Message of the Governor.

EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT,
Raleigh, November 17, 1868.

To the Honorable the General Assembly of North Carolina:

GENTLEMEN:—It is proper that at your first regular session under the new Constitution, I should lay before you information of the affairs of the State, and recommend to your consideration such measures as may be deemed expedient.

The people of the State have reconstructed their government on the basis of the equal rights of all. The State is quiet and tranquil. There is no ground for apprehending that sections will again be attempted, or that the peace of the country will be disturbed.

The year now closing has been richly crowned with harvests. The seasons have been propitious. A plentiful supply of bread has been produced for our whole population, so that want in this respect will not be felt during the coming year by any who will labor for a living.— Fruits of all kinds have been gathered in abundance. The staples of cotton and tobacco are affording fair profits to those who have produced them, while from timber and naval stores a considerable portion of our people is realizing good returns, as in former years. Our commerce is increasing. Our mineral resources are once more in process of development. Our Railroads are recovering from the depression under which they formerly labored, and promising better returns than heretofore to the State and to the Stockholders; while new lines of communication are being laid out, destined to penetrate and develop the great natural resources of portions of the State heretofore untouched by the hand of improvement. The State credit has been re-established on a solid basis, thus giving promise that at no distant day the bonds of the State will command as much in the market as those of the most favored and prosperous States.

We have great cause to be thankful to Almighty God for the manifold blessings which He is bestowing upon us; and we can confidently look forward, under His protection and guidance, for a continuation of prosperity and happiness which we have not heretofore enjoyed.

STATE DEBT AND FINANCES.

The State debt and finances will doubtless receive the thoughtful and careful consideration of the General Assembly.

The amount of the State debt on the 1st of October, 1868, was nineteen million two hundred and ninety thousand nine hundred and forty-five dollars. ($19,299,945.) This included an estimated amount of past due interest to be funded under act of August 20, 1868, of two millions of dollars. ($2,000,000.) The above amount ($19,299,945.) is inclusive of bonds issued for internal improvement purposes since May 20, 1861; and prior to the year 1866. The amount of these bonds is one million one hundred and twenty-eight thousand dollars, ($1,128,000) and the estimated interest thereon due and unpaid is one hundred and thirty thousand five hundred and ten dollars ($130,510).

The amount of interest which was paid during October 1st, 1868, was $21,000.

in cash, is one hundred and twelve thousand one hundred and one dollar, ($112,101.) The interest maturing at subsequent dates during the present fiscal year follows: January 1st, 1869, three hundred and eighty thousand one hundred and ninety-seven dollars. ($380,197.) April 1st, 1869, three hundred and four thousand one hundred and one dollar. ($3,041,011.) July 1st, 1869, three hundred and eighty thousand one hundred and ninety-seven dollars. ($380,197.) Total for fiscal year ending September 30, 1869, one million thirty two thousand five hundred and ninety-six dollars. ($1,032,596.) The amount of interest above stated as falling due April 1st, 1869, includes interest on bonds four millions five hundred thousand dollars, ($4,500,000) yet to be issued, bearing date 0 to 1st of 1868.

The balance remaining in the hands of the Public Treasurer October 1st, 1868, was one hundred and fifty thousand three hundred and eighty-four cents—($150,384.85) The amount from taxes, including payments in October, is two hundred and twenty-six thousand seven hundred and six dollars forty-two cents. [$226,706.42] The taxes from several counties remain unpaid, but we cannot expect more than seventy-five thousand dollars [$75,000] from this source.

The estimated probable expenses of the State government during the present fiscal year will be three hundred and seventy-five thousand two hundred and thirty dollars [$375,230]. Add interest falling due during fiscal year, of one million thirty two thousand five hundred and ninety-six dollars, [$1,032,596] will leave the amount to be provided for one million four hundred and seven thousand eight hundred and twenty-six dollars [$1,407,826]. To meet this the Treasurer will have fifty thousand three hundred and eighty-four cents, ($50,384.85) after paying one hundred thousand dollars ($100,000) temporary loan; taxes received since October 1st, 1868, nine hundred and thirty-seven cents, [$937.97]; estimated taxes due, seventy-five thousand dollars, [$75,000]; proceeds of sale of North Carolina Rail Road bonds, one hundred and seventy thousand six hundred and thirty-four dollars, [$170,634.40] making a total of three hundred and thirty-seven thousand eight hundred and thirty-one dollars and twenty-one cents; [$337,831.21]. Leaving the amount of one million and sixty-nine thousand nine hundred and ninety-four dollars and seventy-nine cents, [$1,069,994.79] to be provided for by taxation during the present fiscal year.

