neck, was Miss Howell's accompanist.
