ROUND ABOUT THE WORLD

A Condensed Record of Happenings of Interest From All Parts of the World.

In an attempt to beat a fast 102-ton Central of Georgia engine, thundering over the tracks drawing hundreds of passengers to Atlanta, to a crossing near Jonesboro, R. Vincent of Atlanta made a daring dash across the tracks. He raced his high speed motor directly in the path of the plunging train, and was dashed to death before his machine was halfway across.

Floyd and Claude Swanson Allen are in the Virginia state penitentiary. The heavy steel gates are closed behind them and shut out forever their view of aught but prison walls. They will die in the electric chair November 22. Floyd Allen was on crutches the effect of a shot in the left leg on the day the Allens shot up the Carroll county court.

Women members of the family of Ed Callahan identified two of the fifteen defendants presented at the hearing of the bail motion before Judge Benton as having been in the band on the hillside that shot Callahan to death in Winchester, Ky., early last spring.

Clementine Bernabet, the negro "axe-woman" and follower of the Church of Sacrifice, whose murders number 19, was found guilty of murder at LaFayette, La., and sentenced to life imprisonment in the state penitentiary.

Standing by as an interested spectator, while a large balloon was being inflated at Wilmington, N. C., for an ascension by a professional, J. W. Smith, 42 year old, a farmer of an adjoining county took an involuntary flight, when the bag broke from its moorings and sailed majestically at an altitude of several thousand feet. He was unhurt, however.

The silence of Sofia concerning the great battle in Thrace has at last been broken by a brief dispatch announcing a Bulgarian victory and the capture of the town of Luleburgas.

Adrianople is now completely surrounded by the Bulgarians whose attacks are meeting with great success, according to the minister. The position of the Turks is critical. There are persistent rumors that the Bulgarian cavalry has reached Redosto, where the Turks have been landing troops brought from Asia Minor.

Three masked men, little more than boys, held up and robbed southbound Missouri, Kansas and Texas train No. 9 at Kirth, Okla., six miles south of Eufaula. The bandits flagged down the train as it rounded a curve onto a small trestle which they had set on fire. Uncoupling the engine, express car and baggage car from the other coaches, they ordered the engineer to run a half mile farther south, where the express safe was blown open and ransacked. Express officials declared that they could not tell the amount of loot, but expressed the belief that it will amount to several thousand dollars.

Money lenders in New York City do an annual business of twenty million dollars; more than one hundred thousand persons, including 30,000 municipal employees are in their clutches and state courts are the unwelcome instruments through which usury is collected, according to a report made public by investigators for District Attorney Whitman. Other facts set forth in the report are that "loan sharks" have been responsible for a great many suicides, defalcations and petty thefts.

John Bernauer, the youthful Bavarian who robbed the residence of J. P. Morgan, Jr., in New York City, and other wealthy persons of thousands of dollars' worth of jewelry, freely related in court the story of his burglaries, but declared he was under the hypnotic spell of an old pal at the time. Bernauer entered a plea of guilty, however, and was sentenced to from five to ten years in Sing Sing prison. He boasted in court of how he stole into the very room where Mr. Morgan was asleep and ransacked the financier's dresser.

Jennie Cavaglieri, murdered in Bridgeport, Conn., was a government spy and was slain in revenge for her disclosures and to prevent more of them, according to disclosures by a Federal officer.

Herman Grau, for forty years a widely known operative manager, is dead in New York City, aged 87 years.

When the sultan of Turkey went to war with Bulgaria he sent a sack of millet with a letter stating that "there are as many soldiers in Turkey as there are grains of millet in this sack." The czar replied, in kind, with a smaller sack, filled with tiny grains of red pepper, that "be sure if you stick your nose into our affairs it is like sticking it into our national condiment. Try it and see."

When the American marines on October 4 charged up and captured Coyatepe hill near Masaya, Nicaragua, after having raked the insurgent position with their batteries of rapid-firing guns lying around the dead rebels was a Nicaraguan woman, a modern Molly Pitcher. Clutched in her hands was a one-pound shell which she was trying to load into a rebel fieldpiece when a bullet from the American forces struck her, and she fell death beneath the gun.