The stocks and bonds held by the State in corporations, and interest due from said corporations, is as follows: Stocks, eight million five hundred and thirty-four thousand five hundred dollars, [$8,534,500]; Bonds four million two hundred and thirty-four thousand dollars [$4,234,000]. Interest, four hundred and twenty-two thousand five hundred dollars, [$422,500]. Making a total of thirteen million two hundred and forty-one thousand dollars, [$13,241,000].

I recommend that some mode be provided to ensure the payment of this interest, and of such interest as may be due the State in future from corporations.

The report of the Public Treasurer will contain full details of the public debt, with recommendations as to the best means for providing for interest. I have full confidence in that officer, and respectfully commend his statements and views to the consideration of the General Assembly.

The estimated value of all the property in the State, lands and their improvements included, is two hundred and fifty millions of dollars. [$250,000,000] I do not regard this as an extravagant estimate, but assuming that it is, and putting it at two hundred millions, [$200,000,000] it is clear that the people of the State are fully able to carry on their government and at the same time provide for the payment of the interest on their debt. An additional tax of one per cent, on two hundred millions would raise two millions. At a half per cent, it would be one million. A citizen worth five thousand dollars clear of debt, would pay twenty-five dollars to the State, in order to raise the million that will be necessary—and so on in proportion. The interest on the State debt should be met promptly and in good faith, and the taxes necessary to meet it should be levied. The Constitution which we have all sworn to support, provides that the public debt "shall never be questioned." If we hesitate to meet the interest of the debt, or if we fail from any cause to make due provision to meet it, we thereby question "the debt, and do violence to our solemn obligation. I believe that the General Assembly will impose, and that the people of the State will cheerfully pay whatever amount may be necessary to meet the interest on the debt. I believe it will be popular to make such provision, but whether popular or not, it should be done. The great question for a statesman is, what is right?—what does duty require under the circumstances?—If the answer is, do a certain thing, do it, and leave it to time, events, and just public judgment to vindicate and sustain the doers.

INTERNAL IMPROVEMENTS.

The people of the State are so fully committed to internal improvements that I deem it necessary to say but little on the subject. Since the close of the rebellion State aid has been extended to the Wilmington, Charlotte and Rutherford Road—to the Fayetteville and Western Road—to the Cutham and Coalfields Road—to the Tarborough and Williams Road, and to the Western North Carolina Road. The work on the latter Road is being vigorously prosecuted between Morganton and Asheville. A company has been organized, under an act of the General Assembly at its last session, for the Western Division of this Road, and it is expected that during the coming year the routes will be surveyed, and much of the work put under contract. While I would properly estimate the importance of the other improvements referred to, I could not overstate the value of the extension west of the Blue Ridge. These Roads, one to Paint Rock and the other to Ducktown, will open to immigration, and will greatly improve and benefit a region of the State which has heretofore been neglected, and which is equal to any in the world in natural resources. There is no work to which the people of the State are more fully committed, both by interest and inclination; and I have every confidence that it is in hands that will press it to speedy completion.

IMMIGRATION.

The Constitution provides that "there shall be established, in the office of the Secretary of State, a Bureau of Statistics, Agriculture, and Immigration, under such regulations as the General Assembly may prescribe."

The attention of the General Assembly is especially invited to that portion of the report of the Secretary of State herewith transmitted, which refers to this subject. No State in the Union presents greater inducements than ours does to immigrants. I feel sure the General Assembly concurs with me as to the importance of encouraging immigration; and I trust that body will at once adopt such measures on the subject as it may deem practicable and effective in their operation. We have a salubrious climate, a varied and fertile soil, an abundance of the most valuable minerals, inexhaustible water power, fine grazing lands, vast forests of timber of all kinds, a long sweep of seacoast; and, in fine, every thing, material and physical, which in a country in some respects almost new, can attract in migrants and fill the measure of their expectations.— Our government is now settled on a solid basis. The laws are over all alike, and are faithfully and honestly administered. Society is peaceable and tranquil. Immigrants, therefore, will not only be welcomed by our people, but will be protected, and a fair field will be opened to them, in common with those who are here, to improve their condition.

