

THIS WOMAN RELIEVED FROM SUFFERING

By Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. A Remarkable Story

Dover, Del.—"I wish every woman would take your wonderful medicine as it has done so much good to me. I had cramps and faint spells and very bad pains. One day I was over to my neighbor's house and she told me I ought to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. So I went to the store on my way home and got a bottle, and took the first dose before supper. I have been taking it ever since, and you can hardly believe how different I feel. I had just wanted to lie in bed all the time, and when I started to brush up I would give out in about ten minutes. So you know how badly I felt. I used to go to bed at eight and get up at seven, still tired. Now I can work all day and stay up until eleven, and feel just the same. My housework is all right all the time. In the winter I work in a factory. I have told a good many of my friends, and I have had three come to me and tell me they wouldn't do without the Vegetable Compound."

—Mrs. SAMUEL MURPHY, 219 Cecil St., Dover, Delaware.

Odd Golf Hazard

Near Peekskill, N. Y., the Sleepy Hollow country made famous by Washington Irving, there is a golf club that has a live hazard in the shape of a three bobcat which is about eight times as large as an ordinary cat. It is a man-fighting animal and it frequents the golf grounds frequently enough to be considered a hazard.

Teamster's Life Saved

Peterson Ointment Co., Inc. I had a very severe sore on my leg for years. I tried all medicines and salves, but without success. I tried Doan's but they failed to cure me. I couldn't sleep for many nights from pain. Doctors said I could not live for more than two weeks. Finally Peterson's Ointment was recommended to me and by its use the sore was entirely healed. Thankfully I was cured. William Haase, West Park, Ohio, Peterson says: "I am proud of the letter and have hundreds of others that tell of wonderful cures of Eczema, Piles and Skin Diseases."

Swipes White Hearse to Take His Car for Ride

Chicago.—Officer John Wright (colored) of the Englewood police station paused beside a large white hearse standing at Sixty-fifth and State streets. On the seat sat a young negro with his arm around the waist of a dusky belle beside him. There had been no deaths on Wright's beat, and he looked in vain for a crepe-decked door. Moreover, J. W. Blackwell, an undertaker at 3512 South State street, had reported a hearse missing.

"What are you doing here?" asked Wright. "Waitin' for business to pick up," replied Hughie Hilbring, indifferently. Wright peered into the vehicle. There was nothing inside but a bouquet and a box of chocolates. "Well, I'd promised to take Sadie riding," Hilbring finally confessed, "and I just couldn't get nobody to loan me their silver, so I borrowed this. It rides easier, anyway."

LIVES AS GYPSY TO SAVE INFANT

Young Mother Refuses to Disclose Her Past.

Worcester, Mass.—Frail and wan after weeks of suffering and anxiety, Della Lescault, twenty-two, from her bed at the City hospital told how she lived the life of a gypsy in the woods near West Boylston rather than surrender her fifteen-month-old daughter to a charitable organization.

After two nights in the woods, during which she wrapped her baby in her coat and shivered in the thin summer clothes, she found sanctuary with a friendly Italian family in West Boylston. Here her second child was born, which died a day after, according to her story.

Her concern since her arrival at the City-hospital is for her infant daughter, which is being cared for in the children's department of the hospital. "I will not let them take her from me," she repeated again and again. "As soon as I get well I am going to get work and earn money to support her," she said.

She refused to tell how she had been able to obtain food. She was equally unresponsive to questions of where she had come from or who her parents were, beyond the fact that her mother had died last January. She said that her only living relative was a married sister in New York. The woman first made her appearance in the city four months ago with her child.

Half-Starved Herder Dog Saves Lost Lone Sheep

Stevenson, Wis.—Half starved, lost in the desolate country near the summit of the Cascade mountains, yet faithful to his charge, is the story of a shepherd dog that guarded a lone sheep in the forested hills.

He finally drove the helpless animal to the camp of a forest fire guard, Tom Merchant, near Bend, Ore., who is now seeking the dog's owner. Frightened at first by the presence of a man, the dog has become friendly with Merchant since bringing the sheep to the camp.

Once the sheep was turned over to a man the dog apparently considered his responsibility was ended. For days and nights the animal seems content to sleep and recuperate from the long vigil when he kept off the cougars and bears. Most of the sheep came out of the summer feeding grounds ten days ago, but one must have become lost and was located by this herder dog.

Drives Car 106 Hours, Finds Prize Is Myth

York, Pa.—Herbert Diehl, nineteen years old, completed an automobile endurance record, expecting to win $3,500 that he had been told was offered by the Wheeling (W. Va.) Automobile club to anyone beating the 105 hours and 13 minutes mark established by "Dare Devil" Lockwood of Baltimore.

Diehl drove 106 hours and 13 minutes, after signing a contract with a man calling himself J. A. Peters. Then he sent to Wheeling for his prize, only to be told no such offer had been made.

Diehl, during his drive ate only two ham sandwiches and a portion of toast and drank only two cups of coffee. He smoked 19 packages of cigarettes.

11 Mothers-in-Law Organize First Club

Orange, N. J.—The Mothers-in-Law club, with eleven members, was organized here. Mrs. Joseph Pernitza was elected president.

"There will be no room in the club for 'heckneyed jokes' about mothers-in-law," Mrs. Pernitza said. "We have organized as women with mutual interests, to hold afternoon tea parties twice a month and bridge parties once a week. We will not talk about our sons and daughters-in-law."

Mrs. Pernitza said she believed this the first club whose membership was confined to mothers-in-law.

