seven months diligent labor, the Vindicator has discovered the distressing fact that it is giving "notoriety to the Star by noticing it." Were the Editor, of that journal of wisdom away from home, we would give the credit of this mouruful discovery to his "Sub," but as Lawson says he "has no 'SuB' or hired Editor" we will let him shoulder the honor,

It is a noted fact, that the main text from which the Vindicator has been preaching give the Star "notoriety," for they were so bure-tuced and full of misrepresentations cev of them, and when honest people find that one man is trying to break down auother by talse charges, the persecuted man will take the responsibility of being plain. We have looked upon the Vindicator, up to it e time it changed hands, as beneath the notice of a gentleman, and for that reason payed no attention to it, but when it fell into the bands of the present Editor, we genteel style, at least enough so that we might treat it with respect; but we have been disappointed. We were loth to get in to say discussion with that paper, and we were slow to return the blows after we had been struck, not from any fears that we would get whipped in the discussion, but because we did not think we would gain any-

FREDRICKTON, Knox Co., O., November 2, 1868.

LIPPENCOTT & BAKEWELL; Dear Sire :- I received your second Red Jacket Axe per express, and now acknowledge the same. For the benefit of all those who desires or necessities make it their basiness to chop with an axe, I would say; Try the Red Jacket: and, as the Supreme Court have le'd that a Dector's opinion without his reasons is of little value, I will give my reason : First-The Red Jacket cuts deeper than the common bit. Second -It being round on the cut, it does not stick in the wood. Third-Every chopper with the common are must discover that there is as much labor and stength expended is taken the axe out of the cuts as in making the blow. intents and purposes except management two separate and distinct roads. In proof of that he read from the amended charter of 1866-67. This bill was brought forward because of the fact that the rights of that section of country have been entirely and totally ignored. About 42 miles of the road was built before the war. The remainder of the road to the town of Rutherford, a distance of thirty five miles, was graded by the company before the war commenced. Much of the masonry was then completed, and in that condition it remains to-day. The Superintendent declares that not onet stroke of the spade shall be struck on tha divison until the eastern division is completed. It is desired to separate the road to completion and then the friends of the road desire that it should remain one road, under one management. The division is desired for the purpose of a more speed;