EDUCATION.

The attention of the General Assembly is respectfully invited to the Report of the Superintendent of Public Instruction, herewith transmitted. That officer is diligently engaged in his duties. I am satisfied, from my knowledge of his character and qualifications, that he will be able to put in operation, at an early period, under the sanction of the General Assembly, a system of "schools and means of education" in all respects better and more extensive than any heretofore in existence in the State.

The University of the State is inseparably connected with the free public schools. Both should be fostered. Education in agriculture, mechanics, engineering, and in all the useful arts and sciences, should be encouraged. Normal instruction should be provided for at once, that we may have well educated teachers of our own for our public schools.

Nearly all the State school fund, the proceeds for the most part of the funds deposited with this State by the general government in 1836, has been lost. It is unnecessary to show how it was lost, or to dilate upon the advantages thus snatched from us. Regrets are vain for what is past. Let us improve the present, and address ourselves to the future. We must have free public schools for all the children of the State, as whatever cost. This is a duty which can neither be postponed nor evaded. So thoroughly am I impressed with this duty, and so earnestly am I committed to every feasible measure to render its full performance certain, that but for the assurance that it will be thus performed I would despair of free popular government in North Carolina. "Education is the cheap defence of nations," not only from without but within. It is that light which distinguishes refined and civilized from barbarian races. It forms and compacts the only society among men which is worthy of the name. It touches the earth, and it blossoms with luxuriance; its soil yields its choicest treasures open and pour out their varied treasures, and its rivers and seas are whitened with commerce, which carries with it not only exchangeable wealth, but ideas in government, literature, science and art. It is the only sure basis of good morals, for without it the Divine Word, the fountain of all truth, would be a sealed book. It is the strongest bulwark that can be erected to protect the rights of property. Property holders are, therefore, specially interested in promoting education. Taxes for such a purpose should be cheerfully and promptly paid. The affluent and the enlightened can afford to care in this respect for the poor and the ignorant, since it is not merely their duty, but their high interests are thus best subserved. But little, if any of the money expended for education is sent out of the State. It remains with us, and while our people are thus enriched with knowledge, they are not rendered poorer even in money, as the latter is collected from the citizens by one hand of the State and immediately disbursed to them by the other.

The people of the State are anxious that industrious and worthy immigrants should come hither and settle among us. It is a primary question with all such immigrants whether in the communities or States in which they are invited to settle, there are facilities for educating their children.

If we do not put in operation as soon as possible schools in these areas in other portions of the country, we cannot hope to attract to the State any considerable number of immigrants. They will continue to turn their steps towards other regions, not more inviting than ours, it is true, in climate, soil and material resources, but in which they can secure for their children at the public charge, a system of schools to fit them to become intelligent and useful citizens.

The people of North Carolina have long been a unit in favor of Education. From the days of Yancey, Murphy, Stanly, Cameron, Gaston, Caldwell, and others, to the present, their enlightened statesmen of all parties have enjoined this as the first duty of the State. I am persuaded that the purpose to educate the rising generation is as firmly fixed now as at any former period. This is a subject on which all can agree. A rivalry can exist in this respect which will be generous in its nature, which will violate no sacred rule of charity, and which, honoring those who may engage in it, will confer immeasurable benefits and blessings on this and future generations.

I recommend, in the most earnest terms, that the General Assembly during its present session provide for a general and uniform system of public schools. The schools for the white and colored children should be separate, but on equal respects there should be no difference in the character of the schools, or in the provision made to support them.

The Board of Education and the Trustees of the University will doubtless make reports to the General Assembly at an early day as to the condition of the educational interests confided to them. Both these Boards are fully organized, and have transacted some important business.

PROTECTION TO LABOR.

The Constitution provides that "the General Assembly shall provide, by proper legislation, for giving to mechanics and laborers a reasonable lien on the subject matter of their labor."