Nice Things for Christmas Gifts

Rich Chenille Bag

A gift that is sure to be cherished is shown in the rich shopping bag pictured. It is crocheted of brown chenille with gay flowers introduced on one side. The band and handles at the top are of brown suede leather, and the bag is lined with brown silk. Silk cords slip-through slashes in the suede band, to close the bag, and the handle ends are concealed under little triangles of leather.

Painted Tally Cards

Among the delightful gifts that even an amateur artist can make are tally and score cards. Every hostess who receives them will be twice pleased, for no gifts are so cherished as those made by the donor. A graceful decorative design is shown in the illustration, simply as a suggestion—for there is no end to the ways in which the characters on playing cards are introduced in decorations.

Dainty Gift Lingerie

This dainty lingerie set is going to make some lucky lady happy at Christmas time—if a hint to the wise is enough. A step-in and chemise are made of fine, light-colored voile and decorated with disks of voile, the size of a silver dollar, in three pretty colors. They are set on with hemstitching in colored threads.

Christmas Lampshades

Happy is the home-maker who receives pretty lamp or candle shades at Christmas time—nothing helps more to deck out the house and make it cheerful. Here is a new shade made of thin silk, or fine crepe paper, in two colors, rose and light blue. A wire frame is first covered with the rose color, put in plain, and over this the light blue is painted. Gold lace, silk or paper roses and four tassels finish off this novelty in shades.

A Few Little Smiles

HIS LAST WISH

One evening just before dinner the wife came in to find her husband and a stranger—afterward ascertained to be a lawyer—engaged in some mysterious business over the library table, upon which were spread several sheets of paper. "What are you doing with all that paper, Henry?" demanded the wife. "I am making a wish," responded the husband meekly. "A wish?" "Yes, my dear. In your presence I shall not presume to call it a will."

Just Wanted to Ask

"Is—is the d-dentist in?" inquired the man who had left home with the intention of having the beastly thing out and done with. "Yes, sir," the maid replied. "He can see you at once if you wish." "Oh, no, no! I—I didn't want to see him—I'm glad he's in. I was afraid he was out in this wretched weather, you know. Might catch cold. Good-day."—Stray Stories.

Plenty of Nerve

"You've got plenty of nerve. The idea of stealing my chickens and then trying to sell them to me!" "Well, sah, I thought you'd pay a better price for chickens you'd raised yo'self. You'd know what you're buyin'."

The First Step

Doctor—Your nerves are weak. You must take a month off. Jones—Then please get my nerves strong enough to ask the boss for it.

GOING TO THE DOGS

"When a man's exercise makes him pant it's pretty bad, isn't it?" "Yes, I should say he was going to the dogs."

Reward for Honesty

"Honesty is the best policy." The cynic agent said, "But don't expect a 'straight life' To reward you till you're dead."

The Height of Respect

Tom (to friend in telephone booth) Why do you take your hat off? Al—Sh-sah, I'm speaking to my boss.

Good Training

"Is fish brain food?" "As to that I can't say. But it is educational. You soon learn to go at it gingerly."

What Did He Mean?

"Is this airplane absolutely safer?" asked the prospective buyer. "Safest on earth," granted the maker, cryptically.

WORKED A SOFT BUNCH

"How'd he manage to get such a soft snap?" "Worked a bunch of people with soft heads."

Would Write a Pan

I'd surely write A clever pun If only I Could think of one.

Fancy Work

The Surgeon—I'll sew up that scalp wound for you for $10. The Patient—Gee, doc! I just want plain sewing, not hemstitching and embroidery?

His Wife Knew

Guest (who has been invited to dinner)—Are you sure it's all right? Does your wife know I'm coming? Host—Of course she knows. We argued about it for an hour this morning at breakfast.

No Need for Copies

Friend—Don't you keep a copy of your manuscripts? Budding Young Author—No, I find that it isn't necessary. I got all the originals back.

Cottage pudding!

you never dreamed such good dessert could be made with so little effort

WHEN the clock points to the hour of meal time and you're wondering what to serve for dessert, why don't you try cottage pudding made with self-rising flour? It's so easy—so quickly—made. No fussing about ingredients. Just a minute or two to mix the batter, a moderately hot oven—and there's a dessert that's not only delicious but healthful as well.

But cottage pudding is only one of the many good things you can cook with self-rising flour. Every meal, in a score of ways you'll find self-rising flour a handy all-purpose flour that saves time and produces light, perfectly raised, bakings.

Self-rising flour is merely plain soft wheat flour to which has been added the proper amount of pure phosphate baking powder to make the dough rise just right every time.

You can buy it in a variety of grades just as you do plain flour. Naturally the higher grades command a higher price. Whatever the grade, if you find the Blue Shield of the Soft Wheat Millers' Association on the bag, you are assured of a healthful, wholesome self-rising flour.

Machine Husks Corn

A new implement, the invention of a South African, will, it is claimed, gather ears of corn from a cornfield at the rate of 100 acres a day. It straddles the rows and strips the stalks of the ears, and these are gathered into a box. The invention is demonstrated under the supervision of the department of agriculture of South Africa.

His Thwarted Ambition

"Well, I'll tell you," confidentially admitted Burt Blurt of Petunia. "When I am in Kansas City I always want to set down on the edge of the sidewalk with my feet in the gutter and rest myself, but I'm afraid of getting dirt on my Sunday pants."—Kansas City Star.

Perfect Football Coach

He selects the players while letting the campus celebrities imagine they have a hand in it. He plans the strategy, at the same time making the influential alumni believe they are doing it. He arranges such a schedule that if his team wins it will appear to have accomplished the impossible, while if it loses the critics will say none could have won.

The Way Today

"Nobody wants me." "You can't win a girl in that way these days, young fellow. Make 'em think they've got to take you away from somebody else."—Louisville Courier-Journal.
