CAN WE STAND MORE "SALVATION"?

"Rainmaker" Truman admitted in his speech dedicating the Bull Shoals Dam in Arkansas that he had broken the 38 day drought in that area, as the first rain in more than a month sprinkled his 30,000 hearers. He also admitted with equal modesty that the New Deal and Fair Deal had brought salvation to this country. These policies, he said, "have brought us out of the depression. They have enabled us to fight and win the Second World War. And they are making us able now to be the strong leaders of the fight for freedom against communism in the world."

He did not mention the Korean snafu, the loss of China to Communism, our defeat in the establishment of a workable United Nations or that we are no longer powerful enough to protect our nationals abroad. Nor did he state the price of "national policies... directed to meet human needs, and not just to meet private greed"... which is currently pegged at 30 percent of the national income, and still producing deficits to add to a national debt of over 260 billion dollars, on which the taxpayers have to get up more than six billion a year in interest alone!

At Newport, Ark., where he made a whistle-stop speech, the President assured reporters he would not run again. At about the same time, the Democratic National Committee announced that the fifth floor of the Blackstone Hotel in Chicago had been reserved for Mr. Truman beginning on the opening day of the Democratic Convention.

So it must be that Gov. Adlai Stevenson of Illinois was having trouble getting a reservation for himself.

LOSING CUSTOMERS... AND LIKING IT!

Dan Gerber, president of the most successful concern of its kind in the world, and pioneer in his field, estimates that 10,347 satisfied customers walk out on him every day. "We just can't keep a customer more than two years, since," he explains, "babies are our business... our only business."

But these transient customers get service... they're eating more millions of dollars worth of specially-grown, specially harvested, specially-processed farm produce every year. Now they're getting special cereals of their own—made for babies only—and requiring besides rice, barley, oats and other things, 15 million pounds of flour in 1951. A still newer Gerber tidbit still under testing (and it's not for you, either, dear reader) is the teething biscuit, inspired by Dan's grandson who kept swiping the dog biscuit right out of his puppy's mouth.

Next time you see a couple of scientific-looking young men out in the middle of a field of especially lush gardens siddling with recording instruments, don't think they're looking for an earthquake. They're probably some of Dan's boys checking their soil thermometers so they can calculate what time next Thursday the peas or carrots or succotash will reach their utmost peak in flavor and nutrition... so they can arrange a swift trip from the field to the glass or tin container.

You bet Baby gets service... over 54 million dollars worth last year. And if you're beginning to think you were born a good many years too soon... so was your mother!

June 22 marked the eighth birthday of the GI Bill for World War II veterans, with one of its benefits still in full force, another on the decline, and a third long ended for most veterans.

The Act, signed into law June 22, 1944, gave three major aids to veterans in their efforts to return to civilian life. One was a program of guaranteed loans for homes, farms and businesses; another, free education and training; and a third, allowances for unemployment and self-employment.

The GI loan program has five more years to run, coming to an end for most veterans on July 25, 1957. So far, the Veterans Administration said, more than 3,000,000 veterans have obtained GI loans for homes, farms and businesses. The loans have totaled about $18 billion, with VA guaranteeing and insuring about half the amount.

The GI Bill's education and training program reached its cutoff point for most veterans last July 25. For the most part the only veterans now in training are those who began before the cutoff date and who have remained in training since, except for interruptions beyond their control.

During the eight years of the program, more than half of the nation's 15,200,000 World War II veterans have taken some form of training under the GI Bill.

The third major GI Bill benefit—readjustment allowances for unemployment and self-employment—ended for most veterans on July 25, 1949, although a handful of applications still come in from the few remaining eligible veterans.

So far, about 9,000,000 veterans have drawn readjustment allowances that have totaled $3.2 billion for unemployment and $600,000,000 for self-employment.

Q—I saw a house I would like to buy with a GI loan. The seller wants to charge me $200 more than the reasonable value which has been determined by VA. Is it all right if I pay him the extra $200?

A—No. Under the law, the purchase price may not exceed the reasonable value determined by VA. Any side payment made to evade this requirement of the law is illegal.

Minute Sermon

Lions, wild boars, dragons, unicorns, and other fierce animals were chosen by men to adorn their coats-of-arms in the age of heraldry. Men like to think of themselves as strong, self-sufficient, and self-confident. The truth is we are a gregarious lot, who want to handle close to each other, and we feel lost when we are left alone. We are really more like sheep, we human beings are, than like lions. We want to be with others, we want the approval of others, we need the courage and confidence which comes from our fellows. That is why it is such a terrible thing to do wrong. It makes us unacceptable to the group; it makes us to be marked off by ourselves. The forgiving love of God wants to draw men away from their evil ways which caused them to wonder off alone and bring them back into right ways which makes for fellowship and the smile of God. Once Jesus asked a question: "How think ye? if a man have a hundred sheep, and one of them be gone astray, doth he not leave the ninety and nine, and go into the mountains, and seek that which goeth astray? And if so he that find it, verily I say unto you, he rejoiceth over it more than over the ninety and nine which have not gone astray. Even so it is not the will of your Father who is in heaven, that one of these little ones should perish." (Matt. 18:12-14).

HAYSEED

By Uncle Sam

We had hoped to get in some fishing while visiting in Pamlico County but instead of fishing we assisted our friend and one time room mate Rev. T. E. Maness in evangelistic services at Hobucken. We would not know where to go to find a better people than those living in Hobucken.

It was indeed a pleasure to be honored with the privilege of speaking each evening in Rev. Maness' church. The services were well attended throughout the entire meeting. While there we had the privilege of visiting in a number of homes some of these families were unable to attend services.

The first Sunday of the meeting the District Superintendent held Quarterly Conference and also preached. There was a picnic dinner served on the church grounds. The afternoon was given over entirely to singing. Many singers were present from various churches. The pastor from the Free Will Baptist Church of Lowlands presided over this service.

On the last Sunday afternoon a baptismal service was held at Buford's Point and fifteen were baptized and received into the church membership. Five others were received into membership elsewhere. The meeting was a profitable one to the church and much enjoyed by the speaker.