In the conflict always going on between capital and labor, the latter is more likely to suffer than the former; first, because money of capital is generally controlled by a few individuals, and the other respects characterizes labor. Labor can afford to combine against capital to enforce its rights for the reason that it can, like capital, retire within itself and await results. Both should be protected in this manner, and the rights of the other. Contracts in writing should be encouraged, and should be strictly enforced. The mechanic or laborer should be required to perform his contract with scrupulous fidelity, and the employer should be held to the same standard. The contractor or employer to evade payment when the contract has thus been performed. The life of labor is steadily employment at compensating wages, with the certainty of payment. The life of capital is steep enterprise and investment, unaccompanied by illness, inattention, non-performance, or slack performance of contracts by those employed. I can perceive no difference, in a legal or moral point of view, between a contractor who neglects his obligations, and an employer who neglects his. Both should be protected, but not to the detriment of the employer when the latter has fully complied with his obligation. Labor should not be engaged in law suits, and the reward of his labor will be realized; and to effect this, there should be a lien in every case until he is paid. The remedy should be plain, speedy and cheap.— As a general rule the mechanic and laborer should be allowed to engage in suits at law and pay fees.

This is a subject which excites no special interest among the people. Those especially who live by their labor will continue to press the subject upon the attention of the General Assembly until such laws for their protection are enacted. A workman may feel a deep interest in whatever concerns the workmen of the State. Our present and future prosperity must be based on labor. Labor should not be neglected, but it should be protected and promoted by every practicable means.

But while labor should be protected and honored of labor. Every one should be required to pursue some honest calling for a living, and to do it with industry and integrity and justly, that an habitual idler with no known or visible means of support, in a condition to be tempted to the commission of crime. It is idlers and loungers who for the most part, fill our jails and workhouses, as they will fill the Penitentiary. There is work of some kind for all to do, and all should be employed.

STAY LAWS.

The law of creditor and debtor is of the first importance. The relations of these two classes should be plainly and carefully defined, and contracts should be promptly enforced. Our State government will not be in complete operation until every impediment to the collection of debts is removed. Stay laws which give indulgence beyond the usual dilatory plea, or beyond the ordinary stay of execution on sufficient security, are, under any circumstances, of doubtful utility. The "evil day" of payment, as it is termed, is postponed in most cases to be felt with added force by the debtor. A solvent and judicious creditor should not be discouraged, but should rather be fostered and maintained; but such a system is impaired, if not destroyed, by general laws which may be said to place the creditor for years in the hands of the debtor. The debtor may be said to be in a well-grounded assurance that he will be able to pay; but complaint may justly proceed from the creditor, who has certainly wronged no one by first extending credit for his property or goods, and by subsequent indigence and forbearance. Stay laws of various kinds have been in operation in this State for years. I say nothing as to their expediency; but even when the indulgence is not merely temporary, but is a permanent condition in which we have been placed during this period is considered, it cannot be assumed that the debtor will be treated if not required to meet his obligations. The losses incurred by the rebellion are not confined to particular cases. They were general, affecting the whole people of the State in every walk of society. If a debtor cannot pay in the last resort, after reasonable indulgence has been extended to him, he is a bankrupt. What rendered him a bankrupt—whether the rebellion, or his own improvidence, or want of economy or foresight—is not material to the argument. We may lament his misfortunes and sympathize with him, but still the fact remains that he is still in possession of property which justly belongs to his creditors, some of whom may have been misled by his conduct in his failure to meet his obligations. The only refuge of such a person is to compromise with his creditors, or to enter a court of bankruptcy, or to make such an exhibit and disposition of his property and effects as will satisfy his creditors that he is fixed in an honest purpose to do them justice. I do not by any means concur in the opinion that an honest bankrupt has incurred any serious loss of character as a business man, or that he should be disgraced or avoided. Such a man, on the contrary, has displayed honesty, moral courage and candor which entitle him to the respect and confidence of his neighbors, especially when we remember that he has justly earned from a condition in which nothing was solid, and in which nearly every one was involved in pecuniary disaster and distress. Failure in business, or loss of property, should not stimulate to renewed exertion. The honest and industrious and upright citizen, however reduced or depressed by misfortune, will always find friends to aid him in his efforts to improve his condition.

I recommend that the stay laws be repealed, and that creditor and debtor be placed on a footing similar to that which they occupied previously to the rebellion.