After wheeling his invalid chair to the railing surrounding the fourth-floor veranda of the Montefiore Home for Incurables, Max Snodowsky, an inmate, drew himself up to the edge and toppled over into the courtyard, 40 feet below. He was dead when carried into the home, in New York City.

The contract may not go to the lowest bidder. Chemical tests will be made and the men's decision will be the ultimate choice.

Cracking and sputtering with life, the navy's new wireless station at Arlington, Va., across the Potomac from Washington, D. C., the most powerful in the world, flung from its lofty aerials the first message which signalized the completion of an important step in the building of a globe-girdling wireless system which will keep every ship of the United States navy and every insular possession within instant communication with the capitol at Washington. The radius of the new plant will be three thousand miles, but will be weeks before the big instrument is "tuned up."

ATTENTION TURNED

TO NEXT LEGISLATURE—CANDIDATES GROOM THEMSELVES FOR SPEAKERSHIP.

SOME IMPORTANT WORK

Will Go Very Extensively Into State Wide Road Building—They May Also Adopt a System of State Bonds For This Work.

Raleigh.—The only question about the general election in North Carolina being that of by what majorities the Democratic candidates will be selected this time, interest is already gathering about the matter of the next legislature and the contests and business likely to come up.

Candidacy has already been declared by Hon. E. M. Koonce of Onslow county and Hon. George W. Connor of Wilson for the speakership of the house of representatives. There are those who are predicting that E. J. Justice, who was the speaker of the house for the strenuous session of 1909, will also be in the race before the legislature assembles.

The issue that promises most stir is that of possible legislation that will tend to relieve North Carolina of alleged discriminations by railroads in the matter of long haul freight rates. This is very much of an issue among shippers in all parts of the state.

It seems improbable that there will be any fight this session over anti-trust legislation that has figured so conspicuously to several sessions past.

The impression is very general that the legislature will go very extensively into plants for state-wide road building and may adopt a system of state bonds to finance county and township bonds on an extensive scale for this work on a big scale. Also there will be the issue of limiting work of convicts to road building under some comprehensive scale, instead of the present system of hiring convicts out for railroad building, or working them on a big state farm as at present.

Will Not Join Forces.

Raleigh.—National Committeeman E. C. Duncan of the Republican executive committee, is quoted as declaring emphatically that there is not the least bit of probability of any compromise being effected as to the Taft and Bull Moose forces that would bring down the taking down of Taft electors in this state and substitution of Roosevelt electors in consideration of the withdrawal of Iredell Meares, Esq., of Wilmington, as the Roosevelt candidate for governor so that Thomas Settle can be assured of a 50,000 vote in the general election that will insure the retention of the party integrity of the Republicans in this state.

Two Violent Deaths in Robeson.

Lumberton.—Coroner Rancke was called to the lower part of the county to hold an inquest over the remains of Sam Britt, white, who was shot and killed by Harlen Strickland. Evidence showed that Britt shot at Strickland three times before being shot. The coroner's jury rendered a verdict, saying that the killing was justifiable. Willis McArthur, a ten-year-old negro was shot and killed at Raynham several days ago. The killing was said to have been accidental, a pistol in the pocket of an other boy having been discharged while several boys were playing. Coroner Rancke and Dr. Page held inquest.

Tar Heel Fusion Deal Struck Snag.

Washington.—A deep-laid scheme to give the Democrats of North Carolina a run for their money in the last days of the campaign has gone up in thin air. It would not work. If the plan which fell through had won out Thomas Settle would have been the only gubernatorial candidate in the field against Mr. Craig and Theodore Roosevelt would have received the bulk of the Republican vote of the state for president.

For Good Raads.

Salisbury.—Mr. P. B. Beard, president of the Rowan County Good Roads Association, has received a letter from Dr. Joseph Hyde Pratt, president of the Southern Appalachian Good Roads Association, announcing that the annual convention will be held in Atlanta November 20 and 21, at the same time of the automobile show. It is believed that these two events will bring together a great many good roads advocates and President Pratt is anxious to have a good delegation present.
