HEALTH AND HYGIENE.

A MORNING TOOTH TALK. The following is a very good letter on teeth: "Good morning, Mr. I. C. Busyman. My name is Tooth-C. A Tooth, of the North Carolina Tooth Company. My object in seeking this interview is not one of complaining, but merely one of explanation regarding the feeling and condition of certain members of our company who have been working faithfully for you for a number of years.

"It seems that you are such a busy man that you forget entirely to show proper attention to your teeth, those hard working servants and companions of your daily life. They serve you every day, and sometimes half the night, and so far have received nothing but neglect.

"Now, you are a reasonable man and so I am sure you will realize the importance of showing some attention to these necessary partners of your activity. Of course, you have thought about it frequently, and I truly believe your inattention is not intentional; nevertheless, it is narmful, and so I warn you unless you get busy soon and show your teeth some decent attention your neglect will prove both costly and painful.

"Yes, I knew you would admit the justice of my remarks, and I certainly am pleased to have you say you will give these hard working members proper daily attention They will be able to serve you much better, and, briefly, you will find it to your interest in every way. You certainly know they are larly described as tollows, to-wit: wonderful little workers, and can do wonders for you, but when it comes to helping themselves they are helpless. Keep your word and do the needful, and I am sure you will find them ever true and grate-

"Good morning, sir."

N commerce, as in warfare, it is usually the man holding the best strategic position that wins. The only times when he doesn't are when he fails to note the superior advantages of his location. The parcel post. once dreaded by the small merchant as giving an added advantage to his big competitor, the mail order house, has really placed him in a superior strategic position. He is now the center of a district extending fifty miles in every direction wherein he can ship goods at a much lower postal rate and much more expeditiously than any one outside that zone.

A leaf from the book of his ancient competitors, the mail order concerns, might aid him in reaping the fruits of his advantage. People will not send half a thousand miles or more and wait a fortnight for something that they can get as readily from the man nearer home, delivered almost overnight.