The home-ten exemption provided in the Constitution, even if not good against foreclosure, will, however, operate beneficially in the future. It will secure a home for the family in any event; and it will have a salutary effect to a certain extent in checking extravagance in the credit system.

THE MILITIA.

Attention is invited to the Report of the Adjutant General, herewith submitted. The views and suggestions of the Adjutant General have my entire approval. The opinion of Washington, uttered in 1790, that "three people ought not only to be armed, but disciplined," and that a well-organized militia "is certainly an object of primary importance, whether viewed in reference to the national security, to the satisfaction of the community, or to the preservation of order," is not less weighty or important now than it was then.

The expenditure incurred thus far on account of the militia is quite small. I did not deem it expedient or necessary to avail myself of the power conferred upon me to purchase arms. A considerable quantity of arms, with necessary equipments and ammunition, has been procured without cost to the State. It is important that the militia should be drilled. The recommendations of the Adjutant General on this subject seem to me to be of the most judicious and I trust they will, the approval of the General Assembly.

It is estimated that the expenses of the Adjutant General's office for the ensuing year, including his salary, will not exceed one thousand dollars. I recommend an appropriation sufficient to cover that amount.

ECONOMY IN PUBLIC EXPENDITURES.

I can not too earnestly recommend to the attention of the General Assembly the importance of enforcing economy in the public expenditures. Public officers who disburse the public moneys should be required to be as careful and economical as they would be in their private business transactions. The State is in debt, the people are for the most part poor, and it is, therefore, especially important that economy should be observed. I recommend that the duties of the State Auditor be clearly and fully defined, and that it be made his duty to examine rigidly every account or claim against the State, of whatsoever character, before the Governor is required by law to issue his warrant for the same.

DUTIES OF PUBLIC OFFICERS AND THEIR SALARIES.

Attention is respectfully invited to the fact that the duties of the Secretary of State, Auditor, Treasurer, Superintendent of Public Works, Superintendent of Public Instruction, and the Attorney General, have not yet been prescribed by law. It is important that the duties of these offices be at once prescribed.

It is also recommended that just and reasonable salaries be allowed these and all other public officers. A public officer is expected to devote his whole time to his duties, and he should be well paid for his services. A government which pays extravagant salaries sets an injurious example of extravagance and waste to its citizens; but one that does not do so to an officer who conscientiously and sedulously devotes himself to his service, and who is respected by the officer and to itself, but it loses respectability in the eyes of the world, and will not long command that efficiency and peculiar fitness in its officials which is so desirable in the administration of public affairs.

PENITENTIARY.

It will be seen by the Report of the Commissioner herewith transmitted, that they have located the Penitentiary near Lockville, on Deep River, in Chatham County.— The situation is deemed an excellent one in all respects. Arrangements are in progress to erect a stockade on the site, and convicts will be employed in grading the foundations and quarrying stone for the building. I have addressed a letter to each of the sheriffs of the State, inquiring the number of prisoners the crimes for which they are imprisoned, and the time for which they have been sentenced, so that, after the necessary information is obtained, such of them as should be put to hard labor in the Penitentiary may be turned over to the Superintendent.

INSANE ASYLUM.

The Report of Dr. Eugene Grissom, Superintendent of the Asylum, is herewith transmitted. I am gratified to state that a decided improvement has been made in the management of the Asylum, under Dr. Grissom, whose zeal and fidelity, with the same qualities on the part of his Assistant, Dr. F. T. Fuller, and his subordinates generally, are deserving of commendation. The recommendations of the Superintendent in relation to the institution are commended by your attention. I do not doubt that the General Assembly will adopt every measure necessary to sustain this indispensable and noble charity.

PALESTINE.

An English expedition, under the direction of the advance survey, has gone to Palestine to endeavor to settle the disputed points as to which mountain is Mt. Zion, and what course the Israelites took, after crossing the Red Sea, as well as to gather other interesting facts of the sacred country, so strangely allowed to become obsolete or doubtful by the Jews.

INSTITUTION FOR THE DEAF AND DUMB AND THE BLIND.

Attention is invited to the report of Willie J. Palmer, Esq., Principal of this institution, and to the report of W. M. Adams, Esq., President of the Board of Directors. This institution is in a flourishing condition under the excellent management of its Principal. The suggestions in his report in relation to further improvements and the extension of the advantages of the institution are worthy of consideration.

