CULLOWHEE HEADQUARTERS FOR JUNIOR RED CROSS

The Cullowhee Normal has recently been named as headquarters for a distinctive program of Junior Red Cross activities to be promoted in Western North Carolina. The work is being organized with the idea of extending the service of the Red Cross through the rural schools and for the purpose of determining a larger program of similar character of national extent.

North Carolina was first agreed upon for the initial plan, and after a conference with Supt. A. T. Allen, Mr. Everett Dix, Director of the Southern Division, decided upon ten counties in the western part of the state with the Cullowhee Normal as headquarters. The following counties were selected: Buncombe, McDowell, Henderson, Haywood, Swain, Jackson Clay, Cherokee, Graham Macon.

The work is progressing nicely under the direction of Miss Nell Whaley the National representative, whose superior training and experience for the last five years as field agent definitely prepares her for her task. Miss Whaley has chosen five group center schools in each county named in which to inaugurate the movement and organize local Junior Red Cross units. The five schools in Jackson County are: Cullowhee, Sylva, Qualla, Webster nad Glenville.

The opportunities for activities and services among the children are far reaching. They are selecting their own lines of endeavor with the Junior Red Cross Calendar as a guide, and the teachers are utilizing the whole scheme in correlation with regular class work.

The Jackson County Red Cross Executive Committee met Saturday and set aside $5.00 for the Junior Red Cross in each of the five schools which will be deposited subject to the check of each Junior Red Cross [illegible]

Awards will be given soon showing the detail work of each local unit and the objective and plans for the year.

CONDUCTING REVIVAL AT SCOTT'S CREEK CHURCH BETA

Rev. J. L. "Pat" Colville, known in this region as "the Railroad "Engineer Preacher", is assisting Rev. Thad F. Deitz, the pastor, in a series of evangelistic services, at the Scott's Creek Baptist church, in Beta.

The services started Sunday morning and will continue for two weeks.

"Pat" expects to make a trip next summer to Palastine, and at the same time visit his old home in Ireland.

REVIVE TURPENTINE INDUSTRY ON EASTERN CAROLINA FARM

Raleigh, Nov., 13.—Through the interest of Lawrence Sprunt of Wilminington, the famed Orton plantation of Colonial days is to demonstrate to Eastern Carolina the possibility of a return of the turpine industry to this section.

Mr. Sprunt and his father have protected thousands of acres of young longleaf on their estate and now have timber of a size that will yield a handsome revenue from turpentine operations.

Through the cooperation of the U. S. Southern Forest Experiment Station and Forester H. M. Curran of the State College Extension Division an economic method of tapping the trees is to be tried which will not injure their growth or mar the beauty of the plantation. A modified American method is to be used, cup and gutters to replace boxing and the new details of operation perfected by U. S. Forest Service in the Florida National Forest to be applied in a North Carolina forest for the first time.

"No more important step for the future of our turpentine industry has been taken than this demonstration on the Orton plantation," says Forester Currans, "District Agent E W. Gaither of the Extension Service deserved credit for this new-old crop he is making possible for his district. His interest in forestry during the past year has culminated in securing the demonstration. The turpentine industry, established again, in the region surrounding Wilmington will bring another source of revenue to this territory."

CASHIERS

Why can't the Cashiers folks get their hearts right once a year anyway and tell the otser people of Jackson county that they still exist?

Listen! Folks, we har a box supper here in Cashiers, Oct. 17th. We certainly had a nice time. The amount taken in was $137.25. A cake of "Palm Olive" soap was sold for the "ugliest" man. Jim McCall from Shoal Creek won the soap. Just think that one cake of soap sold for $32.20. Must be pretty good soap, isn't that right?

Hon. "Zeb." Weaver spoke here last week at 1:00 o'clock. There were quite a few people out to hear him.

Prof. Robert L. Madison was here last week.

Vernon Nicholson, Charles Passmore and Edward Fowler have returned from Akron, Ohio.

Lewis Bumgarner of Sylva was here one day last week.

They still have some people at High Hampton Inn.

Roy Potts from Highlands was here this week.

We have a good school here this year. Good teachers and a number of students.

The Higdon Garage here has been quite a help to the people this past summer. Wishing him much success through another year.
