

EIGHT HUNDRED REGISTER

University Has Good Opening
—Training Corps

(Special to The Sun.)
CHAPEL HILL, Jan. 14.—Seven hundred and seventy students have registered for the new quarter at the University of North Carolina and the books have not been closed. Late arrivals continue to swell the list and the total enrollment for the new quarter, when books are closed within the next few days for registration, is expected to reach the 800 mark at least.

It is emphatically pointed out by the University officials that no advantage will be gained by waiting for the opening of another college year. New students, who are prepared for college, may enter in January and complete two-thirds of a year's work.

The University will do all in its power to aid students without means toward completion of a college course through its self-help committee and loan fund.

The University has been granted a unit of the Reserve Officers' Training Corps. Registration for the military course, however, is purely voluntary, but when entered upon by any student becomes a prerequisite for graduation. The course requires three hours per week and counts for three hours of credit. A minimum of 100 students must take the course in order to secure a unit at the University. The military work will not be begun for probably a week.

Students who satisfactorily complete the four years of training including the summer camps, and who shall agree under oath in writing, to serve the United States in the capacity of a reserve officer of the Army during a period of at least ten years may receive commission in the Officers' Reserve Corps.

A well attended mass meeting of the student body was held in Gerard Hall on Wednesday night, the purpose of which was to give a rousing welcome to the old and new students at the beginning of the new term. It was a good send-off.

Representative men of all phases of college activities interestingly pictured campus life. Acting President Stacy's address of welcome was the feature of the occasion. Student speakers included Jack Powell, of Roxboro; Victor S. Bryant, Jr., of Durham; Forrest Miles, of Warren; Luther Hodges, of Leaksville; Theodore Rondthaler, of Winston-Salem.

A conference of college and high school representatives of the State meeting here January 6th to discuss school problems growing out of the influenza situation, adopted resolutions recommending that colleges give full credit to high schools for this year's work where such work is equivalent to at least one-half the normal year's work. The text of the resolutions follow:

Resolved (1), That this conference urges upon all schools the importance of completing as nearly as possible a full year's work. (2) That in view of the usual conditions prevailing the conference recommends to the colleges the advisability of giving full credit for this year's work upon certificate of the principal that the student has successfully completed such work as the school offered this year, where such work is the equivalent of at least one-half the normal year's work. The resolution will immediately be submitted to the colleges of the State for ratification. Some 40 representatives attended the conference. Prof. P. H. Daggett presided over the meeting.

Basketball practice at the University, which began this week, gives promise of an interesting season. Over 40 men have reported for the tryouts and competition for the first squad will undoubtedly be strong. Many men of last year's squad are back.

The fifth annual high school debating contest will be held again this year, in spite of the chaotic condition of many of the high schools on account of the influenza situation. The preliminary contest will be held soon and the finals will be held in Chapel Hill in March.

WAR WORKERS CLING TO WASHINGTON

The speed shown by war workers, whose Washington jobs have expired, in attaching themselves to other positions in the Government service gives evidence that the capital holds an appeal to the patriots, who have been working here for $1,200 and $1,400 a year, as compared to half those salaries at home. Breakfasts are still $1.50, and rooms cost $5.00 a night, at the bon-bon hotels of Washington, but there are lots of ways in which the young men and women who are working in Washington can live at considerable less than their salaries, and have considerable left over for their amusements.

ANNUAL REPORT

County Agent Proffitt Makes Statement

To the county commissioners of Rutherford county:
I submit the following annual report of activities during the year of 1918:

Number of visits to farmers, club members and business men, 1,652; number of miles traveled by auto and train, 7,224; calls on agent relative to work at office, 1,568; telephone calls relative to work, 255; Number of farmer's meetings held, 54; total attendance at these meetings, 4,000; number of field meetings held, 5; total attendance at these meetings, 112; number of official letters written, 789; number of news articles written, 48; number of circular letters prepared and sent out, 5; number of circulars mailed out, 5,000; number of bulletins distributed, 5,470; number of visits to schools relative to club work, 36; number of dairy schools and institutes, 4; total attendance at these schools, 365; number of registered pigs brought to the county, 38; number of hogs of all kinds brought in, 275; number of pure bred cattle brought into the county, 5; number of agricultural club members in county, 337; number of cars of lime shipped in, 9.

Demonstrations have been conducted this year in the growing of alfalfa, red clover, soy beans, velvet beans, corn, wheat, and oats. The use of lime has been thoroughly demonstrated on various crops with good results.

Frein oculation has been ordered for 64 farmers.

Some of the things that I have been trying to impress upon the farmers: Terracing, deep plowing at the right time, home mixing of fertilizers, pruning, spraying, planting home orchards. Importance of crop rotation. The advantage of keeping pure bred live stock. The selection of seed from the field. Co-operation in buying and marketing, and above all to get the farmer interested in his own business. Some gratifying results have been accomplished along each of these lines.

Work has also been done in helping them to secure nitrate of soda at cost.

With best wishes for the new year.
Very truly,
C. C. PROFFITT,
County Agent.

CREDIT UNIONS GROW
Co-Operative Extension Work
In North Carolina

(Special to The Sun.)

WEST RALEIGH, Jan. 12.—Making his report on the condition of the sixteen credit unions now operating in the State, Dr. Wm. R. Camp, superintendent of these rural organizations for the Agricultural Extension Service, shows that they have justified the confidence put in them by the secretary of agriculture when he stated recently that they formed the best rural credit organization system operating in the United States.

Dr. Camp shows in his report that the membership has grown from 285 in October 1916, to 514 in October 1917; while on November 30th of 1918 the membership had increased to 653. The number of depositors is now four times what it was then, with a greatly increased buying of shares, and an increase in the total amount of deposits. The money now paid in on shares amounts to $7,512.77, which is an increase from a little over $2,000 in 1916. The total deposits have increased from about $2,000 in 1916 to over $11,000 in November 1918. Loans and borrowers have also greatly increased.

The most rapid strides have been made in the shape of total resources. All of the unions only had $7,471.42 in total resources in 1916. This item now amounts to $24,618.69.

While the financial progress has been good, probably the unions have rendered their greatest service in furthering the co-operative buying of farm supplies by cash payments so as to make advantage of discounts offered. Many communities in which these credit organizations have been established have been able to buy seed, fertilizers, and all farm supplies at a reduced cost to the individual saving of the farmers interested.