The suppression of the rebellion by the government of the United States; the reconstruction of the Union on the basis of suffrage for all in the recently insurgent States, with the prospect that in due time suffrage will be conferred upon all, in all the States; and the election to the Presidency of Ulysses S. Grant, and to the Vice Presidency of Schuyler Colfax, have rendered the Union of the States indissoluble and perpetual. We now have, indeed, a free Republic, in which every man in nearly every State, is fully the equal of every other man in political and civil rights. We have no distinctions founded on color or race, save those which are social in their character, but every one is free under the law to make his own way in life, and to win a good name for himself and his children. The Union is over all, States as well as people. There can be no appeal from its authority. Its action in any event, and in matters however grave and vital, is irreversible and final. This will ensure stability to the government and confidence in it by the people, without which no nation can be prosperous and powerful.— This stability on the one hand and confidence on the other, will render certain the payment of the national debt, and the completion of every well conceived project which the government may project or foster. The Union extends with a vast breadth from the Atlantic to the Pacific sea. It is stretching itself out along the shores of both oceans, carrying with it the germs of free principles which will specify spring new States, to cluster in due time, as the old States are clustering around one common centre. It would be impossible to set bounds either to the progress or the duration of the Republic. We know only that it is a great beneficent, constitutional government, stronger than it was when it was founded; that its benefits and blessings are innumerable to those who live under it; and that our children and our children's children will take a just pride in its fortunes, courage and wisdom of their ancestors, and partake in larger and fuller measure than we do of the elevating and refining influences of religion, liberty and law, which must spring from such a government. This government is in the hands of its friends and will be administered by them. The government of North Carolina is in the hands of the friends of the national government, and will be administered by them. It should not be our aim to use it for oppression or oppression to any, but for the protection and benefit of all. Its very safety, without reference to the importance of maintaining and carrying out in good faith the great principles on which it is founded, absolutely requires that its friends should continue to administer its affairs. In no other way can harmony be maintained in those relations between the national and State governments, sanctioned for a time by rebellion, but now happily restored.

I have the honor to be, gentlemen, very respectfully, your obedient servant.

W. W. HOLDEN.

How to Sleep in Church.

Assuming that it is a duty, let us consider the manner of performing it. Like all christian practices, there should be uniformity in the manner:—

First—It is an improper manner in performing this duty to nod, and for the plain reason that it attracts too much attention. We are everywhere taught to avoid ostentatious display in our whole worship. The Pharisees were condemned for praying at corners of the street, that they might be seen of men. On the same principle the nodding worshipper is making too public a display of his devotions.

Second—Nor is it proper to snore in the performance of this duty—partly for the foregoing reasons, but mainly because it is a direct infraction of the golden rule. Suppose, for instance, that your next neighbor is asleep, by your snoring he will be disturbed, probably awakened. This is not doing unto others as you would they should do unto you.

Third—It is wrong to injure one's health while offering worship; and all physicians admit that to sleep with the head thrown back and mouth wide open is liable to produce sore throat and hoarseness. Besides, sometimes get into the mouth on such occasions, and by their injurious exploration tickle the delicate membranes and cause horrible struts and coughing, which is very injurious to health.

Fourth—to sleep with the head resting upon the arms of the worshipper and the face buried up in cuffs of the coat, is the most improper way of offering sleep worship. First, because it is also injurious to health, and mainly because 'tis a direct violation of the Scriptures, which commands us to let our light so shine that men may profit by our example. In this case it is impossible to know whether the christian worshipper is asleep or awake. It is a positive case of takewariness—neither the one thing nor the other.

An English expedition, under the direction of the advance survey, has gone to Palestine to endeavor to settle the disputed points as to which mountain is Mt. Zion, and what course the Israelites took, after crossing the Red Sea, as well as to gather other interesting facts of the sacred country, so strangely allowed to become obsolete or doubtful by the Jews.

THE FORCE OF IMMIGRATION.

Late one evening, a couple of Irishmen stopped in a country inn and asked for lodgings. The porter escorted them to the door of their room; but just as the travelers entered the candle was extinguished by the wind from the door as it closed
