

ARMENIAN-TURKISH FUND

Hon. J. Y. Joyner Urges State To Aid Suffering People
(Special to The Sun).

RALEIGH, Feb. 4.—State Chairman James Y. Joyner, of the Armenian-Syrian Relief Campaign, is rapidly getting his organization perfected, and in the week beginning February 21st he expects that the people of North Carolina will enthusiastically raise the $200,000 which the Armenian committee asks this state to give as its portion of the $30,000,000 necessary to feed the starving women and children until they can raise a crop.

Dr. Joyner is one of the most enthusiastic workers for this humane cause, and he is certain that the people of the state, whom he has served for some seventeen years at the head of the school system, will rally to his standard, and that they will aid him in bringing North Carolina not only up to the goal set, but that the subscriptions will far exceed the minimum quota.

The churches of North Carolina have been striving for many years to aid the Armenians, who are the oldest Christians in the world. These people have been called upon to fight constantly to preserve the religion of Christ, and they have never faltered, even in the face of death. All kinds of pressure has been brought to bear upon them, and promises of freedom from the yoke of Turkey have been made by Turkey as well as Germany. The Germans sought the aid of the Armenian soldiers in the world war, offering them a free republic in return for the help, but immediately the Armenians told the Germans that their destinies were linked with the allies, and that whatever the outcome of the struggle, they would remain faithful. No promise of good things at the hands of Turk or Hun could turn the Armenian from his religion and his determination to stand on the side of right. They preferred death rather than to break the faith. Theirs is the oldest church, having been established in the year 301. They have been massacred, their property stolen, they have been driven from their homes, and their women and children have starved in the deserts, but they have never forsaken their Christ. So now the churches have a systematic method through which to work to gain the ends for which they have striven—that of preserving the pioneer church of Christ in the world.

As you know, the world-war left about four million Armenians and Syrians; four hundred thousand of whom are orphans, who have been driven from their homes, whose homes have been destroyed and whose lands have been devastated by the relentless Turks, helpless wanderers without means to live or means to make a living. Without an organized government through which loans could be made to them, they are absolutely dependent upon the charity of the world and mainly upon the charity of the United States because the European nations have their hands full to take care of their own sufferers. Unless they receive help from us and receive it quickly they are doomed to freeze, starve, die, and the noble remnants of this race that for four centuries or more have perhaps been the greatest martyrs to liberty and Christianity, whose chief offense has been their industry and whose unpardonable crime to the unspeakable Turk has been their profession and practice of Christianity, will be utterly destroyed.

The Armenians ask only sufficient food to keep them until they can gather the next harvest, when they will again be self-supporting.

They had 200,000 soldiers in the Russian army, 10,000 in the American army and 12,000 in the British army, fighting on the side of the allies. While the men were fighting their women and children were driven to the deserts to starve. They now need our aid to preserve their lives.

Dr. Joyner asks the people of North Carolina to give $200,000 to swell the national fund to aid in saving this valiant people, and he is certain the response will be a ready one.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and for years it was supposed to be incurable. Doctors prescribed local remedies, and by constantly pronouncing it incurable, Catarrh is a local disease, greatly influenced by constitutional conditions and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is a constitutional remedy, is taken internally and acts thru the Blood on the Mucous Surfaces of the System. One Hundred Dollars reward is offered for any case that Hall's Catarrh Cure fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.

To The Boy Who Stayed At Home

The following poem was written by an American soldier in the hospital recovering from wounds received in action on the Western Front. The Sun received it from Sergeant Morris Lynch, who copied it from the manuscript of a wounded soldier.

France, January 21, 1919.

You say he could not stand the Army,
The life is too rough for him,
Do you think he is any better,
Than some other mother's Tom o' Jim?

You raised him like a girl,
He don't smoke or chew, is you brag,
If all the boys were like him,
What would become of our flag?

You say, "Let the rough-necks do the fighting,"
They are used to the beans and the stew,
We are glad we are classed with the rough-necks,
Who have fought for the Red, White and Blue.

You say, "His girl could not stand it,
To have sent him off with the rest,
Don't you think she would have been glad to have him enlist,
When she felt the Germans' hot breath on her breast?"

Think of the poor women of Belgium,
Of the cruelty they had to bare,
Would you have such a thing to happen,
To your innocent daughter, so fair?

Thank God, the stars in "Old Glory"
Are not blurred with that kind of stain,
Because there are two million rough-necks,
What have red blood in their veins.

We go to drill in bad weather,
And we come in with a grin on our face,
While your darling, he sits in the parlor,
And lets another boy fight in his place.

Maybe we do smoke and gamble,
And we fight as our forefathers did,
So, go warm the milk for his bottle,
Thank God, we did not need your Kid.

Effect Of War On Savings
(Special to The Sun).

RICHMOND, Va., Feb. 11.—The Southern states, though having, proportionately, a larger agricultural population, are considerably in the lead of the New England and the eastern states in the percentage of increased per capita savings since 1914, was announced by the War Loan Organization here today.

In the thirteen southern states the average per capita savings of 1918 showed $26.73, per capita war savings being $6.14. But since 1914, the total per capita savings in the South increased approximately 45 per cent. The increase in New England was $20.3 per cent; in the eastern states, 10.7 per cent, and in the middle western states, 39.3 per cent. West Virginia leads the southern states with a per capita savings of $68.92, and with a war savings per capita of $10.25. Its increase since 1914 has been 32.3 per cent.

Three other southern states are included in the Fifth Federal Reserve District, their records being: Virginia—Total per capita savings $44.89; increase since 1914, 41.1 per cent; per capita war savings, $5.18. North Carolina—Total per capita savings, $24.24; increase, 40.9 per cent; per capita war savings $6.61. South Carolina—Total per capita, $33.49; increase since 1914, 57.7 per cent; per capita war savings, $3.78.

Increased savings in the South are considered of unusual significance. The per capita increase in the southern states in the last four years shows a percentage more than four times as great as that in the eastern states and more than double that in thrifty New England, though in the New England and eastern states, due to war industries, the total volume of savings was necessarily greatest.

Taken as a whole the war savings of America and the general per capita savings are greater, proportionately, than in any other country.

Ugh! Calomel Sickens; Salivates!
Please Try Dodson's Liver Tone
I am sincere! My medicine does not upset liver and bowels so you lose a day's work.

Calomel loses you a day! You know what calomel is. It's mercury; quicksilver. Calomel is dangerous. It crashes into sour bile like dynamite, cramping and sickening you. Calomel attacks the bones and should never be put into your system.

When you feel bilious, sluggish, constipated and all knocked out and believe you need a dose of dangerous calomel just remember that your druggist sells for a few cents a large bottle of Dodson's Liver Tone, which is entirely vegetable and pleasant to take and is a perfect substitute for calomel. It is guaranteed to start your liver without stirring you up inside, and can not salivate.

Don't take calomel! It makes you sick the next day; it loses you a day's work. Dodson's Liver Tone straightens you right up and you feel great. Give it to the children as well.
